Cherry Crop Set Looks Good Birds, Low Sour Prices Cause Concern

NEW DANVILLE (Lancaster Co.)—Phyllis Shenk, farm market manager, Cherry Hill Orchards near New Danville in Lancaster County, shows some early sweet dark red cherries that have just started to come on the market from Pennsylvania orchards. Richard Haus, Cherry Hill owner, said the first fruit was in their farm market this week. Their pick-your-own program will begin Monday with these dark red cherries. The light sweets will be ready about a week later, and sour cherries the beginning of July. With 60 acres of cherries, Cherry Hill is one of the largest sweet cherry orchards in the state.

Bill Kleiner, Penn State multicounty extension agent for Region 10 with headquarters in Adams County, said that both sweet and sour cherry crops across the state look good. Some trees were hit by hail last week, but dry rot has not been a problem because of the dry weather. According to Kleiner, the major problem for orchard growers is birds. Noise makers and other scare tactics are mostly ineffective. Home owners can cover small trees with netting, but this is not practical for commercial growers.

Prices for sweet cherries are expected to hold steady as this market is mostly local. But sour cherry prices cause concern for commercial growers because they are expected to be low due to competition from shipped cherries from Michigan into the manufacturing markets.

The weekly state crop and weather report says grape development slowed due to earlier frosts. Most apple and peach sets look good.

In other crops, planting activities were nearly completed. Corn height averaged eight inches, and hay and pasture growth improved because of precipitation last week. Many farmers in central and southern regions continued to report short soil moisture conditions. Activities for the week included transplanting tobacco; making hay and filling silos; planting corn, soybeans, and potatoes; and caring for livestock.

Dairy Summit To Address Milk Marketing Policy

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

WASHINGTON, D.C. — All dairy producers are being urged to attend or observe a Monday meeting in York, Pa., of the leaders of the United States dairy industry and the heads of government agricultural agencies involved in the marketing of milk.

Referred to as a "summit," the meeting is being called in an attempt to bring together the dairy policy influencers, makers and those people responsible for carrying out the existing milk marketing system for the purpose of reaching a consensus on how to handle the pricing, pooling and trade regulating out the existing milk marketing system, for the purpose of reaching a consensus on how to handle the regulation of milk production and trade in the United States.

The meeting is to be held at the York County fairgrounds, starting 10 a.m., and is open to the public to observe.

A number of different farmer organizations have developed a variety of proposals for how to manage the U.S. dairy industry.

The proposals range from suggestions that the U.S. government take a completely hands-off role in milk production and distribution and let free-market demands rule

Modify Poultry Feed To Reduce Manure Components

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — New poultry feed additives containing enzymes to help birds digest nutrients also help to reduce the amount of nitrogen going into manure, according to a Penn State poultry scientist.

Dr. Paul H. Patterson, of the department of poultry science at Penn State, noted that commercially available enzymes are useful as

From Madison Avenue To Bradford County Farm

CAROL PEARCE

WYSOX (Bradford Co.) — The work day starts earlier for Bill and Helen Olewnikon at their Standing Stone Farm than it did on Madison Avenue, where the couple previously worked.

After working a combined total of 40 years as big city typographers (setting type and putting together advertisements), the couple decided enough was enough.

Before making the move to rural life, it wasn't uncommon to pick up a Family Circle magazine or a Macy's sale flyer and see the couple's work. But the stress and rat race of the city finally got to them.

NATIONAL EGG MARKET - AT A GLANCE:

Prices were generally unchanged. The market tone was steady. Demand covered the full range and was mostly light to fair. Supplies were usually short to adequate for jumbo and extra-large, and the balance of sizes were generally adequate. Breaking stock supplies were barely adequate to adequate, prices were unchanged to higher, and the most inquiry was in the Midwest. Live hen markets were steady at best, and demand was only fair for the at least adequate supplies.

NORTHEAST BROILER/FRYER PARTS - PART I FEDERAL-STATE

Trucklot buying interest was fair for immediate deliveries but improved for late week and on into next week. Supplies of boneless skinless breasts were in close balance. Trading was reported at steady prices and the sentiment was fully steady. Supplies of line run breasts were fairly light but so was demand. Shipper asking prices and trading were at unchanged levels and the sentiment was also fully steady. Fresh yellow skin leg quarters cleared to a fair demand but some buyer inquiries for next week went unfilled. Yellow skin wings continued tight, demand was very active, and prices trended higher.

PRICES PAID PER POUND, ICE PACKED AND CO2 PACKED BROILER/FRYER PARTS, DELIVERED TO FIRST RECEIVERS IN POOL TRUCKLOT AND TRUCKLOT QUANTITIES.

DAILY NATIONAL GRAIN SUMMARY

WHEAT PRICES OFF SLIGHTLY ON COMMERCIAL SELLING ON THE BOARD, CONTINUED HARVEST PRESSURE AND IMPROVED CROP CONDITION, HOWEVER, SPRING WHEAT PRICES WERE UNDERPINNED BY GOOD EXPORT DEMAND; CORN PRICES EDGED UPWARD FROM PROFIT TAKING ON THE BOARD AND SPILLOVER STRENGTH IN BEAN PRICES; SOYBEAN PRICES HIGHER ON SHORT COVERINGS, IMPROVED EXPORT DEMAND AND PLANTING DELAYS. WHEAT 1 TO 3 CENTS LOWER EXCEPT MINNEAPOLIS 1 CENT HIGHER. CORN 1 TO 3 CENTS HIGHER. SORGHUM 2 TO 7 CENTS HIGHER. SOYBEANS 2 TO 5 CENTS HIGHER. HARVEST PRESSURE AND IMPROVING CROP CONDITIONS IN SOUTHERN PLAINS AREAS PUSHED WHEAT PRICES LOWER. EXPORT ORDERS VERY LIGHT THIS WEEK BUT JAPAN'S WHEAT PURCHASE ADDED SOME SUPPORT TO PRICES. TRADE IDEAS THAT WHEAT HAS BEEN OVERSOLD CAUSED SCATTERED SHORT COVERINGS WHICH LIMITED DECLINES. CORN PRICES SLIGHTLY HIGHER AS PROFIT TAKING ON THE BOARD SUPPORTED PRICES. LIGHT EXPORT INTEREST ADDED TO UPTURNS. HIGHER BEAN PRICES WERE INFLUENCED BY DELAYED PLANTING IN SOME AREAS AND WET WEATHER FORECAST FOR MIDWEST REGIONS. SHORT COVERING TAKEN ON THE BOARD, STRENGTHENED SOYBEAN PRICES.

EXPORT NEWS: JAPAN BOUGHT 158,853 TONNES OF WHEAT; 38,094 TONNES DARK NORTHERN SPRING WHEAT AND 19,047 TONNES WESTERN WHITE WHEAT. SUB-SAHARAN AFRICAN COUNTRIES BOUGHT 250 TONNES HARD RED SPRING WHEAT, UNDER BEP, FOR JULY. JAPAN BOUGHT 47,618 TONNES U.S. BARLEY. TAIWAN BOUGHT 31,000 TONNES OF U.S. NO. 2 YELLOW CORN FOR JULY/AUGUST. TAIWAN BOUGHT 54,000 TONNES U.S. NO. 2 YELLOW SOYBEANS FOR JULY/AUGUST.

DELMARVA BROILER/FRYER MARKET. FEDERAL-STATE

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was light to moderate and typical of midweek activity. Offerings of 3 pound and smaller sizes were in generally good balance. Heavier weights were fully adequate to ample and discounted in instances to stimulate buyer interest. Live supplies were moderate; weights were desirable to heavy. Processing schedules remained heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 52 to 63 cents. Trade sentiment was steady. Wings were in active demand, although a bit less aggressive than

The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

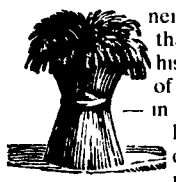
SUMMER SOLSTICE, JUNE 21.

McCORMICK'S REAPER

On June 21, 1834, Cyrus McCormick patented the first practical reaper. Cyrus built the machine, which his father Robert invented, in a log cabin blacksmith shop on his father's Virginia farm. Although it was practical, it was not at all popular. When young McCormick attempted to demonstrate the reaper in a neighboring field, the neighbor stopped the demonstration, fearing that the machine would rattle the heads off his wheat. The reaper finally did cut six acres of wheat in half a day — as much as six men — in another neighbor's field, but farmers were leery of the newfangled device. McCormick eventually sold two reapers in 1841, but the machine, which ultimately changed American agriculture, didn't really catch on until the 1850s.



It's the farmer's care that makes the field bear.

TIP OF THE WEEK

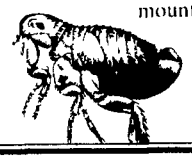
GREEN PEAS WITH LETTUCE

2 cups hulled green peas
4 small whole heads Bibb lettuce
salt and pepper
1/8 teaspoon chopped mint
2 tablespoons melted butter

Wash and drain peas and lettuce. Season peas with salt, pepper, and mint. Force open heads of lettuce and fill each with ½ cup of peas. Tie heads closed with string and place on rack over boiling water. Cover and steam until peas are tender, about 30 minutes. When done, remove string and drizzle with melted butter. Makes 4 servings.

EARTHWISE

Here are some non-toxic approaches for the perennial flea problem. Use an herbal flea shampoo on your pet weekly until the infestation is under control. Since 80% of the fleas are not on your pet but in your carpet, sofa, etc., daily vacuuming is the single most effective flea treatment. It takes care of adults and eggs without leaving a toxic residue. Meanwhile, add a teaspoon of powdered brewer's yeast to your pet's food to keep fleas at bay.



The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

NORTHEAST: Cold with a few sprinkles, heavy rain in the west, clearing, cooler south and west, warmer north.

SOUTHEAST: Sunny and warm, very hot west; showers, cooler north then clear and hot.

MIDWEST: Cold and rainy then warming with scattered showers.

NORTHWEST: Showers then clearing and warming, turning cool and rainy.

OPINION

Hazardous Edible Oils?

You may have heard by now that the US Department of Transportation (DOT) has proposed to classify edible oils as hazardous materials. The ruling would put petroleum and soybean oil in the same class if either material is spilled in transportation. This ridiculous mistake by regulation writers is now under attack by Sen. Richard Lugar. Lugar is the Republican ranking minority member of the Senate Agriculture Committee from Indiana. Lugar says he will introduce legislation to overturn the proposal if DOT does not withdraw this proposal.

"If there were some rational basis for calling soybean oil a hazardous material, that would be one thing," Sen. Lugar is quoted in the Journal of Commerce. "But this appears to be a ridiculous mistake by regulation writers, a situation the administration so far has not corrected."

Pressure from farm groups and legislators from farm states has caused DOT to reopen the proposal for comment. The Department is reviewing the decision to require that vegetable oil be shipped using the same regulations as hazardous materials.

Officials of big oil interests would like to stave off the growing public knowledge that renewable resource oils are good for the quality of life in the world and these farm grown oils provide a positive alternative to the present dependence on foreign, often hostile countries for the life blood of our industrial enterprises. Big oil interests don't want the competition from farm products that can replace part of the fuel in the nation's gas pipeline. If these officials could get people to think soybean oil was an environmental hazard like their own product it would help their cause.

Fortunately, early this week, DOT announced that it will not subject soybean oil and other edible oils to the same regulations that cover fuel, withdrawing the proposal. "Common sense carried the day," Lugar said. "There was no rational basis for treating soybean oil and other edible products in the same manner as petroleum. It would have imposed a costly, unreasonable burden on farmers, processors and consumers."

NOW IS THE TIME

By John Schwartz
Lancaster County Agricultural Agent

To Recognize June As Turkey Lovers' Month

This is the fourth year the turkey industry has been celebrating "June is Turkey Lovers' Month."

The theme for this year is "Turkey makes meals fast and fit." Turkey has always been popular for Thanksgiving and Christmas.

The recent developments in new turkey products have created new consumer demand for turkey all year round. Consumption during the spring months has increased the most during the past 10 years. Almost half of all households serve turkey every four days.

Sandwich use has become very popular with lunch and carried meals gaining share since 1981. Turkey use in hot pasta dishes has also grown in recent years.

Adults on a diet consume roughly 40 percent more turkey than people not dieting. Now is the time to salute the turkey industry and recognize the many successful innovations it has developed to change the demand for its product from two months to year round. The industry has done an excellent job of developing new products, addressing consumer wants, and promoting the nutritional value of turkey.

Enjoy these new turkey products, and remember, June recognizes people who love to eat turkey.

To Prevent Accidents

I just received the 1992 farm fatal injury report for Pennsylvania and Lancaster County. Last year, 47 people were killed on Pennsylvania farms. Most of the accidents occurred in August and on Wednesdays.

Nine of the fatalities were children under the age of 15 and 14 were adults over 65. Tractors were involved in 45 percent of the fatal accidents. Other major causes of fatal accidents were falls from elevation and drowning in farm ponds.

These figures remind us of the importance of safety. Fortunately, every time a safety rule is broken, an accident does not occur. However, this often causes a believe accidents will not happen to me.

When we look at these and other accident figures, we must recognize an accident may occur at anytime. We owe it to ourselves and our families to follow all the safety rules all the time. These include no extra riders on tractors, hitch only to the draw bar on tractors, wear seat belts, watch for small children, do not allow small children to play on or around equipment, and respect animals.

Two of Lancaster County's fatalities involved being kicked by a horse or mule. Now is the time to make safety a habit and keep your farm accident free.

To Fence Stream Banks

On warm summer days, cattle congregate in streams to escape heat and insects. This causes problems for the livestock as well as the streams.

According to Jeff Stoltzfus, extension nutrient management agent, dairy cattle face an increased risk of mastitis and other infections when standing in water. In addition, cattle overgraze streamside plants. This causes bare, muddy banks and erosion.

Livestock need drinking water, but they do not need to have unlimited access to the stream. Stoltzfus recommends selecting specific watering and crossing sites for livestock. If possible, offstream watering sites such as gravity fed troughs are recommended.

If stream watering sites are necessary, select sites with a firm stream bottom and gentle, graded slopes. Gravel paths or entrance ramps constructed of waffle slats (seconds) or wood with dirt fill will help minimize stream bank damage.

Upstream and downstream movement by the cattle may be prevented by swinging floodgates hung from cables or by running a strand of electric wire across the stream. Make sure crossing sites are wide enough to accommodate 4-5 head of cattle at a time to prevent panic and injury to the animals.

Construct fences at least 5 feet from the stream bank, particularly at bends in the stream. High-tensile fencing with 3-4 strands of wire works well. If the area between the stream bank and the fence is left in grass, it should be cut at least twice a summer to prevent any weeds from developing seeds.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

June 20, 1993

Background Scripture:
Philippians
Devotional Reading:
Romans 15:1-13.

It's a secret, although it isn't meant to be. What's the secret? It's what some people are looking for when they join a particular church. It's what others are seeking when they meditate, turn a prayer wheel, say a mass, or fill-in their pledge card. It's what motivates some people to make a pilgrimage to a shrine or make a sacrifice.

I have known a lot of seekers in my time. Many of these have spent a fair portion of their lives trying to discover the "secret." They have looked for it in creeds and doctrines, in rituals and mystic rites, in moral perfection and in immoral dissipation. Some have sought it in the nirvana of drugs.

Some of these people believe that they have found what they were seeking and settle down into enjoying whatever that is. But it is that "settling down" that keeps us from truly finding the secret. One doesn't look for whatever we think we've already found.

WHAT'S THE SECRET

So, why is it a secret? Answer: not because it is hidden from us, but because we have failed to understand what we have seen. However we conceptualize what we seek — salvation, fulfillment, peace, happiness, union with God, sanctification, and so on — it is not to be found in attaining something, but in continuing to seek it. That "something" we attain is never it. Salvation is not the station where we arrive, but the journey that goes on and on. In fact, that which is at best a way-station is likely to become a substitute for God.

Paul knew all about substitutes. "If any other man thinks he has reason for confidence in the flesh, I have more." He goes on to list the things he has: "circumcised on the eighth day, of the people of Israel," and so on. Some people — the Phariseas, for example — are very satisfied with these things. But Paul knows they don't add up to what he seeks: "But whatever gain I had, I counted as loss for the sake of Christ."

We have our own substitutes, too: achieving personal righteousness, embracing right doctrine, joining the right church, practicing the right rituals. The secret is not in finding the right anything, but in keeping "right on." Paul says, "Not that I have already obtained this or am already perfect; but I press on to make it my own...but one thing I do, forgetting what lies behind and straining forward to what lies ahead, I press on toward the goal for the prize of the upward call of God in Christ Jesus" (3:12-14).

PRESSING ON

The "secret," then, is not in arriving but in "pressing on." That's why the early Christian faith was called "The Way." The whole process of following Jesus is to press on constantly, "straining forward to what lies ahead." So long as we think we already have "the Prize," we will not keep moving ahead toward it. That means that Christian discipleship is a journey rather than an attainment. For, when we attain something, the focus is on what we have accomplished, not on what God has done and is doing. Paul says, "...not having a righteousness of my own based on law, but that which is through faith in Christ, the righteousness from God that depends on faith" (3:9).

Does that mean we never reach the goal? The answer is: not on this side of life. Paul contrasts the Christian with those who think only of satisfaction in this life, those "whose god is the belly" and whose minds are "set on earthly things." The pressing on "toward the goal for the prize of the upward call" will finally end in what God has prepared for us. For, "our commonwealth is in heaven.." Until we reach that point, the order for the day is "right on!"

 ATTENTION DODGE CITY

OKLAHOMA NATIONAL STOCKYARDS WEEKLY CATTLE SUMMARY Compared To Last Week: Feeder and stocker steers over 600 lbs. as well as heifers over 500 lbs. $1.00-$2.00 higher. Lighter weight cattle near steady, however part of this supply is new crop calves and these trading at their usual lower levels. Trade continued last week's very active pace with excellent demand for both steers and heifers. Quality of supply is improved, average to attractive. Flesh condition continues attractive, slightly thin to average, end fleshy. Weigh condition a bit detrimental to buyers, average to moderately full. Wheat harvest started this week and expected to be in full swing through next week. Slaughter cows $1.00-$2.00 higher. Slaughter bulls $2.00-$3.00 higher. Slaughter cattle trade very active. Receipts this week 11,000; last week 13,928; last year 9,516. Supply consisted of 87% feeders and stockers over 600 lbs.; 10% calves and light yearlings under 600 lbs.; 3% cows and bulls. Bulk price ranges follow with weighted averages in parenthesis.

Lancaster Dairy Day On The

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Thousands of people were introduced to new dairy products and reintroduced to cold drinking milk on June 11 during the Lancaster Dairy Day On The Square dairy promotion held in the town square of Lancaster city.

For the past several years, the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program, a state-supported, qualified dairy promotion agency, has held several in-town dairy promotions across the state. The goal is to increase public awareness of dairy products and thereby increase demand.

The method is based on the concept of creating or joining in public social events and dispersing samples of dairy products and information on the benefits of dairy products to those unfamiliar with, or who have stopped using, the products.

Done in conjunction with other events, such as Lancaster city's lunch-time outdoor program, allows the promotion program to stretch its dollars.

It is a way to reach people who perhaps would not otherwise go to a dairy products tasting event.

Several cities are targeted for several different promotions, all different, as part of the overall dairy promotion campaign that PDPP, and several other qualified promotion programs, wage in Pennsylvania all year.

This year, that could change, depending on the outcome of a producer vote on keeping the National Dairy Board. Tied to that vote is a 15-cent assessment which funds the majority of promotion efforts efforts.

Pennsylvania would lose its assessment, and its dairy promotions, should producers elect to dissolve the National Dairy Board.

Friday's promotion at Lancaster's Penn Square, located at King and Queen streets, coincided with a city "brown bag" lunch program, where the city sponsors lunch-hour entertainment at Penn Square in an attempt to boost citizen moral and to generate downtown activity.

Combined with sunny skies and a mild breeze, the promotion was one of the most successful, in terms of the rapidity with which dairy products disappeared into the hands and mouths of the crowd.

Within an hour and a half, distributed to consumers were 1,000 half pints of strawberry-flavored milk from Graybill's, 1,000 push-up frozen orange sherbert treats from Kemp's Foods of Lancaster, 500 handmade ice cream sandwiches from Coleman's Ice Cream, and 700 half-pints combined of white and chocolate-flavored,

Dairy Grazing Tours Offered

CREAMERY (Montgomery Co.) — Those who are currently grazing dairy cattle, considering changing to a grazing system, or are just curious about the concept and practice, then consider participating in the remaining two walking tours scheduled to be held June 24 and July 29 in Bucks and Berks counties.

The walking tours are part of an ongoing program of casual walking tours of different farming operations that is being coordinated by the Penn State University Extension Service offices in Berks, Bucks and Montgomery counties.

This most recent series of three walking tours of grazing operations in southeastern Pennsylvania counties began in May with a walking tour of Brian and Brenda Moyer's Franconia, Montgomery County farm.

The next walking tour is to be held Thursday, June 24, at the Jessie Howe farm in northeastern Bucks County.

A third pasture tour is to be held July 29 at the Forrest Stricker farm in Robesonia, Berks County.

The Howe farm is operating on its third year with a grazing system, according to an extension news release received this week. They have 20 cows and intend to increase to 35 on 23 acres available for grazing, with water in each paddock. He has planted his pastures with cool season grasses and legumes.

He also started seasonal dairy this year, which relies on synchronizing breedings, freshenings, and drying off.

His equipment needs are few; according to the news release he uses a tractor, a rotary mower and a manure spreader. He uses no fermented feeds, and his milk production is moderate.

The Forrest Stricker Farm in Berks County maintains almost 100 head milk cows grazed on 50 acres permanent pasture planted in a mixture of grass-legumes and alfalfa. There are also additional land used for temporary grazing. The cows use two alleys to get to the pastures and water is available in all paddocks.

The types of tours being offered varies, so anyone interested in hosting a walking tour should call either Myers at (215) 378-1327, or Fritz at (215) 489-4315.

Pa. State Grange To PMMB: Thanks But Still Not Perfect

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania State Grange has mixed emotions about the Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board's recent vote to keep the price paid per hundredweight of milk to dairy farmers at the same level as last year.

Brenda Shambaugh, Pennsylvania State Grange legislative director, said the PMMB retained the 80 cents per hundredweight over-order premium for Class I milk indefinitely. The vote came at the PMMB's June meeting at the Department of Agriculture building in Harrisburg.

"While this is not exactly what we asked for," Shambaugh said, "we're happy that the board chose to keep the 80 cent over-order premium indefinitely."

Shambaugh said maintaining the 80 cent over-order premium will help stabilize the dairy industry.

The Grange testified on April 21 in Harrisburg that statistics should be used to establish the price paid to producers because variations in Class I prices lead to fluctuating profits.

"We would have liked to see the board implement the statistics and a formula to determine the over-order price," Shambaugh said.

Grange policy calls for the use of the statistics from the Pennsylvania Agricultural Statistics Service (PASS) as a base for quarterly updating of milk prices without holding hearings.

Shambaugh said farm organizations and individuals will maintain or retain the right to petition the board to reset the price.

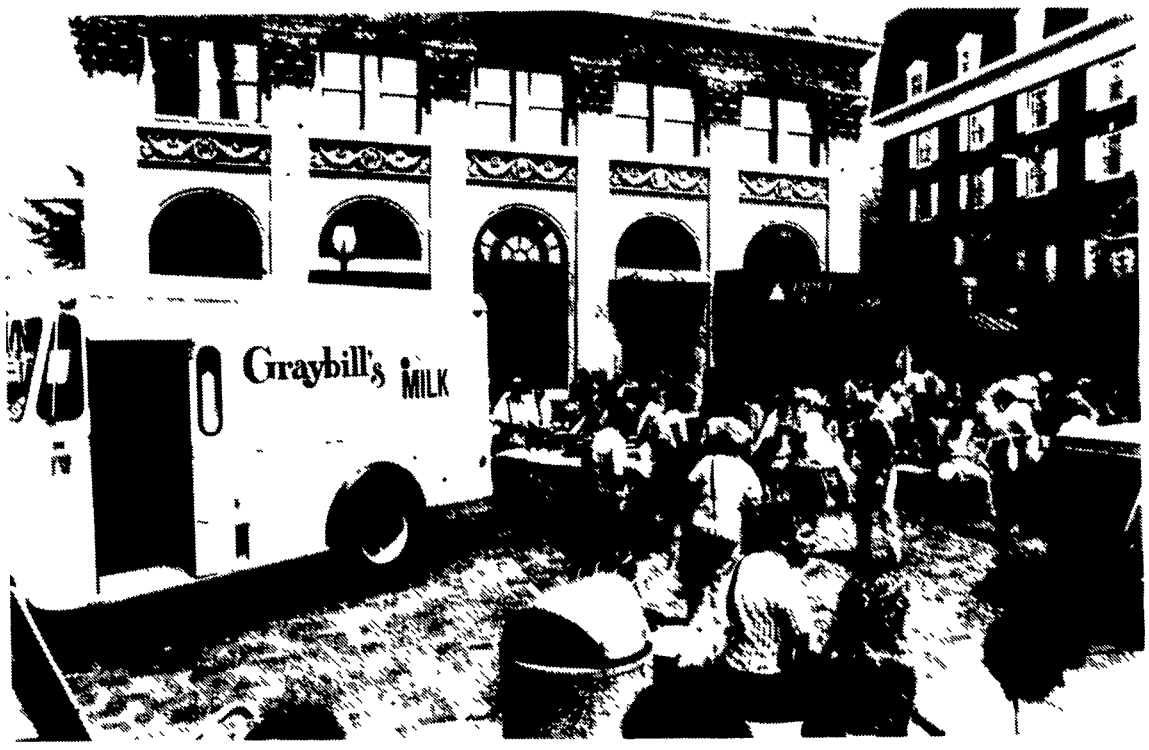
"In case of an emergency — such as a drought — the board could hold an emergency meeting to decide whether the price needs to be adjusted to address the situation," Shambaugh said.

The motion to continue the same premium passed by a 3-0 vote, according to Shambaugh.

The Pennsylvania State Grange is a fraternal organization voicing the opinions of farmers and rural citizens across Pennsylvania. With membership of 35,000 in the state and 325,000 nationwide, the Grange is one of the largest farming and rural organizations in the country.

MILK AMERICA'S HEALTH KICK

On the Square Matches People With Product



This Graybill's Milk truck is parked on the northwest corner of Lancaster's Penn Square and is one of several dairy product distribution stands for the PDPP Lancaster Dairy Day On the Square promotion.

Rafael Garcia pours a portion of a half-pint of strawberry milk onto a strawberry shortcake a la mode for friend Monica Figueroa.

2-percent fat milk from Turkey Hill.

PDPP staff, volunteers, a number of dairy princesses recently crowned and retiring, and a couple of business representatives distributed the products from stands set up on the northwest corner of the square.

On the northeast corner of the square, Dennise Bollinger, daugther of Daryl and Ruby Bollinger, of Manheim, brought a very calm 4-year-old red and white Holstein cow, "Stephanie," to display to the public.

Adults and youth were constantly around Stephanie and Dennise, petting the cow and asking questions.

Located near Stephanie, in the square's gazebo, a woman musician sang and played Patsy Cline songs on a keyboard-based electronic system, as part of the city's program. There were also vendors with stands selling lunchtime treats, such as strawberry shortcake a la mode, pizza and balloons.

In fact, Rafael Garcia and Monica Figueroa, two people spending the midday exploring downtown Lancaster's markets and shops, had purchased strawberry shortcakes a la mode.

As they were walking near the Graybill milk delivery refrigerator truck, which was parked up on the red-brick of the open-square, one of the many dairy princesses mingling with the crowd handed half-pints of strawberry milk to Rafael and Monica.

After tasting the strawberry milk, the two decided to try a splash of the flavored milk on top of their strawberry shortcake deserts.

Garcia and Figueroa said they enjoyed the taste of the combination, and also the taste of the strawberry milk alone.

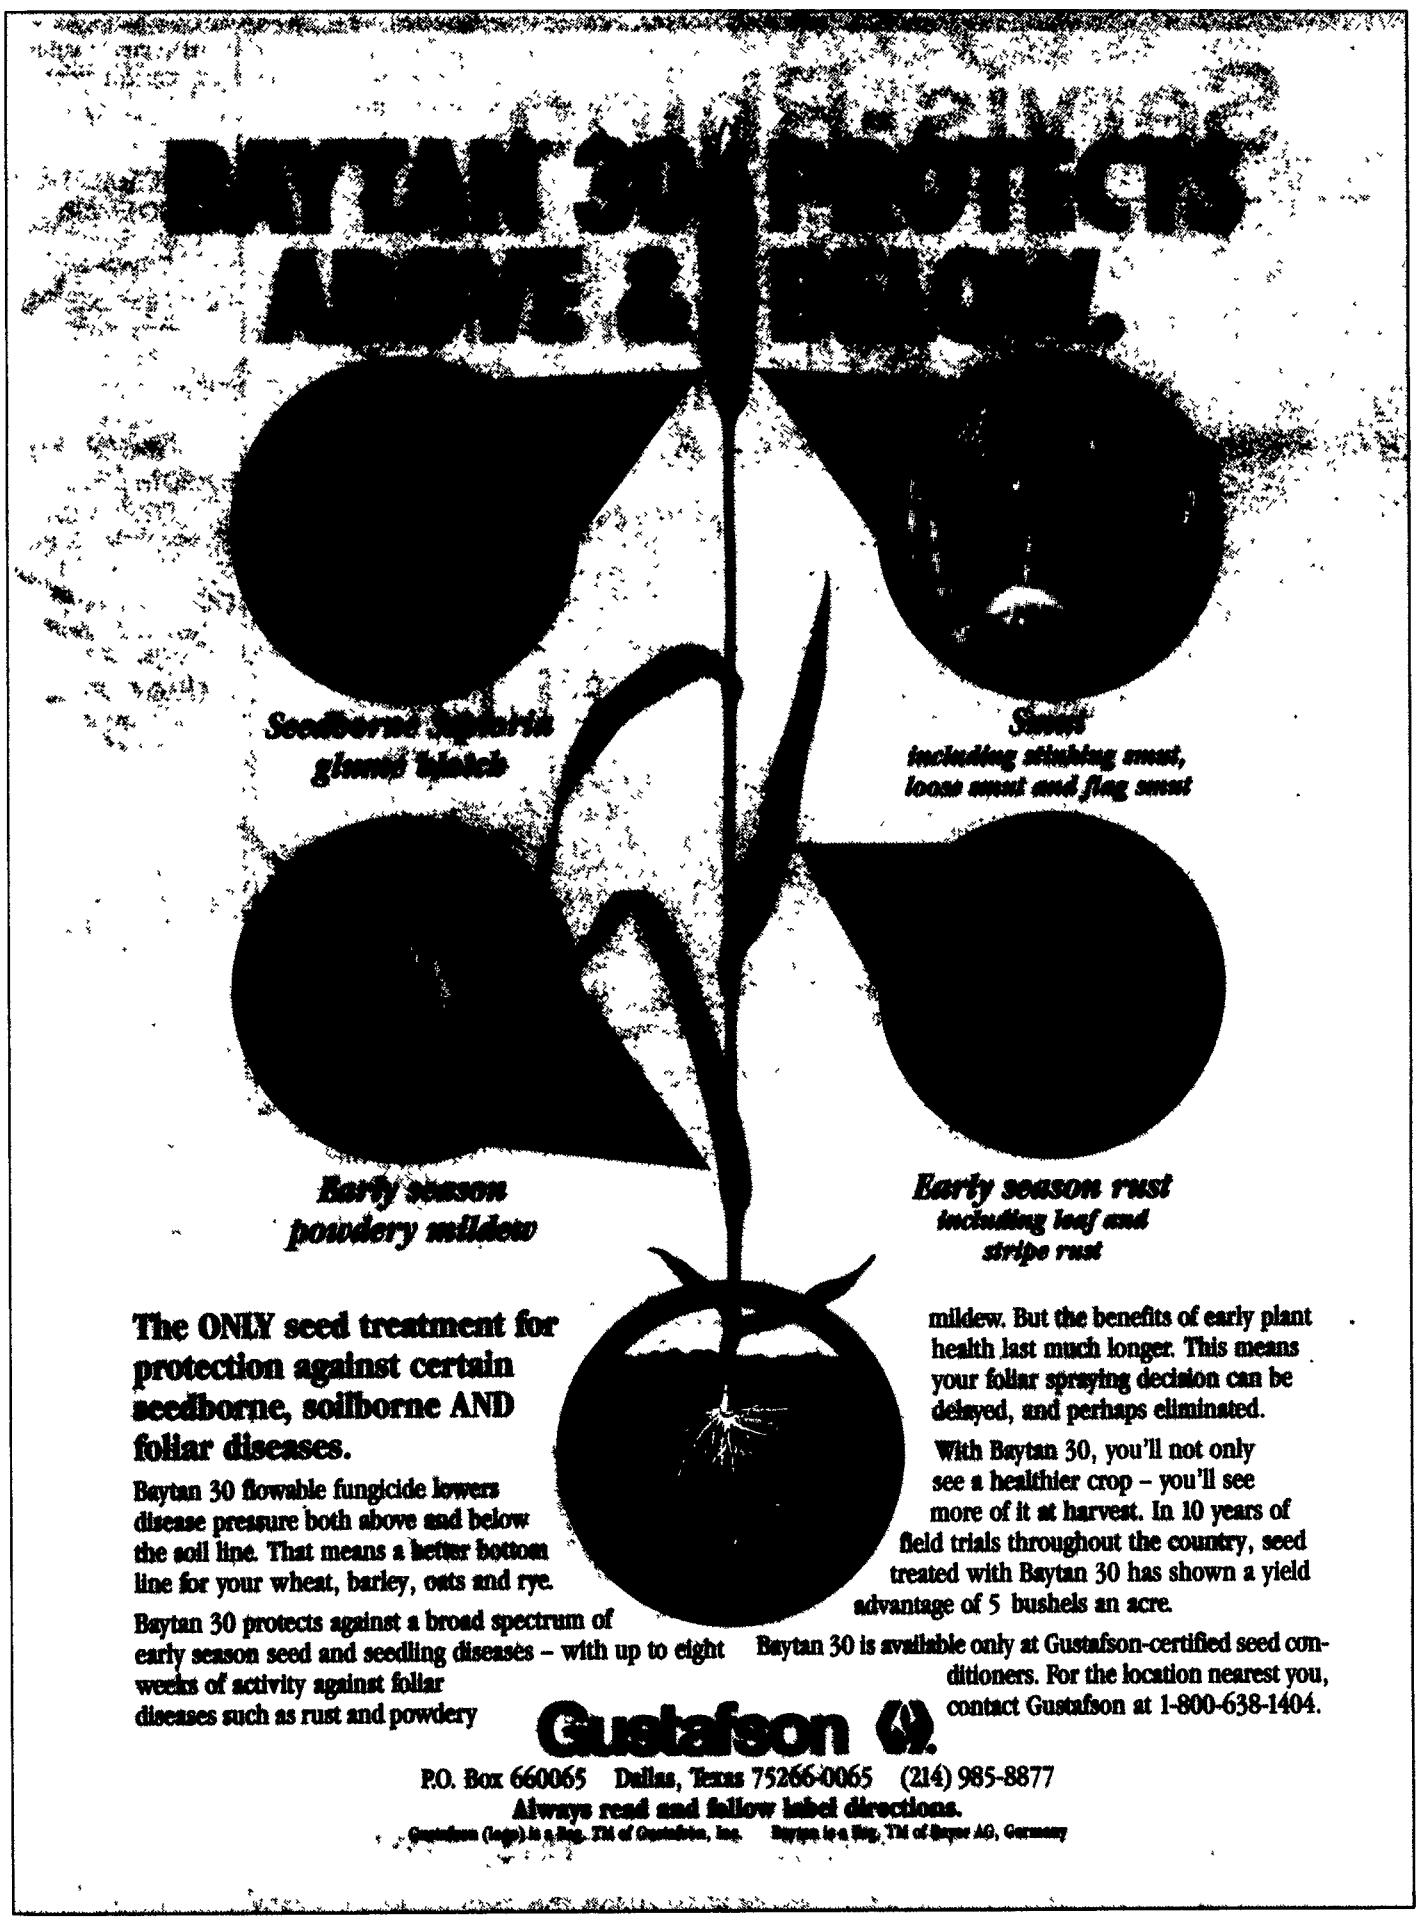
They also said they thought the dairy products promotion was a good way to introduce new products to the public.

"It's perfect," Garcia said. "We never had strawberry milk before and now we like it."

Figueroa said the knowledge of the health benefits of milk and dairy products are something that a lot of people are still missing. "This is good," she said. "A lot of people, they need the calcium, but don't know about it. A lot of people probably don't even drink milk (who should)," she said.

Those who organized and coordinated efforts to put on the promotion and those who volunteered time included Sandy Gross, the Pennsylvania state alternate princess; Marel Raub, Perry County dairy princess; Lynn Koinski, Berks County alternate dairy princess; Karen Heilinger, Lebanon County alternate princess; Jenny Bashore, Lebanon County princess; Stacey Habecker, last year's Lebanon County alternate princess; Angela Baker, retiring Lebanon County princess; and Joanna Landis, Chester County dairy maid.

Also at the promotion were Jan Harting, director of the state dairy princess program; Brian Ross, manager of the PDPP; Betsy Dupuis, in charge of communications and public relations for the PDPP; Rebecca Stumpf, PDPP summer intern; Dennise and Ruby Bollinger and representatives from Graybills, Kemp's Foods, and Coleman's Ice Cream.



The ONLY seed treatment for protection against certain seedborne, soilborne AND foliar diseases.

Baytan 30 flowable fungicide lowers disease pressure both above and below the soil line. That means a better bottom line for your wheat, barley, oats and rye.

Baytan 30 protects against a broad spectrum of early season seed and seedling diseases – with up to eight weeks of activity against foliar diseases such as rust and powdery mildew. But the benefits of early plant health last much longer. This means your foliar spraying decision can be delayed, and perhaps eliminated.

With Baytan 30, you'll not only see a healthier crop – you'll see more of it at harvest. In 10 years of field trials throughout the country, seed treated with Baytan 30 has shown a yield advantage of 5 bushels an acre.

Baytan 30 is available only at Gustafson-certified seed conditioners. For the location nearest you, contact Gustafson at 1-800-638-1404.

Dairy Summit To Address Milk Marketing Policy

the industry to recommendations to maintain virtually the status quo. In between those extremes are numerous and complex program outlines.

The summit has been called for by a number of people, including U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Mike Espy, U.S. Sen. Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., who is chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, and U.S. Sen. Harris Wofford, representative for Pennsylvania, plus the heads of the major dairy interests.

According to Sen. Wofford, the meeting is to be similar to President Bill Clinton's December Arkansas town meeting and the meeting in Washington state over the management of federal forest lands.

"The day on the whole lumber and woods issue in the Northwest was a little different. It was an all-day intense summit that soon is to lead to a proposal from the administration," Wofford said in a telephone interview Wednesday.

"The Little Rock (Ark.) summit showed how you can get people in a room, get a number of points of consensus, and have an impact" on beginning to find solutions to real, existing problems.

"When you take an industry and get attention on it from industry (representatives) and leaders of the nation, it's a good bet that (the York dairy summit) is going to be productive," Wofford said.

By definition, a summit is a gathering of the leaders of the highest levels of human organization, such as governments.

This summit was to consist of two, 15-member panels, with the members openly discussing the marketing and management policies controling the dairy industry.

In a news release from Sen. Leahy's office dated June 2, Sen. Leahy and Secretary Espy issued a joint announcement of the meeting. However specifics of the meeting were not available until late this week.

Leahy's office has been organizing practically the entire event, according to all other parties involved.

The selection of the York site was requested by Sen. Wofford, according to Wofford.

The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture was asked to help with some of the lunch details.

In the meantime, the twin 15-member panel format changed slightly.

According to a draft witness list faxed from Leahy's Washington staff to Lancaster Farming Thursday evening, members of a 13-member and a 15-member panel are to sit down to discuss the industry and work toward consensus.

Each panel is to be divided into a group of presenters and discussants.

The first panel is to consist of three presenters and 10 discussants. The second panel is to consist of five presenters and 10 discussants.

A specific agenda has not been created, but discussants include farmers, processors, researchers, cooperative leaders, special interest groups, and government coming from a number of different states — Texas, Minnesota, California, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Kentucky, Kansas, Illinois, Vermont, Alabama, Mississippi.

The summit may be one of the most important events for the dairy industry and while no specific reasons were given for selecting the York site, it may one of the most significant events to take place in York. It is expected to attract national attention, which York hasn't had since the racial problems experienced in recent years.

Sen. Wofford, of Bryn Mawr, said, "I am looking foward to being there. My office and I have been working closely with Espy and Leahy in bringing this about, getting them to come to York, the heart of our Northeast dairy country.

"I'm glad we're on the map for what should be, in (the dairy industry) world, should be an historic occasion. It seeks to get a national milk marketing strategy, which is a tough task," Wofford said by telephone Wednesday.

A number of news releases from the major dairy industry organizations interested or involved were sent out this past week, helping to announce the Monday event.

However, the first announcement received here was included in the May 31 issue of the National Milk Producers Federation's newsletter, News for Dairy Co-ops.

In that newsletter, it was reported that Leahy and Espy jointly announced the summit and that a senior member of Leahy's staff told the NMPF reporters that holding the summit will not affect or negate consideration of NMPF's suggestion, or any of the other many suggestions for policy that have already been submitted under the USDA's normal hearings processes.

The USDA, under the Bush administration, had held numerous hearings on the issue and several times extended deadlines for submitting suggestions for policy changes.

The suggestions the USDA has received over the years are many and varied.

The Pennsylvania State Grange also put out a news release this week announcing that its representatives will be attending the meeting, as well as representatives of the National Grange.

Arden Tewksbury, manager and found of Progressive Agriculture Organization, and formerly associated with other state agricultural organizations, also faxed a news release which strongly urges dairy farmer turnout.

"Some people are predicting a small turnout at the Summit. Possibly these same people are hoping if dairy farmers don't come to the summit, then this could be a strong indication that dairy farmers are either satisfied with present dairy policy or they are leaving any proposed new legislation proposals up to other people," he stated in the release.

Michael Donovan, general manager of Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative announced last week that he had been selected to be one of the presenters during the meeting.

That was prior to the draft list being completed.

As of Thursday evening, the proposed list of participants on Panel I included, as presenters, Dr. Andy Novakovic, a dairy economist at Cornell University; Mr. Ewing H. Row, managing editor for W.D. Hoard & Sons Co.; and Dr. Robert Young, director for the Food and Agriculture Policy Research Institute.

The Panel I Discussants are to be Ms. Norma Hanson, a dairy farmer from Goodridge, Minn.; Ms. Micke Doelman, dairy farmer from Olympia, Wash.; John Malcolm, dairy farmer from Pawlet, Vermont; Don Whorton, dairy farmer from Wetumpka, Ala.; Buckey Jones, president of Dairymen Inc., of Smithdale, Miss.; Gary Corbett, vice president of governmental and dairy affairs for Dean Foods, of Franklin Park, Ill.; Richard Cotta, general manager of San Joaquin Valley Dairymen, Los Banos, Calif.; Keith Eckel, president of the Pennsylvania Farmers Association, Clarks Summit; Ms. Charlotte Pellegrini, dairy farmer, Mauston, Wis.; Gene Paul, farmer, Mankato, Minn.

The presenters for Panel II are to be Dr. Larry Hamm, chair of the agricultural economics department at Michigan State University; Fred Douma, dairy farmer from Ontario, Calif.; Mike Donovan; Ms. Nancy Danielson, Washington representative for National Farmers Union; and Clyde Rutherford, president of Dairylea Cooparative, Syracuse, N.Y..

The Panel II discussants are to be Charles Beckendorf, president of Associated Milk Producers Inc., of Tomball, Texas; Stewart Huber, president of the Farmers Union Milk Marketing Cooperative, Clintonville, Wis.; Robert McSparran, president of Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, Southampton; Robert Giacomini, dairy farmer with Western United Dairymen, Point Reyes Station, Calif; Ron Morrissette, chairman of the National Family Farm Coalition Dairy Committee, Randolph Center, Vt.; Steve Conerly, CEO of Flav-O-Rich Foods, Louisville, Ky; Dennis Rosen, presdient of Wisconsin Farmers Union, Chippewa Falls; Ms. Deborah Van Dyk, director of legal affairs for Schreiber Foods, Green Bay, Wis.; Dana Hauck, of Delphos, Kan., who is chairman of the Agricultural Policy Committee of the National Cattlemen's Association; and Douglas Greenway or Mary Kassler, either or whom is to represent the National Association of WIC (Women, Infants and Children, a federal welfare program) Directors, Washington, D.C.

According to Edward Melhorn, vice president of the organization which runs the York Fairgrounds, he was asked to set up the facility's Old Main Building to seat 500 people.

The building is air conditioned he said and the fairgrounds is located along Route 74, south of Route 30. Those using Route 83 to get to York, should take Rt. 30 west and then take the Rt. 74 exit, he said.

West Virginia Dairy Sales

MOUNDSVILLE, W.Va. — Two major dairy sales are to be held in Moundsville, W.Va., on August 28, according to the West Virginia University Extension Service.

Members of the Northern Panhandle Holstein Association met recent to make preliminary plans for the West Virginia State Dairy Sale, and the Dairy Genetics Sales, both to held August 28 at the Marshall County Fairgrounds.

Dennis Remsburg, of Maryland, is to be the auctioneer for the sale, and in the months leading up to the sales, he is to be traveling within the tri-state area seeking consignments.

The sale committee has also approved the admittance of qualified grade animals as consignments.

Welcomed to the sale are registered bred heifers, fresh cows or cows close to freshening, in addition to qualified grades.

For more information call Remsburg at (301) 473-8214, or (301) 473-7959. Others who are serving as contact persons are Merle Chaplin at (304) 845-3167; Fred Hazlett at (304) 547-5830; Ivan McCombs at (304) 232-4543; Maurice Garrison at (304) 336-9937; Tim Hubbs at (304) 845-6174; or Mary Week at (304) 242-8680.

The Dairy Genetics Sale is a 4-H heifer replacement project for 4-Hers in Ohio and Marshall counties in the Northern Panhandle, and Harrison County in the center of the state.

For the sale, 4-H youth receive 1-week-old heifer calves and raise them until they are bred heifers ready to enter a working dairy herd.

Dick Chichester from Select Sires has been booked for the pedigree reading for both sales.

Three Mile Island Tours Set For Agriculture

MIDDLETOWN (Dauphin Co.) — The nuclear and agricultural industries are getting better acquainted in central Pennsylvania through open forums sponsored by GPU Nuclear Corporation in Middletown, Dauphin County. The first open forum for agricultural representatives in the five counties surrounding Three Mile Island was held at the nuclear plant in March.

Three Mile Island is surrounded by agriculture. Thousands of farmers live within sight of the cooling towers and the vapor plumes. But in the past TMI has had very few visits, tours or communications with this large group of neighbors. The open forum meeting presented an opportunity for these two very specialized industries to open new lines of communication.

The first forum was attended by nine representatives from the Soil Conservation Service, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, Emergency Management Offices and the County Cooperative Extensions.

They said that the local farmers are very interested in the implications of any radiological emergency at TMI and they want more information on evacuation, reentry and how GPUN monitors the environment. They encouraged GPU Nuclear to meet with the farmers and their leaders, establish an agricultural liaison and write to Lancaster Farming and other farm publications.

The GPU Nuclear team consisted of Communications and Emergency Preparedness specialists who admitted to knowing little about the agricultural industry.

One of their representatives stated "My home is in the midst of farm land, I drive past farms and fields every day and I use many agricultural products, but I had no idea how complex farming methods are or the important role the farm leaders play. I never heard of the Lancaster Farming newspaper before tonight. It seems we have our distinct professions and lifestyles which just don't interface very often."

The group decided that more meetings should be planned to follow up on the first Open Forum. TMI will begin meeting with local farm leaders, stay in touch with the agricultural representatives and get to know local farmers through farm tours and visits to TMI. The next open forum will be held July 1 for Dauphin County farm leaders.

The following agricultural representatives attended the forum: Ruth Hagy, Dauphin County ASCS; Jenifer Minnich, Lebanon County ASCS; Jim Welshans, Dauphin County Coop. Ext.; Warren Archibald, Lancaster County SCS; John Schwartz, Lancaster County Coop. Ext.; Randy Gockley, Lancaster County. Emerg. Mgt.; Glenn Kimmel, Cumberland County ASCS; John Metrick, Cumberland County SCS; William Clifton, York County SCS.

If you have any questions about GPU Nuclear or the Open Forum meetings you may call Tom Kauffman at Three Mile Island at 717-948-8738.

Former Somerset Director Receives Gift

SOMERSET (Somerset Co.) — Robert C. Antram, who retired on June 1 as the director of the Somerset County Cooperative Extension Service after 36 productive years of service to the Somerset County agricultural community, received a registered border collie sheepdog as his retirement gift, since he is also a sheep farmer.

The dog, Twill, was trained by Jack Monsour, Bedford, but came originally from Bud Budreau in South Dakota.

Antram was lauded at a celebration on Sunday, June 6 at the Geiger church grove. Several hundred attended. It was planned by the board of directors of the local cooperative extension. Friends, individuals, and businesses financed the purchase of Twill.

Tech Students See Horticulture Designs Become Reality

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

FAIRLESS HILLS (Bucks Co.) — In computer publishing lingo, it's called WYSIWYG (pronounced "wisseewig") — What You See Is What You Get.

And WYSIWYG is used full-force by members of the special horticulture program at the Bucks County Agricultural-Vocational Technical School.

There, students have a chance to take any photograph or videotape of a structure and convert it to a computer image, using Image Design Software, and put in landscape designs of any sort, including flowers, trees, or shrubs, and produce a picture of exactly what the design, when complete, will look like.

The new system impressed the board members of the local Scottsville Methodist Church so much that they recently awarded savings bonds totalling $300 to two students of the program who designed landscaping for the church.

Many times, students have to draw out a landscape visualization design using geometrical shapes, and often cannot readily see their mistakes, especially in color use, balance, and other elements a drawing sometimes doesn't capture, according to Carl Vivaldi, horticulture instructor at the school.

The special "what you see is what you get system" shows exactly what the landscape design will look like, including placement, color, and other elements.

Vivaldi remembers seeing the same type of system in use during a tour at Delaware Valley College. He said it impressed him so much he decided to see if he could obtain it for his students.

"We obtained the funding through a Carl Perkin's grant," said Vivaldi. After seeing the college demonstration, and obtaining more information from a magazine, he requested and obtained a videotape about the system. The process of applying for grants and getting approval took two years.

So far, about six students have had experience with the computer, including the two that were awarded for their designs. One student, Elizabeth Viviano, who will be a senior next school year, was awarded a first-place $250 savings bond. Her design, together with elements from Ed Large's second-place design (who received a $50 savings bond), will be implemented by the church next fall.

All the students will obtain the necessary material and will install all the landscaping at the church, according to Vivaldi.

Much of the impetus for the special program came from Vivaldi's own experiences as an FFA member at the Delcroft FFA Chapter in Delaware County. "I used all the experiences with my involvement in FFA and passed them on to my students," he said.

Vivaldi said that the program at the Bucks County Technical School has garnered several state and national winners, including involvement in the floricultural regional contests two years in a row and two national gold medal winners in landscaping two years in a row.

The Bucks Technical School includes students from six districts and three private schools. There, students attend the programs, including carpentry, masonry, auto mechanics, restaurant and hotel management, computers, photography, and many others for a two-week program every other two weeks.

In all, about 42 students are involved in three different project areas, including greenhouse management, floriculture, and landscape design.

Espy Appoints Noss To National Board

SOUTHAMPTON (Bucks Co.) — Atlantic Dairy Cooperative member and director David N. Noss, of Port Royal, was recently appointed by U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Mike Espy to the National Dairy Promotion and Research Board.

Noss was among nine new members and three incumbents appointed to the board. He is to serve a three-year term as the Region 11 representative. He also has been assigned to serve on the Board's Public Relations and Nutrition Education Committee.

Noss and his wife, Sharon, farm in partnership with his brother, Larry. They operate a 230-acre farm in Juniata County, where they milk 60 Holsteins. The Noss family has been a member of Atlantic Dairy Cooperative for 25 years.

Active in his community, Noss is past president of both the Juniata County Dairy Herd Improvement Association and the county Soil Conservation District. He currently serves on both the Middle Atlantic Milk Marketing Association and the Pennmarva Dairymen's Federation board of directors. He is an elder and choir member of the Port Royal Presbyterian Church.

The Nosses have two children, Karen and Ryan.

Established by the 1983 Dairy and Tobacco Adjustment Act, the National Dairy Board is composed of 36 dairy farmers representing 13 regions. The Board is responsible for administering the nationwide promotion, research and nutrition education program.

CoreStates Hamilton Bank believes"THE FAMILY FARM IS THE BACKBONE OF AGRICULTURE". On behalf of all dairymen, we are pleased to salute the success of ROBERT H. ROHRER and SONS at 123 Charlestown Road, Washington Boro in Lancaster County. The Robert H. Rohrer family has been dairying for 40 years and currently includes Robert and the four sons Bob Jr., Mike, Bill, and Tony. The operation includes four farms and the farming of about 450 acres of which most of the ground is utilized for crop production for the dairy herd. The dairy herd of 375 cows with a rolling herd average of 22,000 pounds of milk is in the process of increasing to 700 cows. The new milking facility is a Double 20 Boumatic Herringbone Fast Exit Parlor.

A SALUTE TO DAIRYMEN. EVERY MONTH IS DAIRY MONTH WITH US.

WELCOME TO OPEN HOUSE FROM 10 AM TO 3 PM ON JUNE 24

In June a lot of people pay tribute to dairy farmers because it's National Dairy Month.

At CoreStates Hamilton Bank, we feel you deserve credit a lot more often than that. Managing a successful dairy operation requires working capital all year round. So we're here to help you meet your capital requirements whenever you need us.

Dairy is the major agricultural enterprise in Pennsylvania and accounts for 27.6 percent of the total agricultural production value. The total annual volume of dairy production for our seven-county area is $441 million. This represents 32.4 percent of the yearly production for Pennsylvania. Now that's a record you can point to with pride, and we're proud to be able to help - any way, any time. At CoreStates Hamilton Bank, every month is dairy month!

Community To Benefit From FFA Project

GAY N. BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

BERLIN (Somerset Co.) — The Berlin-Brothersvalley FFA has worked a long time on its "Building Our American Communities" project — a 100-plant nursery on the Berlin-Brothersvalley school's rear lawn.

Not only will it be utilized by the school's teachers for a variety of lessons, but the nursery is for the public as a living resource in planning their landscaping.

Chapter members designed the nursery, then set to work planting specimens, located on a lot measuring 300 by 60 feet, after school officials approved the project. The school board also allotted some $2,500 toward the project.

Growing characteristics of each plant received high consideration by chapter members before individual selections were made. These included winter hardiness, flowers, leaves, needles, bark, berries, and other features for a seasonal attractiveness.

The lowest plants and shrubs are in front and those in succeeding rows will grow taller. Finally, in the rear are trees, some of which could reach 60 feet. Each plant is identified.

Included in the back are Norway Spruce, Russian Olive, Canadian Choke Cherry, Canadian Hemlock, Royal Red Maple, Concolor Fir, Canoe Birch, Black Walnut, Sugar Maple, Butter Nut, Pin Oak, Eastern White Pine, and Colorado Blue Spruce.

Next are Sunburst Locust, Respire Pear, Little Leaf Linden, Dawn Redwood, River Birch, Marshall Seedless Ash, Varigated Dogwood, Norway Maple, Japanese Black Pine, European Mountain Ash, White Flowering Dogwood, Douglas Fir, Shademaster Locust, and Frazier Fir.

Another row has varieties of crab trees, magnolias, hawthorns, plums, cherries, dogwoods, and Chinese chestnut.

There are inkberry, parrotia, lilacs, other dogwood varieties, forsythias, mountain Laurel, junipers, sumacs, goldthread cypress, and arborvitae.

You can find holly and willow varieties, mock orange, rhododendrons, rosemary, potentillas, spireas, barberries, hosta, quince, honeysuckles, azaleas, pepper bush, pussy willows, dwarf burning bush, and dwarf European cranberry, Red Lake currant, and many other plant species.

Doyle Paul, adviser to the local FFA chapter, said that anybody who is preparing to landscape, either at their home or place of business, if they visit the nursery before-hand will have a planning advantage. They can study the plants in the nursery before deciding what to purchase from a reputable nursery dealer.

Seated on the horizontal utility poles which form the boundary to the Berlin-Brothersvalley FFA nursery located behind the Berlin Brothersvalley schools are some chapter members who worked on the project. From left, Greg Cornell, Travis Booth, Jason Baughman, Bryan Sarver, Barry Benning, and Doug Bell.

Not only that, they can observe plants during the different seasons. "If you were to come in the fall," said Paul, "you would get an entirely different perspective."

Last winter showed evidence of some wild animals that obviously were in need of food. "I'd say our biggest predator was rabbits," said Paul, pointing out where some tree bark was chewed.

Those plants which didn't survive were replaced, and reidentifying was also done prior to the close of school.

There will be continuing care to maintain an attractive display of plants. This spring, chapter members were busy mowing the surrounding grass and mulching and fertilizing the plants. A herbicide was applied to the grass under the horizontal utility poles that form the nursery boundary. That was done to eliminate summer weed-eating.

The common snowball bush is among the 100 plants in the Berlin-Brothersvalley FFA plant nursery. The nursery was designed and planted by chapter members. In photo are Greg Cornell, right and Travis Booth.

The Berlin-Brothersvalley FFA planted a nursery for its Building Our American Communities project. Standing next to the Hetz juniper are the chapter president, Jason Baughman with Bryan Sarver.

NDB Urges Cooperation

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The 36 dairy farmers serving on the National Dairy Promotion and Research Board approved several programs, particularly those dedicated to coordinating the national checkoff with state and regional groups as well as other partners in the industry who benefit from sales of milk and dairy foods, during its annual meeting May 18-20.

"Last year, we made great strides forward in fluid milk promotion with UDIA and state and regional groups with the pooling of funds for advertising targeting adults," said William Underwood, New York dairy farmer and chair of the Board's Advertising and Sales Promotion Committee. "This year, we'll be considering a modification in fluid milk advertising with UDIA."

National Dairy Board members approved development of a plan for fluid milk with UDIA and input from other state and regional checkoff groups to target adults and young adults ages 13-24 with milk advertising while aiming more nutrition education to kids.

To support another coordinated dairy promotion, National Dairy Board members viewed and approved finished commercials for use during the summer ice cream promotion aimed at retail consumers. The promotion, much like last year's, pools the funds of the National Dairy Board and UDIA, and leverages those funds with matching dollars from Hershey Foods Corporation. By purchasing a half gallon of ice cream and two Hershey toppings, consumers receive a half gallon of ice cream free.

The National Dairy Board provides national TV advertising and a Sunday newspaper insert featuring the offer which will appear July 11. UDIA provides in-store promotion materials and local advertising while Hershey covers the cost of the free ice cream.

To get an unbiased endorsement for dairy products, particularly cheese, National Dairy Board members approved applying for "recognition" by the American Academy of Pediatric Dentistry of the cavity-prevention properties of cheese. If the AAPD awards such recognition, the Board can use the AAPD's symbol in communications with health professionals and consumers, lending credibility to findings that eating cheese helps prevent tooth decay.

With help from USDA and the American Dairy Products Institute, National Dairy Board members approved a plan for helping build export markets in West Africa's Ivory Coast.

"In March, USDA's Foreign Ag Service contacted us (National Dairy Board) with news that SIALIM, the state-owned corporation controlling all dairy product production and imports in the Ivory Coast, wanted to learn more about the U.S. dairy industry before possibly increasing its U.S. purchases," said Steve Hofman, California dairy farmer and chair of the Board's Export Enhancement Committee. "A 50 percent increase in purchases of U.S. whole milk powder by that country would mean about $1 million to the industry."

National Dairy Board members viewed the first screening of a 22-minute video "Make mine milk." The video was funded by Dairy Farmers Inc., Mid-East UDIA, Midland UDIA, United Dairymen of Idaho and the National Dairy Board. It will be distributed to state and regional promotion groups from their use in school programs.

In other National Dairy Board business, the 36 dairy-farmer board:

• approved testing of two print ads promoting U.S. ice cream to consumers in Japan. The ads emphasize the fact that U.S. ice cream is made from fresh milk and cream, unlike Japan's ice cream. The ads will be tested with Japanese consumers for selling effectiveness before undertaking the expense for final production;

• voted to begin airing the 15-second commercial "Backstage." The fluid milk commercial aims to increase consumption among boys ages 12-17 and airs on TV programs they watch. The commercial shows how drinking milk helps boys grow big and strong as well as interesting to girls;

• approved an in-market test for chocolate milk promotion for four weeks during fall 1993. The test compares total sales of fluid milk in markets where white milk advertising airs, white milk advertising with additional chocolate milk advertising, and white milk advertising with chocolate milk advertising and promotion extension by local advertising and promotion by bottlers and state and regional groups. The purpose of the test is to determine which of these programs sells more fluid milk;

• voted to renew funding of research at the Western Center for Dairy Protein Research and Technology at $500,000. Center researchers, housed at Utah State, Brigham Young and Oregon State Universities, concentrate their studies on basic and applied research for dairy proteins and the function of proteins in cheese and lowfat cheese;

• voted to renew funding of research at the California Dairy Foods Research Center at $500,000. Center researchers, housed at the University of California-Davis, California Polytechnic State University-San Luis Obispo and California Dairy Research Foundation, focus their studies on improving quality of cheddar and lowfat cheddar cheese products, increasing use of milk components including milkfat and protein, and reducing the amount of milkfat produced in milk; and

• approved extension of a research project to develop a shelf-stable chocolate milk concentrate to be dispensed at food service, restaurants for example, through equipment already available for carbonated beverages. If flavored milks can be dispensed this way, more fluid milk might be sold through the out-of-home market where consumers spend 43 percent of their food dollars but buy only 12 percent of their fluid milk.

Poultry Feed Can Be Modified To Reduce Manure Nitrogen, Phosphorous

feed additives to help poultry improve the digestibility and utilization of food. He spoke on Monday afternoon at the Poultry Management and Health Seminar at Kreider Farms Restaurant.

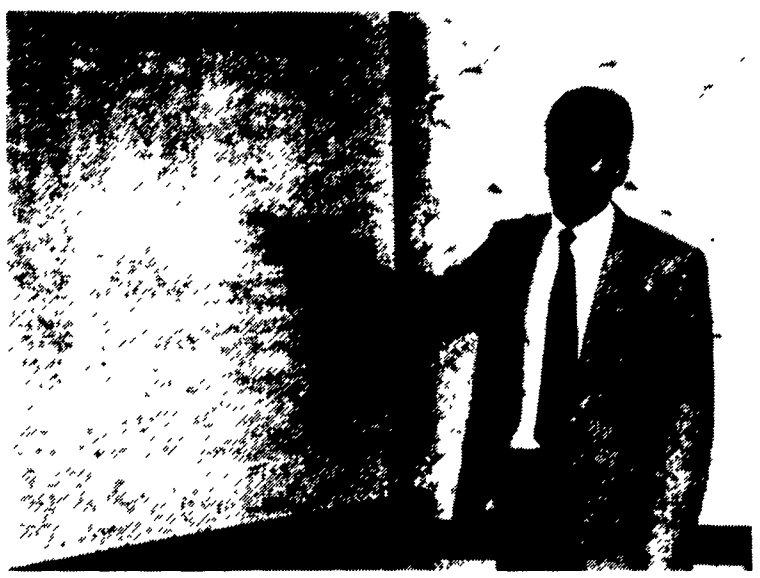
The enzymes, often atomized (sprayed) onto pellets, include amylase-containing enzymes, and the enzymes called beta-galactosidase and hemicellulases.

"All of these products free up nutrients in these feeds that are bound in the seed coats, nitrogen and carbohydrates, and make them more available" to the birds, he said. The more of these nutrients birds can utilize, the less end up in the manure.

The hemicellulases are enzymes that break up the cell walls of the plant to help in starch digestion and energy utilization. But they also release some nitrogen and make them more absorbable and more readily digested by birds, according to Patterson.

Enzymes are often used in combination, depending on the nutrient goals established by the nutritionist and producer.

Enzymes for nitrogen and phosphorous use provide one method to ensure that fewer of these components end up as animal waste. Other factors include overall feed and bird health management.



Dr. Paul H. Patterson, of the department of poultry science at Penn State, noted that commercially available enzymes are useful as additives to help poultry improve the utilization of nitrogen and phosphorous in feed. He spoke on Monday afternoon at the Poultry Management and Health Seminar at Kreider Farms Restaurant.

Patterson told the 40 producers and industry representatives at the meeting that one of the things producers can do is "maybe do a better job of formulating, with the goals in mind to reduce nitrogen and phosphorous in the manure.

"We can get by with lower protein diets, perhaps, using some new ingredients and some synthetic amino acids," he said.

Using amino acids in place of extra protein additives may help the birds utilize the nutrients available. The most readily available amino acids are cystine and lysine, but methionine, tryptophan, threonine, and arginine are also available.

Also, proteins in different feeds are utilized differently by birds. The proteins are utilized more readily in an alfalfa feed a lot better than in corn. So the type of additive will vary with the type of diet the bird is on.

Producers can adjust the formulation accordingly, depending on nutrient requirements of the bird.

"Another thing you can do is lower the protein level in the diet," said Patterson. He told producers that addressing the amino acid needs of birds rather than worrying about the protein requirements may aid in nutrient utilization.

The bottom line, according to the poultry specialist, is to obtain equal production with lower protein diets using the amino acid additives.

"There is an economic incentive in some instances to formulate with lower protein and add some amino acids," he said.

The type of diet can also determine how much phosphorous is excreted in the manure. A type of phosphorous called phytate is "very unavailable" to birds — and there is quite a bit of it in corn.

"We were seeing very high levels (of phosphorous) in broiler and turkey litter," said Patterson.

"Some of these meals and things we don't commonly use, like rice bran, wheat bran, and sesame meal, have a terrific amount of this phytate phosphorous," he said. The phosphorous is not absorbed by the birds — it passes right through the bird and is accumulated in the manure, according to Patterson.

Modifying phosphorous excretions in the litter is possible by modifying the level of calcium that producers include in layer diets — using more Vitamin D can help modify phosphorous excretions. Producers can also use an enzyme to reduce phosphorous output in the manure, such as phytase, which helps make the phosphorous more available to the birds.

Recycling of phosphorous from the manure is on the future horizon, according to the poultry specialist. Patterson spoke about work out of Auburn, Ala. on re-using phosphorous from a lagoon-type system.

Patterson also spoke about experiments with special housing, particularly from a Dutch system, which reduces ammonia by circulating dry air under a trampoline-type floor. By drying the manure, ammonia levels are reduced.

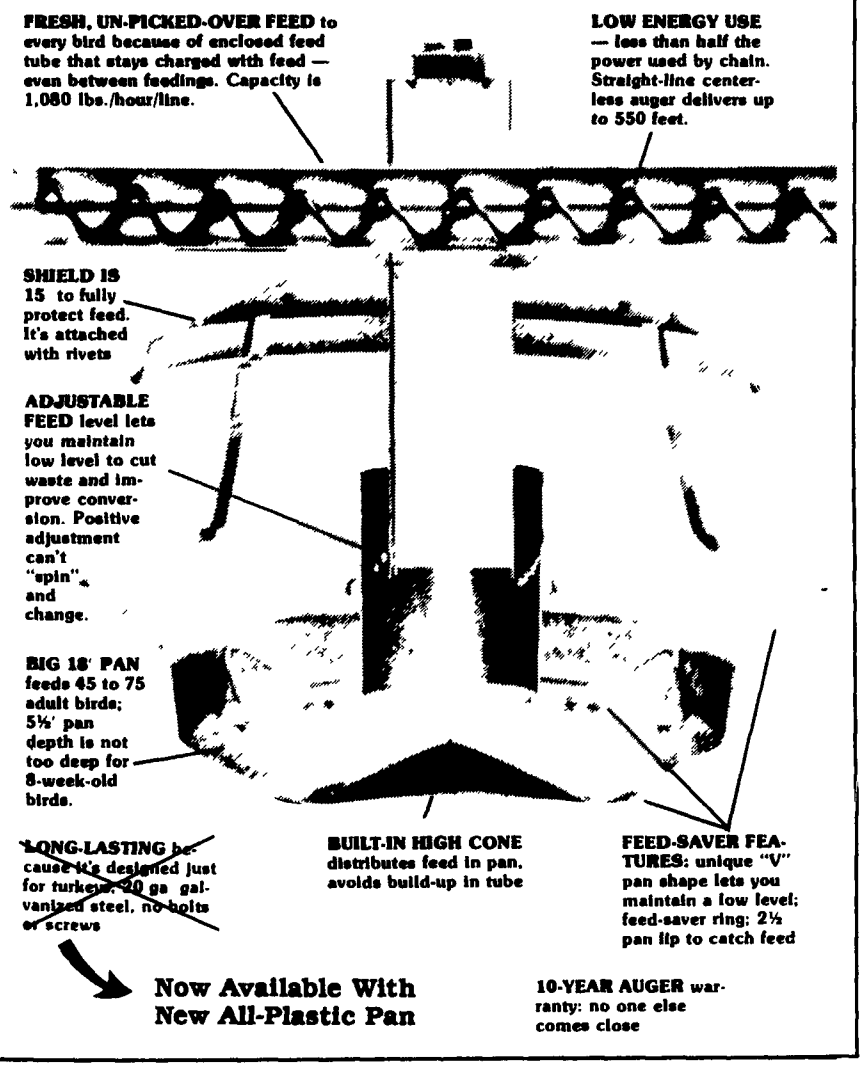
Contracts for new and updated turkey houses using CHORE-TIME equipment



FRESH, UN-PICKED-OVER FEED to every bird because of enclosed feed tube that stays charged with feed — even between feedings. Capacity is 1,080 lbs./hour/line.
LOW ENERGY USE — less than half the power used by chain. Straight-line centerless auger delivers up to 550 feet.
SHIELD IS 15 to fully protect feed. It's attached with rivets
ADJUSTABLE FEED level lets you maintain low level to cut waste and improve conversion. Positive adjustment can't "spin", and change.
BIG 18' PAN feeds 45 to 75 adult birds; 5½' pan depth is not too deep for 8-week-old birds.
LONG-LASTING because it's designed just for turkeys. 20 ga galvanized steel, no bolts or screws
BUILT-IN HIGH CONE distributes feed in pan, avoids build-up in tube
FEED-SAVER FEATURES: unique "V" pan shape lets you maintain a low level; feed-saver ring; 2½ pan lip to catch feed
Now Available With New All-Plastic Pan
10-YEAR AUGER warranty: no one else comes close

Chore-Time H2 ALL-PLASTIC FEEDER floods feeder pan with plenty of feed to attract and start poults from the first day.

Chore-Time SUPER 6™ curtain-sided ventilation made easy

Chore-Time SUPER 6™ Environmental Control System takes the work out of operating curtain ventilation — and does it without requiring anyone to be a computer expert! SUPER 6 accurately and automatically "supervises" your building's ventilation during hot, cold, and even during natural ventilation periods — doing automatically what most hog producers are attempting to do by hand.

PFU, NFU Oppose Flex Acre Increases

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — According to U.S. Agricultural Secretary Mike Espy, the average farm household received only $5,742 in income from farming in 1990.

The National Farmers Union as well as the Pennsylvania Farmers Union supports farm policies that will help family farmers and believe that recent proposals by the House Agricultural Subcommittee will not be the answer in achieving the spending cuts in farm programs required by Congress.

It was recommended that a 5 percent increase in flex acres was one way to achieve most of the cuts. Flex acres represent the percentage of a farmer's crop base which is not eligible for price support deficiency payments.

Increasing flex acres could be devastating for some family farmers. Large scale farms may have already received as many payments as they can, so reducing acres in a program would have little effect on their income, but for smaller farmers, increasing flex acres means a direct loss of income.

As the bill now moves to the Senate, they need to know there is a better alternative:

Congress should instead raise the Acreage Reduction Program (ARP) requirements by one percent.

According to projections from the Food and Agricultural Policy Research Institute, increasing ARP levels would result in increases in cash crop and livestock receipts for producers rather than a decrease in cash receipts as would be the case under flex adjustment.

Retires From Adult Farmer Program

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — Don Robinson, instructor and leader of the Eastern Lancaster County School District's Adult Farmer Program, will retire from his position at the school after 26 years of service effective July 31.

He will move to replace the Lancaster County Conservation District administrator position when Bob Gregory retires on July 1.

Robinson, a resident of Brownstown, has served the young adult farmer program at the school full-time for 22 years, after teaching in the high school Vo Ag program and heading the young farmer program the first four years.

In his new position, Robinson told Lancaster Farming, he will be responsible for the operation of the conservation district and the supervision of the Chesapeake Bay

Don Robinson

Program in Lancaster County. Work will involve making sure compliance with erosion and sedimentation plans are enforced in developed areas, including residential and commercial, and helping farmers implement conservation plans.

Robinson said that he decided to utilize the retirement incentive, known statewide as the "Mellow Bill," to retire from the school position and assume responsibilities as district administrator.

He will also provide more assistance regarding conservation and areas he believes are related, such as pesticide safety training for private applicators in the county.

Jeff Stoltzfus, an associate with the Pequea-Mill Creek Project, will take over the responsibilities of the school's program on August 1, including the operation of the New Holland Vegetable Day and work with the farmers served in the program.

The program, according to Robinson, introduced trickle irrigation into the area.

Robinson said he was happy with the continued strong support of the school board during the past 26 years. He said a lot of credit must be extended to the school district for their invaluable aid in ensuring the adult farmer program's success.

USDA Announces Refunds

BOB YONKERS
PSU Assistant Professor

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Every time milk producers look over their milk check stub, they are reminded of their contribution to reducing the U.S. government's budget deficit.

The reminder, usually referred to as the CCC assessment, is 16.35 cents per cwt for milk sold between May 1 and Dec. 31 this year.

Milk producers should remember that this assessment is refundable to those producers who market less milk this calendar year than last year, provided they apply for a refund with their local ASCS office.

USDA recently announced that 38,595 producers submitted eligible applications for refunds of the assessments collected in 1992. This was down nearly 9,000 from those qualifying for a refund last year (see Table 1).

Among states in the northeast, only Pennsylvania had more producers qualifying this year than last, and was one of the few states nationally to do so.

In 1991, the assessment was only 5 cents per cwt, but the 1992 assessment averaged 12.85 cents (11.25 the first four months, and 13.65 the rest of the year). Therefore, the average refund per farm increased from $485 last year to $1,315 this year (Table 2).

California, with its larger average herd size, had the highest average refund.

In the northeast states, average refunds ranged across states from a low of $976 in Ohio to over $1,400 in the New England states other than Vermont.

On average around the country, producers qualifying for refunds marketed 8.4 percent less milk in 1992 than 1991. This compares to an average reduction of 9.1 percent in 1991 versus 1990 marketings (Table 3).

In both years, producers in Texas and Florida made the greatest average reductions, while California producers made the smallest reductions.

Milk producers should remember that this year's assessment is refundable to producers who market less milk in 1993 than in 1992. This assessment will average 14.65 cents per cwt this year.

Penn State Crop Expo Set For Bradford And Lycoming Counties

The 1993 Penn State Crop Expo will be held on July 7 at the Tom Champluvier Farm, Laceyville, PA, Bradford County, from 9:00 A.M. to Dusk.

This year's crop expo will include comparisons of Alfalfa, Corn, Sorghum, Sudangrass, Cool and Warm Season Grasses. Also included will be presentations and demonstrations on week control in corn, multiflora rose control, intensive silage production, pasture renovation and fertility, and the nitrogen quick test.

There will also be equipment demonstrations with round balers, round bale wrappers and systems, silage baggers, pasture watering systems, fencing systems and more.

Specialists from Penn State Collage of Agricultural Sciences will answer questions and agribusinesses will exhibit products and services.

Admission is free, food can be purchased on the site. The 1993 Penn State Crop Expo is supported by the Pennsylvania Grasslands and Forage Council.

For further information contact the Bradford County Cooperative Extension Office at 265-2896.

Liquid Fuel Tax Refunds

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — State Agriculture Secretary Boyd E. Wolff is urging farmers to take advantage of refunds on liquid fuel taxes offered by the state's Treasury Department. Farmer's Liquid Fuels Claim Forms will be mailed to all registered claimants on June 18.

"This is a great opportunity for farmers to reduce their taxes," Wolff said. "It will help to cut the cost of farm operation."

Any person who uses liquid fuels in the actual production of agricultural products is eligible for the refund. Filing is done on a fiscal-year basis, which in this case is the period between July 1, 1992 and June 30, 1993. The claim forms must be received by the Treasury Department no later than September 30, 1993.

In order for the claim to be properly processed, it must be accompanied by either actual paid receipts, copies of paid receipts, or a dealer's statement showing the number of gallons purchased and verification that the state tax has been paid.

Question concerning the registration of claiments and assistance in filing of claims should be addressed to Lynne Vergot in the Treasury Department's Board of Finance and Revenue at (717) 787-6534.

Brothers Pay Attention To Kind Of Corn They Plant

★ A LANCASTER FARMING EXCLUSIVE ★

From Madison Avenue To Bradford County In Search Of Farm Life

In 1988 they made the decision to give up successful careers and go into farming.

Not that either had any background in farming — Bill grew up in northeast Philadelphia; Helen hails from Kalamazoo, Mich.

Nevertheless, the two were exposed to agriculture. When they would visit Helen's brother in Michigan, Bill would sometimes go along to his brother-in-law's workplace — a dairy farm.

Bill would tag along while his brother-in-law worked, at the time not aware that city life would soon become unsatisfactory and that he would be considering farming as a career.

But the seed was planted, and when the couple decided to go into agriculture, dairying was the couple's only reference.

Before jumping into farming without having any experience at all, the couple went to New Jersey's Somerset County Extension Office and told the staff that the couple was willing to work free on weekends at whatever farm would allow novices willing to learn.

The Olewniks were offered work at a horse farm, sheep farm, a beef operation and two dairies.

Bill said he always loved cattle, so he decided to accept an offer from Al Puskas, of Middlebush Farm, located in Somerset County. His first day of work was July 1, 1988.

An extremely hot and humid day, is how Bill said he remembers it. The farmer was harvesting wheat. That day, Bill helped put up 1,000 bales of wheat straw.

Bill said that during that evening, while sitting at the table, felling hot and exhausted, he knew he had found his way of life.

Bill continued working for Puskas and family — Al, Julie and their two sons Bobby and Jimmy.

He said that he not only learned a tremendous amount about farming while working with the family, but he said he also developed a great friendship.

It was through the help of the Puskas that the Olewniks now own and operate a 225-acre dairy farm and milk 50 cows, Bill said.

The Olewinks didn't just go from "point A" to "point B." Puskas helped them locate a farm that would suitable for their needs. He traveled miles with the couple, visiting farms and offering advice.

Puskas died recently. The loss has been great, Bill said, adding that Puskas was the Olewniks' great friend and inspiration.

The changes that occured for Bill during the transition from city to country can be traced through the jobs he held and the situations the family encountered prior to moving into Standing Stone Farm.

After leaving the security of the well-paying typography work, and the guidance from Middlebush Farm, the couple went to work full time milking 200 cows and Helen took care of the heifers.

It was at this farm that Bill learned how to artificially inseminate a cow. He still does that on his own herd, only calling for a technician when he has failed to get a cow settled on a third try.

The next step the couple took was to rent a farm of their own. With the help of Puskas, the Olewniks pursued an advertisement about a farm for rent in Pennsylvania — in Durell, Bradford County.

Bill and Helen said they fell in love with the area and the people.

On April 1, 1991, the Olewniks started their own dairy in Durell — they bought a herd of 50 cows in New Jersey and moved in.

However, renting was not for the couple. "Renting does not work, or at least in our situation it didn't," Helen said.

With the help of new-found friends in Bradford County, the couple found out about and purchased Standing Stone Farm — already a Dairy of Distinction — located along the Susquehanna River. The farm contained everything the couple needed, and the previous, now-retired owners, Sidney and Fran Lewis, continue to provide advice and help.

At the present, the family dairy farm is operated by Bill, Helen and their children, who do some chores, 11-year-old Jennifer and 6-year-old Mike.

The herd had a rolling production average of 16,000 pounds of milk when it was purchased, and now, with 75 percent of the original herd remaining, it's up to about 18,500 pounds.

Olewniks grow corn and hay and they have a nutritionist from the local feed business to help balance rations for optimum production.

They feed 40 pounds of corn silage per cow, per day in two feedings; free choice hay; and grain four times per day.

Bill and Helen said they learned the importance of cleanliness in farming and pay attention to maintenance details, the result of which

Proposed Ephrata School Cuts May Have Drastic Impact On Ag Programs

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Quality of agricultural programs for the Ephrata High School could be jeopardized if a proposed 1993-1994 school financial budget package, which cuts ag operating funds substantially, is passed by the Ephrata High School board, according to members of the board's ag advisory committee.

Members of the board have been assembling at various public meetings scheduled throughout the month to hear and discuss reactions by the public to the proposed budget. A final vote on the budget is set Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the school's Audion Room.

The proposal, which will affect about 90 students enrolled for next school year, was enacted as a result of a shortfall of necessary funds and takes the place of a previously proposed hike in mills, recently rejected by the board.

The proposed cuts in the budget to the agricultural program, in which final action won't be taken until after the meeting of the board Monday, includes halving the operating budget from $23,910 to $12,190. It also includes slashing the number of contract days (beyond the regular school days to oversee FFA student activity enterprises, weekend programs, fair involvement, and other events) from 28 days per ag teacher to 15 days. If passed, travel expenses will be docked from $6,000 to $2,750.

Proposed reduction

One of the major impacts on the quality of the ag programs will be the proposed reduction in contract days from 28 to 15, according to Ernest Orr, chairman of the ag department.

"You cannot have a quality program in 15 days," said Orr. "It's impossible. It's impossible to have quality with 28 or 30 days."

Orr said the contract days allow ag instructors time to visit incoming ninth graders and to travel during the summer to inspect the students' supervised ag experience (SAE) projects, which are essential to FFA involvement.

Also, the proposed contract day and travel expense cutbacks will severely impact the ability of FFA'ers and students to travel to shows.

"It does not give us any time to go to the dairy shows, the hog shows, or things like that," said Orr.

Orr said the proposal would eliminate at least 75 percent of all field trips. Trips to projects sponsored by the Chesapeake Bay Foundation, the Natiuonal FFA Center, judging activities (including the Pennsylvania Farm Show), FFA Leadership Conference, Eastern Regional Leadership Conference, and a "whole gamut of things," are in jeopardy and could be eliminated, according to Orr.

"We have to pick and choose which field trips to take," said Orr. "And field trips really are the backbone of ag."

Orr said that while the school is in a budget crunch, some cutbacks may be necessary. According to the ag instructor, the board (which is made up of few, if any, members that are directly involved in ag-related industries) is looking at the proposed budget, which may eliminate a great deal of other school programs, as a way to spread the cuts evenly.

Found problem

According to Ephrata school board president Gary G. Krafft, the board found a potential problem regarding funding last July which indicated a need for more funds to meet expenses (the state was not considering increasing the funds necessary to continue to operate). Also, the country's general economic slowdown has lessened revenues to the extent that the millage, as a result of new development, could not be increased.

The board decided it needed to "use assets more wisely" and to develope a new or changed methodology to reduce the cost of delivering the same product (in this case, student learning), according to Krafft.

The proposed cuts in the budget to the agricultural program, in which final action won't be taken until after the meeting of the board Monday, includes nearly halving the operating budget from $23,910 to $13,190. It also includes slashing the number of contract days (beyond the regular school days to oversee FFA student activity enterprises, weekend programs, fair involvement, and other events) from 28 days per ag teacher to 15 days. If passed, travel expenses will be docked from $6,000 to $2,750. Board members from left, John K. Griffith, Drew A. Myers, Gary G. Krafft, Dr. Theodore L. Soistmann, Jr., Shirley L. Lapi, Harry L. At a public meeting of the committee of the whole at the school Monday night, Kerry E. Boyd, chairman of the Ephrata Vo Ag Advisory Committee, outlined questions about the proposed ag program budget. Boyd asked the board, if the budget is cut 45-55 percent, will teachers have the time and resources to allow the operation of a meaningful Vo Ag program?

The board presented the proposal to the administration "to come forward with some type of program to achieve this goal," he told Lancaster Farming.

Public meeting

At a public meeting of the committee of the whole at the school Monday night, Kerry E. Boyd, chairman of the Ephrata Vo Ag Advisory Committee, outlined questions about the proposed budget. According to Boyd, the following questions need to be answered:

- If the budget is cut 45-55 percent, will teachers have the time and resources to allow the operation of a meaningful Vo Ag program?
- With a growth of 20 percent in enrollment in the program within two years, and a projected growth of 20 percent, how can the board expect Vo Ag teachers to continue the high standards of excellence this program has shown over the years, and how can they provide the time and resources necessary for students to excel and mentally grow?
- Boyd emphasized the lack of vital time needed for summer and weekend programs which allow students to grow in leadership and other life-long skills.

He made the following recommendations:

- The extra contract days for the two ag teachers not be cut further than 28 days they each receive. If possible, reinstate some of the 45 days per teacher they used to have.
- That the board reconsider the large cut in travel expenses, which support field trips and worthwhile leadership experiences that help students grow and develop within the Vo Ag program.

Boyd said that he understood the challenges facing the board and that some cuts may be necessary for the school to function.

Reconsider budget

At Monday night's meeting, the committee reviewed the proposed budget and answered questions from the public. About 60 attended the meeting, which included a large number of farmers and those involved in agribusiness in the county.

All voiced their support for continuation of the ag program and that the school board should reconsider the proposed budget and, if cuts are necessary, treat all programs equally.

The board responded by saying that some administrative programs could not be cut, including all contract salaries.

Board president Krafft indicated that while cuts are important, what is more important is to rethink ways to improve the program, because budgeting is a 12-month-of-the-year job.

School board member Barbara L. Stauffer asked the board to reconsider the proposal regarding the ag program cuts, because they were "probably hitting this area a little too hard." She asked the board to do some readjusting of the proposal.

Situation unique

According to Barry Oswald, state ag advisor in the Pennsylvania Department of Education, what Ephrata High School is facing is unique, considering the large amount of ag industry common to the county.

If enacted, the cuts could have an affect on schools facing similar situations. Ag budgets could be affected in other schools, but the result of what happens at Ephrata may or may not have a direct impact on other schools in the state.

Most of the time, according to Oswald, it is the schools experiencing a steady decline in ag enrollment that suffer budget cutbacks to their ag programs.

Ephrata's situation is unique, according to Oswald, because the program is actually experiencing a growth in ag program involvement. The situation in Ephrata "is undoubtedly a lot different," he said, because of the steadily increasing enrollment of the students in ag-related courses.

Oswald said he was concerned that schools may beging to look hard at their proposed budgets and the situation "may open some eyes and it may prompt board members to look critically at what others might do," he said.

Regardless of what happens, according to Oswald, each school operates as an independent, unique entity — its ways of handling budgetary problems are central to the school itself.

Why downsize?

At a curriculum meeting early this month, Sam Beamesderfer, of Gehman's Feed Mill in Denver, also spoke about the need for the board to reconsider the proposal. He said the ag program in a city such as Philadelphia has more applicants than the program will accept.

"Why does a city school offer agriculture courses and we are considering downsizing our program when we are in the 'garden spot' of the country?" said Beamesderfer.

"I can related the encouragement and persuasiveness the ag teachers had on my life," he said. "Without their help and concern, I would not have accomplished or achieved some of the things I have in my life. I do not know of any other program in the school that could have done what the ag program did for me."

Ag isn't needed?

At Monday's meeting, Dale Martin, an Ephrata farmer who lives near the school, asked the board members, "Have we in the Ephrata School District gotten to the point where ag isn't needed anymore?" He asked the board members to think about developing long-range plans regarding the ag program in the school.

In an agriculturally rich area such as Ephrata, cutbacks in ag budgets shouldn't be happening, according to Orr. At Monday night's meeting, he described a survey recently conducted which showed that 80 percent of those who took ag courses in the school took up a career in agribusiness.

"The shame is," said Orr, "if Ephrata was located in the middle of Iowa, I mean, that's all that would be here. There's too much diversity in the county for people to appreciate the ag that's here. The amount of agricultural business in this county is phenomenal. But no one appreciates it."

Days To First Service And Days Open

This is the first of several columns about DHIA reproductive management reports. These reports are a valuable tool for evaluating the reproductive status of your herd, but for the data to be accurate you or your DHIA technician must enter all heat dates, all breeding dates and the results of all pregnancy checks.

What calving interval are you striving for? That establishes your goal for days open. If you are trying to maintain a 12.5 month calving interval, average days open has to be about 100 (12.5 months x 30.5 days per month - 281 days pregnant = 100 days open). That means some cows will have to conceive before 100 days to compensate for those that conceive later.

If your goal is to get cows settled by 100 days, how soon after calving should you start preparing them? Also, what is the earliest you want to start breeding them? We refer to this as the voluntary waiting period (vwp). You will find this figure on your Raleigh DHIA Herd Summary, a portion of which has been reproduced in Table 1. If you do not designate a vwp, Raleigh will automatically use 60 days.

If you want to start breeding cows 60 days after calving, preparations must start 2-4 weeks or more prior to that time. This includes: recording heat dates, managing cows' flesh, prostaglandin shots, repro checks, etc.

If your vwp is 60 days, the best average days to first service you can hope to attain is about 70 days - about 10 days more than the vwp. The reason for this is some cows will come in heat on day 61 and some 21 days later, with the average time being about 10 days, that is, if every cow came in heat and you detected all of the heats.

Table 1 shows Lancaster County's average for the month of May. Average days to first service was 93. With a vwp of 59 days, that's 24 days greater than what they were aiming for (93 days to first service - vwp of 59 days - 10 days to come into heat = 24 days). In other words, they already missed one heat period, even before the first service! This could have been intentional for some cows and accidental for others.

If their goal is a 12.5 month calving interval, cows must be pregnant by 100 days after calving, but they won't be confirmed pregnant until pregnancy checked. That means we can only have an average of 1.5 repeats or missed heats after the vwp (100 days open - vwp of 59 days - 10 days to come into heat/21 days per heat cycle = 1.5 heat periods).

Table 1 SUMMARY OF CURRENT BREEDING HERD

TOTAL COWS IN BREEDING HERD		COWS WITH NO SERVICE DATES OR DIAG OPEN			DAYS OPEN AT LAST SERVICE				AVG. DAYS TO 1ST SERVICE
22		OPEN VWP TO 100 DAYS	OPEN OVER 100 DAYS	NUMBER DIAG OPEN	FEWER THAN VWP	VWP TO 100 DAYS	OPEN 100 TO 130 DAYS	OPEN OVER 130 DAYS
VOLUNTARY WAITING PERIOD (VWP)	NUMBER COWS	4	4		1	5	3	6
59	% OF BREEDING HERD	18	18		5	23	14	22	93

On the Penna. DHIA reports, the average days to first service appears at the bottom of the Reproduction Management Report.

Table 1 is a summary of the breeding herd only — the cows you are trying to get bred and confirmed pregnant. For the Lancaster herds, this was an average of 22 cows. In the table, the breeding herd is divided into two groups: 1.) those awaiting first service, which includes cows that were pregnancy checked and confirmed not pregnant, and 2.) cows that have been bred but not yet pregnancy checked.

Of the 22 cows in the breeding herd, 8 were awaiting first service after calving or after having been confirmed not pregnant. Four of these are still within the normal 59-100 day period for first services. The other half (4 cows) already passed the normal period, and are starting to stretch the calving interval beyond 12.5 months.

Of the 22 cow breeding herd, 15 were serviced but not yet pregnancy checked. One was bred early, before 59 day vwp. Five were last bred in the normal 59-100 day period. Three were last bred 100-130 days after calving, and six were open more than 130 days at time of last breeding. In other words, 9 of the 15 last services (60%) were beyond the desired time! At 130 days, they are already at a 13.5 month calving interval (130 days + 281 days pregnant/30.5 days per month = 13.5 months). If repeats and missed heats continue to lengthen the days to last breeding, calving interval will also continue to increase.

Some Management Thoughts

Let's come back to the question asked earlier, what calving interval should you strive for? A better question to ask is what should average days open be? Calving intervals indicate what has already happened, and you can't do anything to change it. Days open let you see trends as they develop, while you still have time to do something about them. They determine projected calving intervals.

If our goal is to have a projected calving interval of 12.5 months, our average Lancaster County DHIA herd is in trouble; their projected calving interval averages 13.5 months. Maybe your calving interval should be greater than 12.5 months, but be careful not to relax your calving interval so it matches your management level. Goals should challenge you, but they should also be reasonable.

One way to make your calving interval and days open look better is to cull your problem cows. They can get expensive especially if they are not worth much, or they are

State Holstein Association Updates Events Calendar

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The updated 1993 Pennsylvania Holstein Association Calendar of Events was recently announced by the state officials.

Included on the schedule are national, state, regional and local shows, meetings and sales, which are set to occur from June through October.

For specific information on a scheduled event, look for detailed announcements, or call the Holstein Association at (814) 234-0364.

The next scheduled event is the 7 p.m. twilight meeting for members in Union and Snyder counties. It is to be held at the Daniel Stoltzfus farm in Lewisburg.

On June 24, the Centre County Holstein Association is hold a barbeque and twilight meeting at Stringer's Sand-Ridge Farm in Bellefonte.

The National Holstein Convention is set to run for three days, starting June 27, in Rochester, N.Y., which offers a chance for local members to attend a national convention without the high travel price normally associated with the event.

A Western Junior Judging School is scheduled to be held in Crawford County on July 5 and July 6, though a specific meeting place is yet to be announced.

Not especially a Holstein function, but which is included because it is run by the same staff as oversees the Pa. Holstein Association, the state Purebred Dairy Cattle Association is scheduled to hold its judging conference in Lebanon County on July 7 and July 8.

July 9 and 10, the Eastern Junior Judging School is to be held at a yet-to-be announced location in Berks County.

July 11, at 1 p.m., is the summer picnic for the members of Columbia and Luzerne counties.

July 21, 9 a.m., the Jefferson County Holstein Show is to be held at the county fairgrounds in Brookville.

July 21, 10 a.m., the Lycoming County Holstein Show is to be held at the county fairgrounds in Hughesville.

July 22, 9:30 a.m., the Erie County Holstein Show, at the fairgrounds in Waterford.

July 22, at 10 a.m., the Northampton County Holstein Show, at the fairgrounds in Plainfield.

July 23, at 10 a.m., the Lancaster County Holstein Show, at the fairgrounds in Quarryville.

July 29, at 9 a.m., the Potter County Holstein Show, at the fairgrounds in Millport.

July 30, at 9 a.m., the Lebanon County Holstein Show, at the Lebanon Area Fairgrounds.

July 30, at 10 a.m., the York County Holstein Show, at the county fairgrounds.

July 31, at 10 a.m., the Southwest Pennsylvania Holstein Championship Show, at the Fayette County Fairgrounds in Uniontown.

August 3, at 9 a.m., the Fayette County Holstein Show at the county fairgrounds in Uniontown.

August 6, at 9 a.m., Morrison Cove Dairy Show, Memorial Park, Martinsburg.

August 6, at 10 a.m., Northwest Pennsylvania Holstein Championship Show, at the county fairgrounds in Franklin.

August 12, at 10 a.m., is the Chester County Holstein Association field day, at the Richard Hostetter farm in Parkesburg.

August 12, at 10 a.m., the Butler County Holstein Show, at the farm show grounds in Butler.

August 13, at 10 a.m., the Wayne County Holstein Show, at the county fairgrounds in Honesdale.

August 13, at 10:30 a.m., the Clinton County Holstein Show, at the county fairgrounds in Mackeyville.

August 13, at 8 p.m., the East-Central Classic Sale, at the fairgrounds in Hughesville.

August 14, at 9:30 a.m., South-Central Pennsylvania Holstein Championship Show, at the fairgrounds in Shippensburg.

August 14, at 9 a.m., the Tioga County Holstein Show, at the fairgrounds in Whitneyville.

your better cows. A better goal is to correct the cause of the problem so you have fewer reproductive culls.

It is also expensive to hang onto non-breeders too long. How long is too long? That's difficult to answer because there are so many variables. A repeat breeder becomes expensive when: 1.) her production drops and she keeps a better, more profitable cow out of her stall, 2.) her health and breeding costs escalate, 3.) she remains dry too long, gets fat and runs the risk of having calving-related problems next lactation, 4.) she calves in the heat of the summer, or 5.) her calving time gets pushed out of the base-building period.

If you are trying to maintain a milk base, it may be wise to have cows calve throughout the year rather than having a seasonal herd. When one group of cows move out of the base-building period because of longer calving intervals, another group with similar calving intervals can slide into the base-building slot.

Center For Rural America Announces Grant Recipients

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Center for Rural Pennsylvania Board of Directors recently announced its grant recipients for research projects beginning this summer.

Out of 55 applications for support funding, the board approved requests for 12 projects.

Rep. David Wright, D-Armstrong County, who is chairman of the CRP Board of Directors, said, "These projects focus on critical issues in our rural areas; planning, economic development, environment, health care, mental health needs, agriculture, and education. All involve intense collaboration between rural leaders and the academic community to get a firm grip on rural problems and to develop practical solutions that solve problems now."

The grant awards total $344,406. The specific funding for each project was not provided by the center.

In addition, $71,900 was awarded to support ongoing Center-sponsored model projects, including: the Bloomsburg University Technical Assistance Center, Dr. Stephen Kokoska; a Rural School Partnership Project, Lock Haven University of Pennsylvania, Dr. Betty Schantz; and Entrepreneurial and Microenterprise Development in Rural Pennsylvania: The Grameen Bank, Bloomsburg University, Dr. Pamela Wynn.

Jeffrey Soule, director of the CRP, said, "This year's grants were extremely competitive and the selection process was very tough. The Center will continue to strive to assure that only those projects which best support the needs of rural Pennsylvanians are selected for funding."

Projects funded this year include:

•Greater Pittsburgh Community Food Bank Farm Stands, Dr. Michale Drohan, with Penn State University McKeesport Campus. It is to be a three-year model project to stimulate both rural and urban economies by having Pennsylvania farmers produce crops for sale in urban farmers' markets by low-income entrepreneurs. It is designed to increase agricultural production and improve both the diet and entrepreneurial skills of urban residents.

•Demonstration Project for a Cooperative Oil and Gas Extension Program, Dr. Donald Evans and Dr. Raja Ramani, Penn State University. A three-year model project will create a pilot oil and gas extension program in Clarion and Venango counties which will assist oil and gas producers to increase their efficiency and help them meet regulatory requirements. This effort is a partnership between the Pennsylvania State University and Clarion University.

•Government Policy and Land Use Change Along State Highways, Dr. Jack Ford, Shippensburg University. This one-year project will investigate PennDOT's policy of granting highway access to abutting property owners and the effect on municipal planning.

•Developing a Regional Vision — Hanover 2000, Kelleann Foster and Irving Hand, Penn State University. Hanover has a tremendous potential to become a model on how citizens can direct their own destiny and plan what they want their community to become. The project directors are to assist local residents in analyzing their community, developing a holistic vision for the future, and identifying a strategic plan to achieve their goals through local empowerment.

•Room for Women in the Country: An Adult Educational Program for Rural Pennsylvania, Dr. Lynn Goodstein, Penn State University. The university, with the support of the Pennsylvania Humanities Council, is to present a series of lectures in rural communities which address the concerns and roles of women in society, in general, with an emphasis on the challenges facing rural women.

•Medium- and Small-Scale Methane Digesters for Livestock Manure Disposal in Lancaster County, Dr. Robert Graves, Penn State University. The project is jointly funded by the center and the U.S. Department of Agriculture to improve manure disposal methods. It will investigate an alternative method of disposal that relies on anaerobic digestion by methanobacteria developed in the People's Republic of China. Participants will travel to China to observe the technology and then replicate it on several pilot farms in Lancaster County.

•Policy Assessment for Sustaining Agriculture in Pennsylvania, Dr. Cathy Hamlett, Penn State University. This project is designed to increase awareness of existing barriers and incentives for sustaining agriculture in Pennsylvania. SANRUE, the Penn State/Rodale Institute Center for Sustaining Agriculture in Urbanizing Environments, will use Center and Kellogg Foundation funding to examine regulatory issues, and develop recommendations for policy initiatives to sustain the viability of agriculture in Pennsylvania.

•Development of a Statewide Federally Funded Area Health Education Centers (AHEC) Program, Dr. James Herman, Penn State University College of Medicine. Center funds are to support the preparation of an AHEC proposal which is a community based collaborative venture that brings medical, nursing, and health education to local communities, support the recruitment of minority primary health care providers to underserved areas, and provides practice support initiatives to local providers. The project will prepare a proposal for a pilot AHEC in Erie which will receive $1 million to $2 million in federal funds for six to nine years, if approved. Eventually, a series of AHECs could spread across the commonwealth. The project is supported by a large number of collaborators throughout the state.

•Agricultural Zoning: A Key Element in Effective Agricultural Protection Programs for Municipalities, Dr. Stanford Lembeck, Penn State University. The project is to examine the elements of effective local programs for protecting agriculture in Pennsylvania. It will focus on disseminanting information on successful agricultural zoning programs to other localities and propose recommendations to the General Assembly to improve current agricultural preservation policies.

Jr. Judging Schools June 26 Deadline

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The 1993 Pennsylvania Junior Judging Schools are fast approaching. All Juniors, regardless of breed orientation are invited to attend one of the schools.

4-H and FFA members are also encouraged to attend the school closest to their home.

Each school starts at noon and will run till 12:30 p.m. the following day.

Each school will feature at least 11 classes to judge, each person will have an opportunity to work one on one with an experienced judge on giving reasons. There will be ample opportunity to discuss classes and learn many of the basics of cattle judging.

There will also be time to visit, enjoy volleyball, softball and swimming and meet with other dairy enthusiasts from around the state.

The dates and locations for the schools are as follows:

Western School
July 5 & 6, 1993 - 12:00 noon start
Host: Crawford County Holstein Club
Official: Steve Shaw, Williamsburg PA

Host Farms: Spruce Row Jersey's - Jeff & Janet Peters

Meeting To Discuss Reassessment

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — A special meeting for all farmers has been called for June 22 at 7:30 p.m. at the Farm and Home Center to discuss the upcoming Lancaster County property reassessment and how it will affect you. All farmers are urged to attend.

Speaking at the meeting will be Robert Handler, from the firm Automated Valuation Services, which is handling the reassessment in Lancaster County. Also attending will be Leo C. Grasser, director of assessments, Lancaster County Tax Assessment Office.

Lancaster County Commissioners are also expected to be present. Act 319, Clean and Green, will also be discussed. There will be a question-and-answer period.

The meeting is sponsored by the Lancaster County Farmers Association.

For more information, contact Jane Balmer, president, Lancaster County Farmers Association, (717) 653-5916 or Kendy Allen, information director, (717) 665-7144.

USDA Official To Hold Town Meeting

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Cheryl L. Cook, Pennsylvania state director of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Farmers Home Administration, announced that she would be in Berks County on June 23 for an informal "town meeting."

"The idea is to give the people, particularly those who are FmHA Farm or Housing borrowers, a chance to have some say in the future direction of the agency," Cook said. "We are looking for ways to continue our commitment to public service with a shrinking federal budget, and public input is critical to our success."

Cook explained that this will be the first of several such opportunities for public input into USDA programs to be held in Pennsylvania this summer.

The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. at the Berks County Ag Center in Leesport. While written ideas of any length will be welcome to allow maximum participation, individuals wishing to speak will be asked to keep their remarks under 10 minutes.

Unheralded Workers Behind Dairy Promotion

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — "Dairy promotion persons are the unheralded workers behind the scenes working hard at dairy promotion. I don't think people realize the hours the committee spends on a thankless job," said Glenn Shirk, Lancaster Extension dairy agent and advisor to the county dairy promotion committee.

Thankless job?

Depends on how you look at it.

If the committee expects financial payment or verbal affirmation for hours of manning the milk wagon at sales and festivals, handing out samples of dairy products and recipes, setting up school promotions, and planning novel ways to introduce consumers to the benefits of using dairy products, then, yes, dairy promotion is a thankless job.

But, ask any of the 11 members of the Lancaster Dairy Promotion Committee, and they will tell you, the work has its own rewards.

The comradeship that develops between those with the common bond of promoting their livelihood cannot be underestimated.

"I believe that dairy promotion should be the job of every person who produces milk and not just a few. If every one gives a little time for promotion than no individual is overwhelmed by the job," said Jan Harting, who is director over all the county committees in Pennsylvania.

The Lancaster County committee confirms Harting's statement. Donna Kreider, chairperson and member for 10 years, said that although she is primarily responsible for legislating the work of the dairy princess, it is not overwhelming because other members of the committee pitch in and help.

Kreider and her husband, Robert, farm more than 200 acres in Quarryville, south of Buck. They milk 120 milk cows and have two adult children.

People most often acquaint dairy promotion with the dairy princess, whose role appears a bit glamorous with crown and dressy finery. But, if it weren't for the dairy promotion committees in each county, the dairy princess's role would soon fizzle out.

These are the people who educate and train young women to promote dairy products. They set up appointments for the her to talk with students, they solicit ag businesses for products, oversee bookkeeping, and schedule store promotions.

They often provide transportion to promotional events, they search for new candidates for princesses, and for alternates and Dairy Darlings (young girls who assist the princess in dairy promotion).

Committee members plan informal get-togethers for potential candidates to meet and outline the reponsibilities and duties of the dairy princess.

The booking chairperson attends the dairy princess three-day dairy princess training seminar held annually.

Committee persons sychronize schedules to utilize dairy princess, alternates and Little Darlings in milk promotion.

They order promotional materials, cow costumes, crowns, banners, videos and recipe cookbooks, posters, and handouts. All of which must be ordered three months in advance of planned promotions.

Promotion requires funding. It is the committee's responsibility to find it.

Most of the money is raised through setting up a milk wagon at sales and festivals. Matching funds are provided by the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program through the 15 cents per hundredweight of milk produced and sold. Ten cents of 15 cents are eligible to come back to the county for promotion otherwise all the money remains at the national level.

Jim Barnett, treasurer of the committee, said that about $5,000 to $6,000 is spent on county promotion every year.

Although the milk wagon is a dependable fundraiser. It requires much behind-the-scenes hard work by committee members and insurance for it costs $500 annually.

Products sold include milk shakes, ice cream, nacho and cheese, string cheese, and ice cream sandwiches.

Supplies must be ordered in advance. It is a challenge to plan how much ice cream is needed. Recently it rained both days at a scheduled event, which resulted in slim attendance and lots of leftovers to store for the next event.

Transportation for the milk wagon is the responsibility of Ruth Bushong and her husband Glenn. The milk wagon is set up and leveled similar to setting up a camping trailer. If electric hook up in not available at the promotion site, generators must be used.

The Bushongs farm 200 acres and milk 90 to 100 cows on their Columbia farm. Ruth became a committee member when her daughter was county dairy princess in 1987.

"I felt this was something that I could do. I had been really involved in helping my daughter as dairy princess and enjoyed the meetings and helping people so I stayed on the committee," she said.

Previously the milk wagon was available for organizations to rent, but the committee ran into problems with hauling and clean up so now it is limited to the committee's use.

Popularity has increased, with more bookings for the milk wagon this summer than ever before.

In the 10 years that Donna Kreider has been on the committee, she said that it has had about the same number of people involved. Some things have changed. In those beginning years, the committee only planned the pageant and then all the responsibilites for the dairy princess fell on the chairperson. Now monthly meetings are held and many promotions are organized throughout the year.

Incentive awards are given to county dairy princesses for the number of events she attends to promote dairy products. These vary, depending on the dairy princess's schedule. She has the option of deciding how many or how few promotions she will do, but her goals are established at the beginning of her reign.Although the dairy princess sets up some of the promotions, the committee must constantly plan how to best meet the goals the dairy princess has established.

June is an especially busy time for the committee. Because it is Dairy Month, the committee provides a basket of dairy-related items in recognition of the June dairy baby, the first baby born on June 1 in the county. Included in the basket are a stuffed cow, a little bib decorated with cows, mugs, chocolate mix, milk, chocolate milk, cottage cheese, cream, sour cream, velveeta cheese, string cheese, and a variety of other cheeses, and yogurt. Also, included are coupons for ice cream.

"I love milk" T-shirts are delived to five county hospitals for babies born during the month of June.

Carole Binkley, who is a five-year member of the committee, orders the T-shirts and contacts the hospital to set up these activities. She also buys the items for the June Dairy Baby.

She said that she finds the hospitals nice to work with and the recipients grateful.

Carole did not grow up on a dairy farm. She and her husband started dairying about five years after marriage. "It's a small family operation," she said. They milk 35-40 Holsteins and rent about 250 acres on which they grow corn, soybeans, and alfalfa. She and her husband, Glenn, have three children, 19, 16, and 9-years old.

Carole is secretary for the committee and expects to continue this duty as long as no one else volunteers.

Carole finds her work with the committee rewarding. She believes their work helps the public become aware of the dairy industry. She often works four- to five-hour shifts at the milk wagon and finds it most enjoyable to serve ice cream and watch the public as they eat it.

One of the new events for the committee this year was to print 40,000 placemats and distribute them for use in local restaurants during June Dairy Month. Ruth Akers was in charge of the placemats.

She and her husband Curtis farm 159 acres in Solanco and milk 60 cows. As a 10-year-member, Akers believes dairy families should all pitch in and do whatever needs to be done.

"For the amount of dairy farmers in the county, we have poor representation," she said.

Her sentiments were echoed by fellow members who said that the most frustrating thing about serving on dairy promotion is involving other farm families.

"Maybe we don't ask the right persons. But involvement is open to everyone. Whoever would like to help with the milk wagon or other dairy promotion should call Donna Kreider at (717) 284-4776 or one of the other committee members.

The committee's newest recruit is Renee Breneman who attended a committee meeting for the first time this month. She has helped with the milk wagon and plans to become an active member. She, her husband James and two children live in Lancaster. James is in a farming partnership with his two brothers.

New members often become part of the committee when a new dairy princess is crowned. She and her mother are urged to attend the meetings to help plan promotions for the princess.

Lancaster County Dairy Princess Jill Harnish and her mother Arlene became involved this year.

Former dairy princess Robyn Groff and her mother Esther joined last year and plan a long association with the committee.

During her reign, Robyn had no alternates to help her with promotional activities yet she attained the top level of promotions for the county during her reign. Instead of burn-out from overwork, Robyn became an enthusiastic promoter.

Her parents, Esther and Robert farm a small 50-acre tenant farm in Lancaster. The Groffs also have three sons.

"I'm happy to pass the word along about the benefits of dairy products," Esther said. "I like store promotions, especially the Shopper Stopper. That is when the committee designates a certain aisle at a grocery store where the dairy princess introduces herself to customers and pays for the dairy products the customer has placed in the cart.

"When I tell them to put their dairy products on the check out counter, they put margarine up," Esther said.

She is thrilled to educate the shopper that margarine is not a dairy product.

Esther is not on the committee because she has nothing else to do.

Bradford County Crowns Princess

CANTON (Bradford Co.) — Amy VanBlarcom was crowned Bradford County Dairy Princess after a day-long festival that included a parade and a milking cow contest.

Amy, the 16-year-old daughter of James and Darlene VanBlarcom of Columbia Cross Roads, helps on the family's 320-acre farm with 80 milking cows. She attends Troy Area High School where she will be the student music director for the school musical in the fall. Other activities include initiating the Teen Conservation Group in Bradford County, Troy Hospital volunteer, church choir, high school tract, band, majorette, student faculty senate, forensics team where she won best speaker in tournament of 13 schools.

She studied piano for 10 years, takes art lessons, models, reads, runs, helps on the farm and plays guitar.

She plans to study medicine at Cornell or Shippensburg University.

First Alternate Kirsten MacBride and Second Alternate Angel Butcher will assist in dairy promotional activities throughout the year.

First alternate Kirsten is also 16 years old and attends Troy Senior High School. The daughter of Robert and Deborah MacBride, she helps on the family's 242-acre farm with 81 milking cows. She owns 11 dairy animals.

Bradford County Dairy Princess Amy VanBlarcom, center, with First Alternate, Kirsten MacBride, right, and Second Alternate Angel Butcher.

Second Alternate Angel is the daughter of Gary and Esther Butcher of Granville Summit. She is also 16 and attends Troy Area High School. She helps on the family's 540-acre farm where they milk 55 Holsteins and raise corn and hay.

Eight dairy maids were also appointed: Kimberly Davis, Julie Chaffee, Jenni Howland, Robin Kay Wilson, Greta Braund, Carrie Greene, Melissa Walrath, and Stacey Mattocks.

Judges were Charles A. Ruslavage, retired professor from Clarion University; Otis Young, retired dairy farmer; and Michelle Corman, Sire Power consultant.

Senator Roger Madigan was the master of ceremonies for the pageant. Entertainment was by Stained Glass.

She works in a nursing home, is a Tupperware dealer, and works on the farm.

Neither do Jim Barnett or other committee members have spare-time. Like most organizations, they find that busy people are more inclined to donate their time.

In addition to being treasurer of the organization, Barnett is the designated buyer for promotional activities. He works for Atlantic Dairy Cooperative in charge of member relations. That means he has a daily drive to his Southampton office of 1¼ hours each way. Barnett and his wife, Susan, have three children. He has been on the committee since 1977, when someone invited him to a meeting. At that time, the committee needed a treasurer and Barnett has been responsible ever since.

While the committee works hard at dairy promotion, they are concerned that fellow dairy farmers realize the importance of promotion.

In August, farmers will vote on whether or not to continue the 15-cent check-off program. If the referendum does not past, funding will be totally cutoff from counties.

Not only is the check-off significant for promotion but also for research. According to Harding, some of the most notable recent research shows that drinking milk enables diabetics to have better control of blood sugar levels, and that one can improve bone health without increasing body fat when exercise. The National organization has enabled the dairy industry to rebut far-out claims by fringe organizations condemning milk usage.

The committee is responsible to plan the county dairy princess pageant, which will be held tonight at 6:30 p.m. Some of the duties required for a successful pageant include contacting prospective contestants, ordering flowers and gifts for contestants, reserving judges, supplying decorations, having programs printed and proving refreshments for a dairy bar after the event. Attendance is free and will be held at the Lancaster Farm and Home Center.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

Bruised. Black-n-blue. Battered. Bashed.

Abuse is a daily fact of life here on the farm. The abuse inflicted — though real and sometimes painful — is not a criminal nature. It's professional abuse. Cow abuse — or rather, our abuse at the hands, er, feet, tails, heads, horn stubs, etc. of our bovine friends.

A scab healing on my left kneecap marks a recent abuse incident, inflicted by Pokey. Pokey is a young cow, nearing the end of her first lactation of milking. When she calved for the first time many months ago, Pokey was not thrilled about the milking process, accepting it as an inconvenience in exchange for the tons of feed she stows away. Some days, Pokey danced around. Other times, she lifted her right foot and impolitely removed the source of distraction that took her attention from gobbling down feed.

As do most young first-time milking heifers, Pokey settled into the routine. She now lives up to her name, dawdling around the dairy barn before entering her stall and lounging around when it's time to be milked. She is relatively cooperative about the whole process, except for her habit of inching her back end over to hog up stall space from her neighbor and mess it up.

While inching around a few evenings ago, Pokey managed to jiggle the milkers loose before she was finished being milked out. When I moved to reattach them, Pokey — lightning fast with an unexpected mule-like rear kick — nailed my kneecap. I limped away, victimized once again by cow abuse.

Pam, our afternoon co-milker, regularly suffers a different sort of abuse from our Ango cow. Ango is a lover, an affectionate, friendly, puppy-dog kind of cow.

She chews on milkers. Human milkers, that is.

Ango has a stretch tongue, one which can reach your hair, your hat, your elbow, your face, and constantly tries to lick your head while you wash and prep her for milking. If a hat's not handy to grab, well, there's always hair. Pam's long, dark hair is a perfect target for Ango's over-eager affections.

While there's no proof, we have long suspected that the herd milking veterans, on occasion while looking to be innocently lounging around the meadow, are actually holding anti-social behavioural pattern seminars for the first-calf heifers.

One technique they surely teach is head bashing.

Head bashing, on the surface, is a display that masquerades as affection and friendliness but with macho overtones. It takes place when the cows are being tied into the stalls. Such regular, everyday handling helps keep cows tame; it also offers them golden head-bashing opportunities.

Just as you fasten her neck string to the fastening hook, a headbasher swings her big, bone-hard-head against your arm and elbow with a solid whack. Most successful are those girls that have a small section of horn which for whatever reason was not completely removed in her calfhood days. A horn stub is a bruise-inflicting weapon. A full horn, complete with point, is downright dangerous.

Even more fun for cows, it seems, is the "sandwich maneuver."

The sandwich maneuver is a team effort, in which the human interacting with the cows is put in the position of a piece of bologna wedged between two hunks of roll — or at least two big hunks of cow hindquarter.

Cows — usually two of the biggest in the herd — turn in opposite direction simultaneously, catching the human in the middle between two heavy butt ends. Result ranges anywhere from the human expelling a breathless "Oooofff!" sound to limping off with bruised ribs. (The person, not the cows.)

Short of passing a law (no, no, not more laws! against cow abuse, victims of this professional hazard have little recourse, save being on constant alert to prevent occurrence.

Suits of armor for milking are just too awkward.

Besides, they'd soon rust with the "showers" those girls occasionally rain on us.

ADC Meets Farmers' Needs

More Than $129 Million in Extra Payments

Robert B. McSparran
President

"At Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, our mission is to maximize returns to members. In the past six years, we returned more than $129 million to members in equity payments, over-order premiums and quality bonuses. That's an average of $36,600 per member. And these extra dollars are continuing at the rate of $1.7 million a month.

"When non-members ask me why they should belong to Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, I am happy to report that we are financially healthy, strong in membership and growing in sales. ADC is the region's largest and most fiscally-sound cooperative, with a guaranteed market and outstanding benefits.

"More dairy farmers joined us last year than at any time in the past decade. If you are not an ADC shipper and are worried about your own milk market, then you should talk to the cooperative that is facing the future with confidence."

Dairy Recipes Certain To Be Tops In Your Family

Entries for the Dairy Recipe Drawing came from readers from as far away as California, Illinois, Texas, Maine, Vermont, and Florida.

Of course, the largest majority are from Pennsylvania with a substantial number from bordering states. Regardless of where the letters originated, we were delighted to hear from so many readers. I haven't had the time to count them, but from the size of the stacks of entries, this appears to be the largest number of contestants ever.

This is the third week that recipes from the entries appear. Next week, the remaining recipes will be published. It is also the week that Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Crystal Schweighoffer will draw the winning entries. The names and prizes will appear in the June 26 issue.

I wish that every one of you could be sent a prize, but that would break the budget. I am confident that several of these recipes will become cherished family favorites that will pass down through the generations. Someone, somewhere is certain to choose your recipe. Thanks for making this recipe section a favorite with our readers.

SWEET POTATO CRUNCH

3 cups sweet potatoes
1 cup sugar
½ cup milk
2 eggs
¼ cup melted butter
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix together ingredients and place in a 2-quart casserole dish. Mix together the following:

1 cup brown sugar
1 cup chopped pecans
⅓ cup self-rising flour
¼ cup butter, melted

Sprinkle on top of sweet potatoes. Bake at 350 degrees for 35 minutes.

LEMON-BUTTERMILK PIE

1 cup buttermilk
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ cup butter
3 eggs
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ cup lemon juice and rind of one lemon
1 9-inch unbaked pie crust

Mix all ingredients together except unbaked crust. Pour into unbaked crust and bake in 450 degree oven for 10 minutes; reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake until firm in center (about 20-30 minutes).

My husband and I live on a farm. We have peach, pear, apricot, and cherry trees, which keep us busy when the fruit comes in.

We also raise all our vegetables and potatoes and I can freeze a lot of things.

In the fall, I take some of the canned fruits and vegetables to our local fairs. My husband also enters green vegetables and some fruits.

I also put baked goods there, which I enjoy doing.

We were married 50 years this past Dec. 24, 1992, and have had a good life together.

We have four children, six grandchildren, and two great grandchildren.

MORAVIAN SUGAR CAKE

1 envelope dry yeast
½ cup lukewarm water
1 cup milk
1 cup mashed potatoes
2 eggs
½ cup sugar
6 cups flour
⅔ cup shortening
2 teaspoons salt
2 cups brown sugar
1 cup flour
1 cup butter

Put dry yeast in bowl with warm water. Heat the milk to lukewarm. Stir yeast mixture. Add the milk, mashed potatoes, eggs, shortening, ½ cup sugar and salt. Mix with hands until well blended. Add flour, 3 cups at a time. Knead dough on a floured surface. Keep adding small amounts of flour to keep from sticking. Knead about 10 minutes. Put dough back in bowl; cover with cloth and let rise until double in size, about 2 hours. Punch it down, divide in half. Spread out on greased jelly roll trays until about ½ -inch high. Cover with cloth, let rise about 1 hour. Mix the brown sugar and 1 cup flour with your hands until all lumps are gone. Using 1 stick butter, make bullet holes in one cake. Spread half the sugar mixture over top, then sprinkle cinnamon over top. Do same to second tray when first is almost finished baking. Bake 15 minutes or until brown around edges at 375 degrees. The rack should be in the center of the oven. Can be frozen for later use.

KIWI FRUIT PIE

Crust:
½ cup sugar
½ cup confectioners' sugar
½ cup soft butter
½ cup vegetable oil
1 egg
2 cups plus 2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
½ teaspoon vanilla

Cream cheese filling:
8-ounces cream cheese
⅓ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Fruit layer: Kiwi, bananas, strawberries, pineapples, blueberries.

Mix together crust ingredients until blended. Bake at 350 degrees for 10 to 12 minutes until crust is golden brown. Cool.

Cream cheese filling: cream together cream cheese, sugar, and vanilla.

Top with fruit and refrigerate until serving.

John Hess and I are planning to get married on May 21, 1994. We both will have graduated from Penn State in agriculture and both have grown up on farms. My parents are J. Loren and Wanda Yoder in Belleville. And John's parents are John and Bonnie Hess of Gettysburg. We will be living in Gettysburg after the wedding. John will work on the family farm and I'm hoping to find a job in the Gettysburg area in agriculture.

CREAM CHEESE CAKE

3-ounces cream cheese
½ pound butter
5 egg yolks
2 cups sugar
1 cup milk
3 cups flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
5 egg whites

Cream together cream cheese, butter, egg yolks, and sugar. Add milk, flour, vanilla, and blend well. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into batter. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour in a large tube pan. Check and bake longer if needed.

RASPBERRY ICE CREAM

1½ cup of raspberries
¾ cup of sugar
2 cups of whipped cream

Force berries through a sieve, add sugar, and cook until berry mixture thickens, stirring frequently. Cool. Fold in whipped cream. Freeze.

We live on a farm and milk cows. We also have calves, heifers, and chickens, and some naughty cats.

Featured Recipe

Summer is here again and along with it comes America's favorite dessert; ice cream. Americans consume almost twenty-three quarts per person each year. Ice Cream creations like cakes, candies, and pies, are easy to make. They can even be made days in advance and stored in the freezer, ready to be served at anytime of the day.

All you need to make a delicious ice cream creation is your favorite ice cream flavor and some imagination, but here are some ideas. Use a prepared pastry shell or graham cracker crust for a quick pie; crumbled cookies or fruit preserves for a flavorful topping or filling; and finish your creation with REAL whipped cream.

So this summer let your family's imagination run wild and create your own ice cream sensations. Here is one from Melissa Spory, Somerset County Dairy Princess.

CREAMY CHOCO—CHERRY ICE CREAM PIE

Yields one (1) 9-inch pie

Crust:
1 ¼ cups chocolate cookie crumbs
¼ cup (½ stick) butter, melted

Filling:
1 paqckage (8 ounces) cream cheese, softened
½ cup sugar
¼ cup unsweetened cocoa
½ teaspoon almond extract
1 cup whipping cream, whipped
1 quart New York Cherry ice cream, softened
¼ cup prepared fudge topping

For crust, combine all ingredients. Press onto bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie plate. Freeze 1 hour.

For filling, beat cream cheese and sugar in small mixer bowl until fluffy. Beat in cocoa and extract until well combined. Gently fold in whipped cream. Spoon into frozen pie crust. Freeze until firm, about 2 hours. Spade New York Cherry ice cream over chocolate cream layer. Freeze several hours or overnight. Remove pie from freezer and let stand at room temperature about 15 minutes before serving. Drizzle with fudge topping. Cut and serve immediately.

SOME "JARRING" NEWS FOR SUMMER PICNICS

Warm summer days mean picnics. Not to mention summer holidays with friends and family — the perfect days for picnics with all your favorite foods and recipes.

While planning your picnic, think about all those empty glass canning jars sitting on your pantry shelf. They are the perfect solution for packaging your favorite picnic foods! These handy jars can be used to transport beverages like lemonade as well as those important extras like olives, dressings, nuts and condiments.

When you use glass jars instead of plastic bags, you do not have to worry about the ice chest becoming a soggy mess. After the picnic, repacking leftovers will be a snap! (Be sure to throw away all leftovers which require refrigeration.)

You can also use the jars to create a slushy surprise which doubles as insulation for the ice chest until it is time to eat. Fill glass jars with favorite fruit drinks, making sure to leave room for expansion at the top. Place lids and screw bands on the jars and freeze them. Pack with the cold foods in your cooler. When you sit down to eat, the drinks will have defrosted enough to poke with a spoon, making a slushy beverage. Even plain ice water becomes a soothing treat.

For your celebration on the Fourth of July try this festive dessert. For each person, prepare a wide-mouthed jar filled one-third with strawberries, one-third with blueberries. Just before serving, top with a dollop of whipped cream.

Add a special touch to any outdoor evening get-together by using jars as candle holders. Partially fill the jars with sand, set a votive candle in the middle and you have a safe, wind-proof lantern.

So, when you see those empty glass canning jars sitting in your pantry — put them to good use for your next picnic or summer gathering.

FIRE UP YOUR GRILL AND COOK HEALTHY

Cooking on your grill can mean cooking healthy. It comes down to making some sensible food choices. Traditional summer fare, like hot dogs, hamburgers, potato chips and potato and macaroni salads should be saved for an occasional treat. But you can still fire up that grill and enjoy food alternatives lower in fat, calories and sodium.

Poultry and seafood offer a variety of delicious options when cooking on your grill. For chicken, the key lies in the marinade you use. Here are some marinades you might want to try:

A mixture of vegetable oil, lime juice and minced onion seasoned with tarragon and Tabasco make a marinade reminiscent of the Caribbean.

Teriyaki sauce, seasoned with a little brown sugar and mixed with a few drps of sesame oil, white vinegar and mustard give chicken a rangy taste.

A marinade for chicken legs, minced ginger root, ground cumin and Tabasco.

For seafood, the sheer variety of choices, including shellfish such as shrimp and scallops, and the different combination of herbs, are all you need to create an endless parade of tastes.

The teriyaki mixture I mentioned for poultry goes equally well on fish, especially tuna steaks and bluefish.

The flavor of salmon steaks can be enhanced with a sprinkling of thyme, sage, parsley and pepper before grilling. If you wish to serve it with a sauce, try yogurt with lots of minced cucumber folded in and seasoned with dill, grated onion and white pepper.

Rosemary, lavender leaves, crushed fennel and cumin seed are another good herb blend for seasoning fish. And do not forget, fresh chopped basil — there is nothing better during the summer months.

Some tasty vegetable side dishes can be prepared to accompany chicken or fish:

Grilled vegetables, cooked on skewers or wrapped in aluminum foil, require only a slight brush of oil and a strategically chosen herb or two. Low in calories, these vegetable side dishes provide taste, color and texture — plus vitamins, minerals and fiber. For raw vegetables such as carrot sticks, pepper rings, raw broccoli or cauliflower, try a dip made by adding a teaspoon of curry powder to one cup of low fat yogurt.

Grill healthy all summer long.

Cook's Question Corner

If you are looking for a recipe but can't find it, send your recipe request to Lou Ann Good, Cook's Question Corner, in care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address.

QUESTION — Mae Pugh would like a recipe for chicken rice soup like that served at Ponderosa.

QUESTION — Mrs. Kenneth Ulmer, Waymart, wants a recipe to can a mixture of mushrooms, onions, green peppers, and oil in pint jars.

QUESTION — Patricia Corkell, Henderson, Md., would like a recipe for pickled garlic.

QUESTION — Patricia Davis, Dillsburg, wants to know where to buy pasteurized egg whites.

QUESTION — Sherry Craner, Bridgeton, N.J., would like a recipe for chocolate pasta, made with wheat flour. It is used for a dessert topped with sauteed strawberries and white chocolate.

QUESTION — Lisa Kerrigan, Bath, would like a recipe for Kosher Dill pickles that taste like the Claussen pickles that are stored in the refrigerator.

QUESTION — Melanie Kozlowski, Kingsby, would like a recipe for mousse such as that served at Ponderosa.

QUESTION — Jeanette Babson, Ottsville, would like a recipe for salt pickles, which uses rock salt and grape leaves. The original recipe was made in a barrel and the pickles were very crisp and sour.

QUESTION — Jessie Mayall, Mansfield, would like a good recipe for a potato bun that has frosting drizzle on top. Jessie remembers when she was little, a friend's mother always had a big plate of these on the table.

QUESTION — Eleanor Hertzog, King of Prussia, would like a recipe for 7-grain bread using sesame seeds, caraway seeds, and it looks like rye bread.

QUESTION — Estella Fink, Allentown, would like a recipe for Apricot Crumb Pie.

QUESTION — Pauline Fox, Bangor, wants a recipe for Lobster Bisque such as that served at the Nittany Lion Inn at State College.

QUESTION — Elsie Austin, Columbus, would like some good coffee cake recipes.

QUESTION — Geraldine Long, Elkton, Md., would like recipes for cooking October beans. Also, how should they be planted and cared for.

QUESTION — Mrs. Norman Brown, Clementon, N.J., would like to know where to purchase dried mushrooms in bulk.

QUESTION — Helen Hess, Washington Boro, writes that a recipe for a fermented fruit sauce to top desserts had appeared in this column some months ago. She thought she clipped it but cannot find it. If any readers have the recipe to which she is referring, please send a copy.

QUESTION — Louise Graybeal, Renick, W.Va., would like a recipe for bread sticks such as those served by Pizza Hut.

QUESTION — Louise Graybeal, Renick, W.Va., would like to know if Red Seal Lye is still on the market and where she can find it.

QUESTION — Debra Shultz, Halifax, would like a recipe with main ingredients of tortellini or pasta, spinach, red cabbage, and Ranch Dressing. Is anyone familiar with this salad?

QUESTION — Marie George, Churchville, is looking for a recipe for peach or apple long cake. It is made with raised dough but rolled very thin.

QUESTION — Joan Powers, Townsend, Del., would like recipes for turkey sausage and for using ground turkey.

QUESTION — Bette Lawrence, Honesdale, would like a recipe for strawberry rhubarb custard pie that uses tapioca.

QUESTION — Bette Lawrence, Honesdale, would like a recipe for pineapple pie using cream cheese and sweetened condensed milk.

QUESTION — Marie George, Churchville, would like jam and jelly recipes using grape juice to replace all the sugar in the recipe.

CORRECTION — The rhubarb bread recipe that appeared in the June 5th issue, should have read 2½ cups flour, not 24 cups. My apology for this typographical error, which happens when I unintentionally do not completely depress the fraction code key on the computer.

ANSWER — R. Smith, Jonestown, heard about hunter green pumpkins, not squash or gourds, sold at a roadside market in Lancaster County and wanted to know where to buy the seeds. Thanks to Jane Heckman of Heckman Orchards, Effort. She wrote that pumpkins are hunter green before they turn orange. Many of her customers want these green pumpkins to make pumpkin soup and other recipes so some pumpkins are harvested before they turn orange.

She doesn't know what they sell in Lancaster, but she has never seen another type of green pumpkin.

ANSWER — Ruth Zimmerman, Lancaster, wanted a recipe for homemade mayonnaise that tastes like Real Hellman's and also one like Miracle Whip. Thanks to Mrs. Doris Horton, Randolph, N.Y., for sending both recipes.

Mayonnaise
Real Hellman's

4 egg yolks
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup olive oil
Juice of 2 lemons
½ teaspoon paprika
½ cup whipping cream
½ teaspoon dry mustard

Have bowl and fork COLD. Mix egg yolks and seasoning. Alternate drop by drop the strained lemon juice and oil. If oil and egg should curdle, add a little cream. Mix thoroughly. Add stiffly beaten cream with rotary beater.

Salad Dressing
Miracle Whip

4 egg yolks, well beaten
2 teaspoons vinegar
8 teaspoons olive oil
Salt, to taste
½ teaspoon paprika

Beat together all ingredients with a rotary beater, place in bottle or jar and shake well before using.

ANSWER — In response to Fay Leslie's of Woodstown, N.J. request for spoon bread, here is a recipe from Christiana Campbell's Tavern in Williamsburg, Va., which Judy Souders, Barnesville, submitted.

Spoon Bread

1½ cups water
2 cups milk
1½ cups cornmeal
1¼ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoon sugar
2 tablespoons butter
5 eggs
1 tablespoon baking powder

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease a large shallow baking dish. Combine the water and milk and heat to simmer. Add the cornmeal, salt, sugar, and butter and stir over medium heat until the mixture is thickened, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat.

Beat the eggs with the baking powder until they are light and fluffy; add to cornmeal mixture. Mix well. Pour into the prepared dish and bake at 350 degrees for 45 to 50 minutes. Serve hot.

ANSWER — Sarah Burkholder, Denver, wanted a recipe for a coal garden made with ammonia and Merthiolate, which grows in crystal-like forms. Thanks to Judy Stayman, Chambersburg, for sending the recipe her family uses.

Chemical Garden

6 tablespoons water
6 tablespoons salt
6 tablespoons liquid laundry bluing
1 tablespoon ammonia

Mix together all ingredients. Place pieces of coal or stones in a glass bowl or pie pan. Pour solution over coal. To obtain colored growth, food coloring can be added. Grows best where warm and dry. To keep it growing, carefully add more liquid at the side.

ANSWER — Cissy McKeon, Birdsboro, wanted a recipe for hand-dipped chocolate-covered strawberries such as those sold at Kaufman's in Pittsburgh. Cissy writes that it appears as if a layer of cream is between the strawberry and the chocolate. Thanks to an anonymous reader for sending variations of the recipe.

Creamy Chocolate Dipped Strawberries

1 cup Hershey's semi-sweet chocolate chips
½ cup vanilla milk chips
1 tablespoon shortening
2 pints fresh strawberries

Rinse strawberries and pat dry with paper towels. Cover tray with wax paper. In medium microwave-safe bowl, place chocolate chips, vanilla milk chips, and shortening — do not substitute butter, margarine or oil. Microwave on high for 1 minute; stir. If necessary, microwave at high an additional 30 seconds or until chips are melted and mixture is smooth when stirred vigorously. Holding by top, dip bottom two-thirds of each strawberry into melted mixture, gently shake to remove excess. Place on prepared tray, cover, and refrigerate until coating is firm, about 1 hour. For best results, use within 24 hours. Refrigerate leftovers. Makes about 3 dozen.

Strawberry Vanilla Filling

In medium microwave-safe bowl, place 1⅔ cups vanilla milk chips and ¼ cup evaporated milk.

Microwave at high for 1 to 1½ minutes or until chips are melted and mixture is smooth when stirred vigorously. Beat in 8 ounces softened cream cheese, 1 teaspoon strawberry extract, and 2 drops red food coloring.

Dip berries in this cream mixture; put in refrigerator a few minutes to cool then dip in chocolate chip mixture and refrigerate again.

STRAWBERRY CREAM PUFFS

1 cup water
½ cup butter
1 teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup all-purpose flour
4 eggs
Confectioners' sugar
Additional sliced strawberries
Mint leaves

Cream filling:
2 pints fresh strawberries
½ cup sugar, divided
2 cups whipping cream

In a large saucepan, bring water, butter, sugar, and salt to a a boil. Add flour all at once and stir until a smooth ball forms. Remove from heat and beat in eggs, one at a time. Continue beating until mixture is smooth and shiny. Drop by tablespoonful 2-inches apart on a large ungreased cookie sheet (make 10s). Bake at 400 degrees for about 35 minutes or until golden brown. Cool on a wire rack. For filling, combine berries and ¼ cup sugar. Chill 30 minutes. Beat cream and remaining sugar until stiff. Just before serving, cut tops off puffs. Combine berries and cream mixture. Fill cream puffs and replace tops. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar and garnish with additional berries and mint leaves. Yields: 10 cream puffs.

I live and work on a dairy farm. We milk around 80 Holsteins (Plenty-Good Holsteins). My husband, Bob, and I had a baby girl, Royell, on March 9. Royell stays in the stroller and helps us milk.

We are farming about 400 plus acres. We raise alfalfa, corn, barley, oats, and Sudeex.

LIME SALAD

6-ounces lime Jell-O
2 cups boiling water
1½ cups cold water or pear juice
1½ cups pears, cut in bite-sized pieces

Dissolve Jell-O in hot water. Add cold water and pears. Pour into ring salad mold and let set.

Filling:
1½ cups mini-marshmallows
1 cup sour cream
½ cup salad dressing

Mix filling ingredients well and put in center of Jell-O ring on plate.

Very good and easy to make. My family loves this recipe.

Graduate Students Receive Fellowships

NORCROSS, Ga. — Five outstanding graduate students have been announced as the 1993 winners of the "J. Fielding Reed PPI Fellowships" by the Potash & Phosphate Institute (PPI).

Grants of $2,000 each are presented to the individuals. All are candidates for either the master's or doctorate degree in soil fertility and related sciences.

The 1993 recipients were chosen from nearly 40 applicants who sought the fellowships.

• Thomas W. Bruulsema was born in Hamilton, Ontario, Canada. He received his bachelor's in agriculture, honours program, with distinction, University of Guelph. He also holds a master's from that institution and is presently working toward a doctorate at Cornell University. The objective of his doctoral research is to gain a better understanding of nutrient cycling within the soil-crop system. He will make use of field data, with wheat and corn as test crops, to develop comprehensive, dynamic computer models to better define the relationships between soil nitrogen forms and transformation processes occurring in the soil-crop system. He hopes to use field data and computer models to develop a quantitative soil test for nitrogen, as well as improve tests for nutrients such as phosphorus.

• Kevin L. Harner was born in Bedford, Ind. He received his bachelor's at Purdue University in 1991 and is presently in a master's program, also at Purdue. He was chosen as the outstanding senior in agronomy, was the recipient of the Continental Grain scholarship, among others, and was a Distinguished Student seven of his eight undergraduate semesters. His thesis title is "Presidedress Soil Nitrate Test as Basis for Nitrogen Recommendations on Corn in Indiana." The main objectives of his research are to develop correlation and calibration data for the test, based on climatic conditions, soil types and management practices common to Indiana. Making use of soil and tissue sampling and a chlorophyll meter, Kevin hopes to develop recommendations based on a broad data base. After completing his master's degree, he plans a career in field crop research or agronomic services in the seed or fertilizer industry.

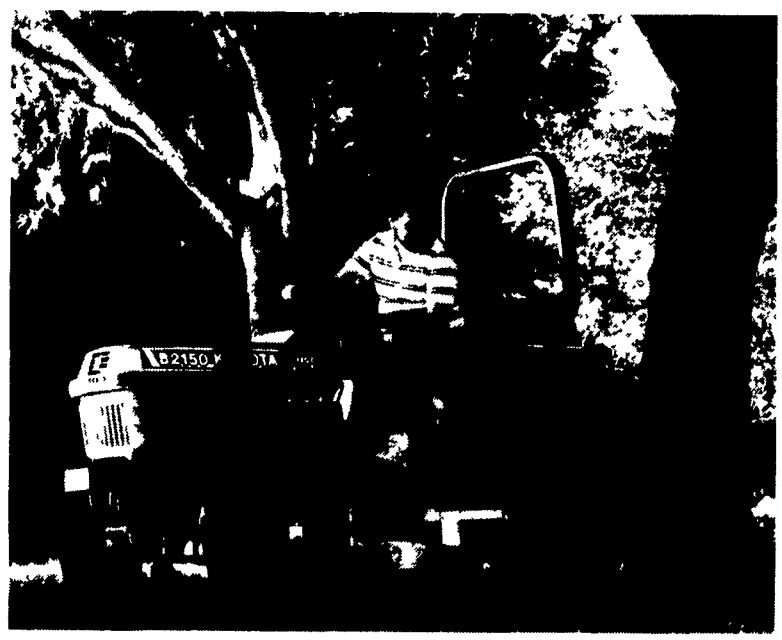
• David F. Hughes is a native of Richmond, Va. He earned bachelor's and master's degrees from Brigham Young University (BYU) where he served as President of the Agronomy Club. Among his honors at BYU was the selection of his research for the outstanding M.S. thesis award by the BYU Sigma-Xi Scientific Research Society. He is in the first year of his doctorate program at the University of Missouri. His dissertation research will be conducted as a part of the Missouri Management Systems Evaluation Area (MSEA) water quality project. His work will focus on the assessment of the impacts of conventional and alternative systems Missouri on grain production, nitrogen use efficiency and nitrogen losses over claypan landscapes. Following his graduate study, David would like to serve as an ASA-CSSA-SSSA Congressional Fellow. He plans a career in soil fertility research and instruction, is interested in international work and, eventually, land grant university administration.

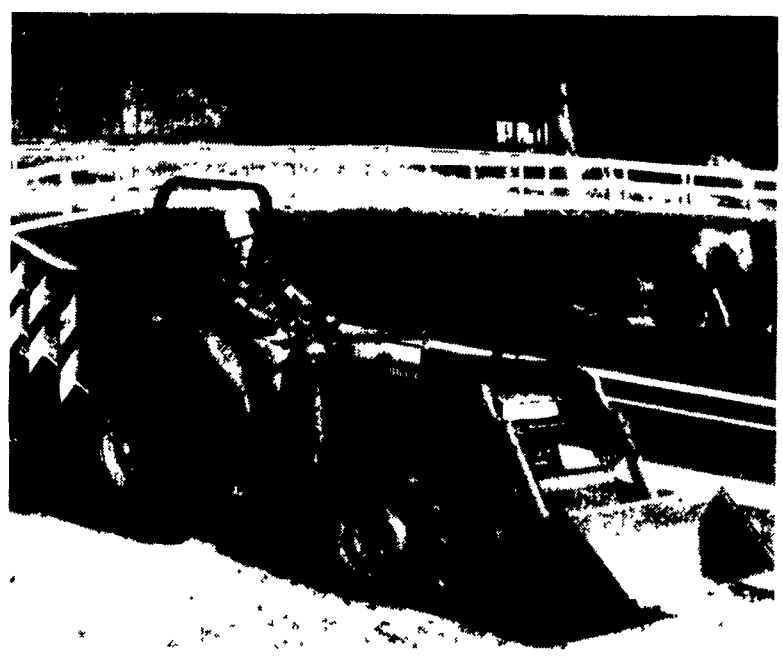
• Bryan A. Kliewer is working toward his master's at North Carolina State University. Born in Henderson, Neb., he received his bachelor's from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. He has won many honors, including the Westinghouse Talent Search award, being one of only 40 students in the U.S. selected who were 'best fitted for promising careers in science.' The title of his thesis is "Response of Soil Denitrification Rates to Water Table Management." The objective of his research is to quantify denitrification losses associated with water table management and to evaluate the time-course behavior of nitrous oxide emissions from poorly drained soils managed with water control structures. Bryan places strong emphasis on scholarship and, as a scholar, plans to pursue further graduate work, then a career in soil fertility and groundwater management and conservation.

• Karen Lowell completed her undergraduate study at Allegheny College in Meadville, Pa; she is in the second year of a master's program in agronomy at the University of Maryland. After her undergraduate studies, she served as a Peace Corps volunteer in Sierra Leone, West Africa. Her work there as an agriculture extension agent led to interests in soil fertility, and ways in which research and technology from developed nations can be of use in the developing world. Her thesis is titled "Use of Reduced S to Enhance Bioavailability of P in Phosphate Rock."

The fellowship winners are selected by a committee of PPI scientists. The fellowships are named in honor of Dr. J. Fielding Reed, retired president of the institute, who now lives in Athens, Ga.

A MACHINE FOR ALL SEASONS





No matter what the task or season, Kubota's mid-sized tractors have the versatility and implements to handle the job.

Like our B-50 Series tractors that come with liquid-cooled diesel engines, 2 or 4-wheel drive, quick-attach implements and a powerful 13 - 20 PTO HP. Optional Bi-Speed Turn allows for amazing precise turns in 4-wheel drive for lawn care in the spring and snow removal in the winter. HST transmission and power steering are available, too.

Our Kubota L-Series tractors provide the extra horsepower you need, boosting 20 - 49 PTO HP. Built with liquid-cooled Kubota diesel engines, these mid-sized tractors come in 2 or 4-wheel drive. These models come with lots of choices which include the new Ever-Clutch - a first-of-a-kind wet clutch that doubles clutch life and even comes with its own warranty and the Kubota exclusive Glide Shift Transmission, enabling you to "glide" through 8 forward and 8 reverse gears without clutching.

When you need a tractor that can handle any job in any season, look at a Kubota.

Kubota Tractor Corporation markets a full line of tractors through a nationwide network of over 1,000 dealers.

GAY N. BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

I know somebody important. Her name is Pamela Tokar Ickes. She is called a news director because she prepares news reports to read over a radio station.

She probably won't mind if I just call her Pam while I tell you about her. Usually, we would say Ms. or Mrs. Ickes, to show our respect.

Anyway Pam said to me, "I caught the radio bug." She meant that she didn't plan it. It was never her dream to work in radio.

About nine years ago Pam applied for the job that her friend had at the radio station. The friend was quitting. The station people said "yes" and Pam had to do a talk show each morning. It was a job that was interesting.

Later, Pam and her husband moved away. Pam had to quit her radio job. That was too bad, because you see by then she really liked being on the radio. She liked talking to the people about all kinds of subjects and now she missed doing it.

Soon they moved back to the area and Pam went right to the same radio station and asked for a job. She knew it was just what she wanted to do.

This time Pam had to play country music for the radio listeners and she had to do the Pittsburgh Pirate baseball games in the afternoons. Country music wasn't her favorite kind of music, she said.

She heard that the station news director needed a helper, so Pam asked if she could help him. It wasn't long until she became the news director. But she has a boss who is the program director of the station. His name is Jerry Lyons.

Maybe you know somebody whose day begins at 4 o'clock in the morning while it's pitch black outside. Farmers sometimes do that because they start milking the cows. That's when Pam gets up. She must be at the radio station before 5 o'clock in the morning.

She says, "I'm not a morning person." To make her life easier, she keeps her hair cut short so she doesn't have to fool around styling it each morning.

As soon as she leaves her house, Pam is busy. On her way to work she stops to buy some local newspapers. At the station she starts to call the people who keep track of emergencies, like the folks at 911, the police and fire departments. Their reports must be written quickly and expertly before Pam can read them over the air at news time.

Another job Pam does is to interview people over the telephone. She gets their comments about local issues and tells the listeners what they said.

If a weather emergency cancels classes at area schools Pam is even busier, taking the calls and reading the list over and over so every family with school kids can hear it.

Pam says that by 9 o'clock in the morning she has done seven newscasts over the air. She has written news script and taped news to be aired later in the day.

If you wanted to be a radio personality, Pam says you must work with other people like a team player. She said that she is a strong-willed person and that has helped her. When she disagreed with Mr. Lyons, her boss, about something Pam said she learned about "compromise."

Compromise means that if two or more persons don't agree about something, they talk about why they disagree. Then as they talk, soon they see how a solution can come by giving in a little bit to each other. Bingo! Before they know it, the problem is solved.

Pam says her work schedule is strict because, well, you can't be late on the radio. Every sound of each minute is important. Next time you listen to your radio, get a watch with a second hand and just pay attention to the time.

So when she writes and reads the news, she must fit it into a certain amount of minutes. She must remember that commercials will also be aired during newscasts.

That's why Pam calls her job stressful. You see she can't sit around relaxing on her job. She keeps moving.

But it's still a super job to be in radio. She meets fascinating and famous people and talks to them. For instance she has met Governor Casey from Pennsylvania. She has met and interviewed astronauts and Captain Stubby and many other famous visitors to her area.

Her favorite part of work is still her talk show. Now she does it only on Saturdays. Sometimes she invites guests. Other times she asks listeners to call in and talk about things they like or don't like.

Pam's radio station is WVSC. Those initials are known as "call letters."

Did you know that every radio station east of the Mississippi River has call letters starting with a "W?" All except KDKA in Pittsburgh, the first radio station in America. Pam says stations west of the Mississippi have call letters starting with "K." She doesn't know why.

Why don't you call your favorite radio station and ask them about their call letters. Find out what they mean. Maybe your group or school class could visit a radio station.

Pam didn't take special radio training. But if you think you would like to be an announcer, learn now to use correct grammar. Speak clearly and don't use slang words when you speak to other people. Lots of announcers go to a broadcasting school.

Pamela Tokar Ickes is giving a newscast at Radio Station WVSC in Somerset, Pa.

On the day following the election, Pamela Tokar Ickes was very busy calling people about the winners. She had to give the voting results during her radio newscasts.

KIDS, NOW THAT YOU HAVE READ ALL ABOUT PAMELA TOKAR ICKES HERE IS A LITTLE QUIZ ABOUT HER TO TEST YOUR MEMORY

Theresa Inhof Wears Chester County Dairy Princess Crown

NOTTINGHAM (Chester Co.) — The fact that Chester County ranks fourth in milk production in the state of Pennsylvania means that newly crowned Dairy Princess Theresa Inhof and the three new Dairy Maids have a very important assignment to represent the county dairy farmers and promote milk products to the consumers.

Theresa Inhof is the sixteen-year-old daughter of Andrew and Linda Inhof of Spring City. She will be a senior this fall at Owen J. Roberts High School. Being a Star Chapter Farmer, she is very active in the FFA chapter. Currently serving as vice president of the chapter, Theresa is president-elect for 1993-94. As a result of being elected as a delegate to the state FFA convention, she was appointed as committee chairperson for state and national activities.

Farm Credit chose her project book in "Working for Experience" program for first place in Chester County. Theresa was also chosen as a delegate to the National Institute of Cooperative Education (NICE) in Denver, Colorado. In addition, she served on the school prom committe for 1993. When she has time for her hobbies, they include sports such as tennis and lacrosse.

Upon graduation in 1994, Theresa would like to attend Delaware Valley College and major in agriculture education. Theresa actively works on her family's dairy farm full time, by helping milk 65 head of Holsteins. The Inhofs have been in farming for more than 36 years on their 325-acre farm.

Helping Theresa this year in fullfilling her dairy promotion duties will be the three 1993 Chester County Dairy Maids: Johanna Landis, Karen Inhof and Sarah Laffey.

Johanna is the 15-year-old daughter of Arden and Caroline Landis of Christiana. Currently, she is finishing eighth grade in the Advanced Training Institute of America (ATIA). Johanna is a former 4-H member and enjoys playing the piano. Recently her family moved; and they are now farming 45 acres in Atglen. The family dairy herd consists of 12 Jerseys and 36 Holsteins. Johanna owns one cow. The Landis herd is on a rotational pasture grazing program.

Karen is the youngest daughter of Andrew and Linda Inhof. She attends Own J. Roberts High School as a ninth grader and is involved in FFA. Her most important school activity is being a Teen Leader to educate children through the "Say No to Drugs" program. Karen looks forward to being a dairy maid and helping her sister, Theresa, in dairy promotion activities.

Sarah Laffey, 15, of Cochranville is a Dairy Maid for the second consecutive year. She actively promoted the benefits of milk last year at numerous community affairs, and wanted to continue participating as a Dairy Maid for 1993. Sarah is the daughter of Michael and Kim Laffey. She attends Octorara High School where she is a member of the yearbook staff. Track is among her favorite school activities. Sarah and her family live at Glenville Farms, where her dad and uncles are in partnership with her grandfather Norman. They milk more than 500 cows and crop farm more than 1,000 acres.

Theresa and the dairy maids will be promoting dairy products throughout Chester County. If you would like them to come and visit your organization, please contact Joy Crothers, dairy princess coordinator. Phone: (215) 932-0723.

Hunterdon County Dairy Open House

RUTGERS, N.J. — The "curtain" goes up for the Hunterdon Dairy Open House at 12:30 p.m. on Sunday June 27, at the Gordeuk Brothers' Farm located off of Route 519 south of Route 12 in Baptistown, New Jersey. The bovine cast is under the direction of Bill Leendertse. All the "cattle calls" have been made and the cast has been selected and have worked hard preparing to put on a multi-act show that is free to the public. To kick off the afternoon event, the public is invited to bring a picnic lunch and needed supplies to the farm and enjoy a real family event in the beautiful rural hills of Hunterdon County.

Then from 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. the entire cast, choreographers, directors, and stage hands will present the many "acts" and "scenes" that make a dairy farm work.

Act I will begin with a walking tour of the stages that milk goes through on the farm-from cow to processor. Kids on tour should note that the first 100 entering the farm stage will receive a ticket that entitles them to a Polaroid photo of them hand-milking one of the cows during the first Act.

Act II follows immediately with displays and exhibits of antique tractors and equipment, soil conservation techniques and practices, 4-H and youth demonstrations, and the display of the Dairy Poster Award contest.

Act III will feature "hay rides" around the farm with cast members describing the farming scenes at the Gordeuk Farm.

Act IV opens mid-afternoon with the selection and crowning of the Hunterdon County Dairy Princess off-stage left (behind the dairy barn).

Throughout the day Act V will be running continuously on a 15 minute schedule with a video presentation featuring the successful roles agriculture plays today.

Act VI will feature free dairy products throughout the afternoon activities provided by the Hunterdon County Board of Agriculture, Welsh Farms, and the NJ Department of Agriculture Dairy Division.

Don't miss your chance to be a part of this opening performance, so follow the black and white dairy open house signs. For further information call (908) 788-1339 or (908) 526-6293.

PDPP Hires Intern

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Rebecca Stumpf, a Penn State student from Homer City, Indiana County, has joined the PDPP staff for the summer as Communications Intern. While at Pennsylvania Dairy, she will be responsible for the coordination of promotion campaigns for June Dairy Month and ice cream month. She will be organizing and planning events in Altoona, Wilkes-Barre, and Erie.

"We are excited to have Becky on board for the summer," says Betsy Dupuis, PDPP Communications Director. "She is very energetic and a great addition to our team. We are looking forward to a busy summer and Becky's support will be vital to the success of our campaigns."

Stumpf, the daughter of Richard and Deborah Stumpf, will graduate in May 1994, from Penn State with a degree in Journalism and a minor in Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology. While in State College, she has been an active member of the Dairy Science Club, a writer for the Penn State Daily Collegian, and the Editor of the "Ag Activator." She has several other work experiences that involve agricultural communications.

"My work with publicity for the Dairy Science Club turned me in the direction of public relations," says Stumpf. "I also gained valuable experience last summer as the coordinator of state FFA Activities Week and a counselor for the Pennsylvania Governor's School for the Agricultural Sciences."

"I have always been interested in working within the dairy industry," adds Stumpf. "This internship offers me the opportunity to integrate my communication and dairy interests. After graduation, I hope to work in agricultural journalism or public relations. This internship will help me gain experience in this direction."

At United High School, Stumpf was a member of the United FFA Chapter and competed in the State Envirothon. She served as the 1989-90 State FFA Reporter and was in charge of the publication FFA Today. Her grandfather, Richard Weinschenker, is a dairy farmer from Westmoreland County and provided Stumpf with many dairy industry experiences. This included time as a member of a dairy cattle judging team in high school.

Stumpf has received several awards and honors. She was the winner of the 1989 "Up with Agriculture" Writing Contest. In addition, she co-edited the nationally recognized 1991 Penn State Dairyman.

Pittsburgh Dairy Day Draws Large Crowd,

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The arrival of Pennsylvania's dairy industry in downtown Pittsburgh launched June Dairy Month celebrations across the state.

More than 2,500 people jammed into Market Square to see a live Holstein dairy cow, enjoy ice cream novelties and chocolate milk, and witness a celebrity milking contest. Dairy Princesses joined the crowd to gather donations for the Free Care Fund of the Pittsburgh Children's Hospital.

The event was billed as a kick-off for Dairy Month and Pittsburgh residents came to the Square to join the celebration. The celebrity milking contest featured Republican Mayoral Candidate Kathy Matta and Pennsylvania Alternate Dairy Princess Jennifer Rosenberry. The contest attracted news reporters from the Butler Eagle, the Pittsburgh Post Gazette, and the Pittsburgh Tribune Review. Matta won the contest with help from the state's other Alternate Dairy Princess, Sandy Gross.

Prior to the festival, dairy promoters visited KDKA-AM, WDSY-FM, and WDVE-FM radio stations to tell listeners about "Dairy Day" and Pennsylvania's dairy industry. In addition, WPXI-TV came out to "Dairy Day" to film a story for the 6 p.m. evening news. These stories reached thousands of consumers throughout the Pittsburgh area.

"Dairy Day" was sponsored by Mid East United Dairy Industry Association/F.O. 36 Advertising Agency and the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program. Companies participating in "Dairy Day" included: Carl Colteryahn Dairy Inc., Dean Dairy Company, R. Bruce Fike & Sons Dairy Inc., Marburger Farm Dairy Inc., Mong Dairy Company, Schneider's Dairy Inc., Taylor Milk Company Inc., Turner Dairy Farms Inc., and Titusville Dairy Inc.

Sandy Gross, (far right), PA Alternate Dairy Princess, accepts donations from Pittsburgh professionals as part of "Dairy Day" celebrations in the city. All of the funds collected were given to the Free Care Fund of the Pittsburgh Children's Hospital.

Old-Fashioned July 4th Celebration

WESTMINSTER, Md. — The Carroll County Farm Museum in Westminster, Maryland is planning an Old Fashioned 4th of July Celebration. The fun begins at 12:00 Noon on Sunday, July 4. Admission to this "open-air" celebration is $3 for adults; $2 for 12-18, 60 and over; under 12 is free.

United energies from the "Voice of Carroll County," WTTR AM 1470, Westminster Jaycees, and the Carroll County Farm Museum, make this outdoor event come together for all to enjoy. Planned events for the Independence Day Celebration include "Some Things Old" and "Some Things New."

Volleyball was invented in 1895 by William Morgan, a student at Springfield (Mass.) College; he called it "mignonette."

The VOLLEYBALL MARATHON will be the "something new" added to the '93 July 4th Celebration. SALLY HELWIG will be accepting sign-ups for two separate divisions:

Co-ed Recreation and Co-ed power. Pre-Register with Sally at (410) 429-4124 by June 25. Games begin at 12:00 noon and run until 6:00 p.m.

• Old Tyme Family Games for the whole family will run from 1 - 4 p.m. and again from 7 - 9 p.m. Included are active games, parlor games, independent games and cake walks.

• A Victorian Tea is planned in the Old Fashioned Rose and Herb Garden from 1 - 3 P.M. Mint tea and Sassafras tea will be served along with tea cakes, tea sandwiches and pastries. A fee of $1.00 will be accepted at the garden gate for those wishing to take tea.

• The 1850s Farmhouse will be open from noon until 8 p.m. for tours conducted by period dressed guides. Museum artisans will be demonstrating lost art skills such as tinsmithing, blacksmithing, broommaking and quilting, from noon until 8 p.m. The Ole Wagon Master, Jim Saylor, will have his team of mules on the grounds for those wishing to take an old-fashioned wagon ride around the Farm Museum grounds.

• Picnicking is welcomed. However, a tasty Fourth of July menu for those who wish to be independent from food preparations includes fried chicken platters, hot dogs, hamburgers, homemade desserts, ice cream, and fresh squeezed lemonade. Craft vendors will be selling handcrafted items throughout the day for those who wish to take home a 4th of July souvenir. The Farm Museum General Store will be open selling nickle candies, handcrafted items, and memorabilia.

• WTTR AM 1470 will once again sponsor the popular HUMAN TRIVIA CHALLENGE at their on-site location at 2 p.m.

• An explosive lineup of on-stage entertainment begins at 1 p.m. with Ray Owen. Ray will lead the audience on a musical journey through history. From 2 to 3 p.m., the Gingham Squares will swing into action. Jerry Brown is back as Uncle Sam, along with his little monkey pal. Jerry will be doing a vaudeville act on stage from 3 - 4 p.m. and strolling the grounds throughout the day. Then stay tuned for a patriotic tribute to America through song with the group, Paddyfields and Johnny Dark from 4 to 5 p.m. The Paddyfields will also feature Country music tunes in their one-hour performance. From 5 - 6 p.m., a Kiddies' Pedal Pull will take place around the stage area for youths ages four (4) through eight (8). Irish/American Folk music will be performed by Wherligig from 6 - 7 p.m. Marches and classical music performed by Monumental Brass Quintet will begin at 7:30, ending at 9 p.m.

• Advanced Entertainment Technologies will provide a LASER LIGHT SHOW. For 20 minutes, visitors will see images transformed through laser beams with musical accompaniment.

• The Westminster Jaycees will sponsor the annual July 4th Fireworks for the 17th straight year. The sky spectacular is scheduled for 9:30 p.m. The Jaycees will be collecting a parking donation ($3 a car) beginning at 6 p.m. to help defray firework costs. Besides sponsoring this community event, the Westminster Jaycees provide numerous services to the people in the Westminster, Maryland area.

Parking will not be allowed along Center Street from Bishop Street to Route 32, nor along Gist and Smith Avenue. Prime parking will be on the Farm Museum grounds. We suggest you tune to WTTR AM 1470 for traffic patterns and weather conditions, as a heavy rain could cancel the fireworks display. No alcoholic beverages nor pets will be allowed on the Farm Museum grounds. For more information, please contact the Farm Museum office at (410) 848-7775 or (410) 876-2667. Those out of this area may use 1-800-654-4645.

Octoraro Nature Walk

KIRKWOOD (Lancaster Co.) — The Watershed Association will hold a nature walk along the scenic and historic Black Rock area of the Octoraro Creek. Patrick Fasano will lead the mile and a half interpretive hike. Wear proper footwear for hiking. All young children need to be supervised by adults. The group will meet at Ken Shoemaker's house at 9 a.m. and return by 11:30 a.m.

The program is limited to 25 people so registration is required. If you are planning to attend, call Pat Fasano at (717) 529-2607 or Ken Shoemaker (717) 529-2467.

Today, Amy Warburton will be crowned at the Sullivan County June Dairy Parade in Dushore. Amy, daughter of James and Barbara Warburton, New Albany, works with the family's herd of 250. She is a junior at Sullivan County High School and is active in 4-H and her church. In July, she leaves for Japan as a 4-H IFFY representative.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

Last week we did something unusual for us — we ate away from home two days in a row. The first meal was a chicken barbecue at a friend's home. We all brought a dish or two and one lady made a shoo-fly pie for dessert. There was a lot of food left over.

The second night we went to my husband's 58th high school reunion. There were about 40 people present and we were served a huge meal. In fact, it was suggested that maybe a luncheon would be more appropriate. You see many folks do not like to drive at nighttime and we might get a lighter meal.

Some of our friends and relatives eat at a restaurant everyday, but ordinarily, Allen and I eat all of our meals at home. I've always been one to cook meat, potatoes, and a vegetable for all the meals except breakfast. As we butcher our own animals, we have a wide variety of meat to choose from in the freezers. And, the gardens provide a choice of many greens.

Our children were raised with lots of milk available to drink. I also made custards everyday. All of our sons are over six feet tall and all of the girls are above average height. Maybe it was not "all" the food but it could have helped.

I'm great for making desserts and always having some on hand. There are boxes of cookies in the freezer and cakes stored in the oven. I just made a strawberry pie with our many berries. And, I'm hoping to make a sour cherry pie soon, plus I want to try a recipe for a moist coconut cake. My loose-leaf notebook is bursting with recipes that I've collected over the years and I keep adding more all of the time.

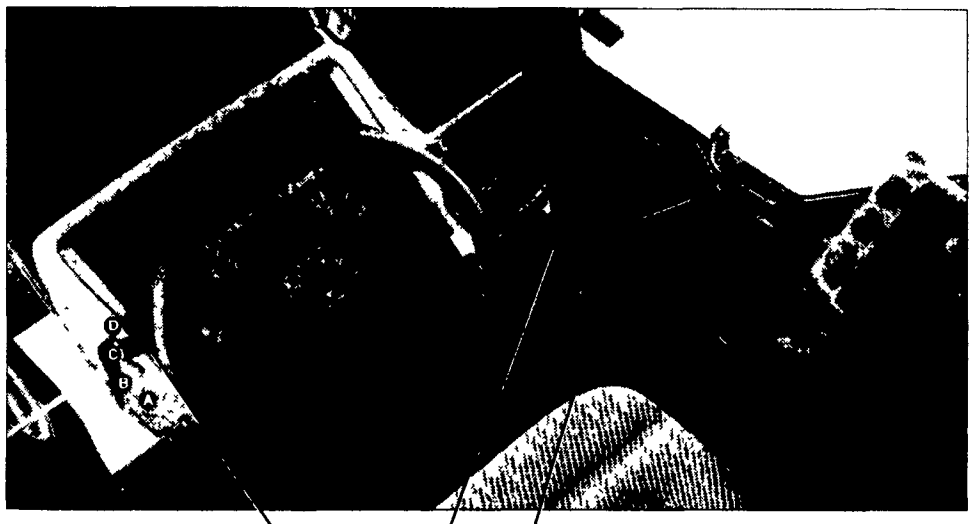
Your shift has come in.



Sitting in your "Silent Revolution" cab you hardly hear the big diesel purring in anticipation as you turn into the field.

Lower the implement. Open the throttle. You literally surge ahead. With over 92% of available power being delivered to the wheels, you're moving faster and more efficiently than conventional powershift tractors.

Suddenly a tough spot lugs you down. Without taking your hand off the wheel or your eyes off the implement, you flick the Dynashift™ lever from "C" to "B" range. There's no jerk. Just a smooth, ideal 17% downshift to power you through.

End of the field. Flick the Dynashift lever up to "D". Again, no lurches or jerks. Just smooth, positive acceleration.

"Amazing," you think. "That a transmission this advanced could also be so simple and reliable."

Test cruise a Dynashift today in selected MF 3600 Series tractors at your nearby Massey Ferguson dealer.

1 Powershift unit delivers four, clutchless shifts in any gear

2 Reverse shuttle provides synchronized forward/reverse shifts in any gear

3 Main gearbox delivers eight base gears, for a total of 32 speeds when combined with the four powershift ranges

PINEAPPLE CHEESE MOLDS

3-ounces lime gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 can evaporated milk
1 cup cottage cheese
½ cup mayonnaise
20-ounce can crushed pineapple, drained
¼ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped nuts, optional

Dissolve gelatine in water. Stir in remaining ingredients and pour into 1 quart mold; chill until firm.

COCOA PEANUT BUTTER FUDGE

3 cups granulated sugar
5 tablespoons cocoa
Pinch salt
1½ cups whole milk
¼ pound butter (frozen)
4 tablespoons creamy peanut butter
1½ teaspoon vanilla

Combine sugar, cocoa, and salt in a heavy 4-quart saucepan. Stir in milk.

Place over medium-high heat; cook, stirring slowly until the mixture comes to a boil. Turn heat to medium, stirring occasionally until it reaches a temperature of 236-238 degrees or until a small amount dropped into cold water forms a soft but slightly firm ball.

Remove from heat and add frozen butter and peanut butter. Stir slowly until the butter is almost melted, add vanilla.

Beat immediately, using electric mixer set at medium speed, until the mixture is thickened and begins to cling to the sides of the pan, about 5 minutes.

Pour into a buttered 9-inch layer cake pan. Let stand until cooled completely, cut into squares. Yields: 1¼ pounds.

This is a delicious fudge with an accent of peanut butter. The cooked mixture is beaten without cooling—the secret: a stick of frozen butter.

Here we are again—the Peanut Butter Kids. Since Daniel's family had the Mosemann's Peanut Butter Company in Lancaster, peanut butter is the main ingredient in our candy recipes or anywhere else we can incorporate it's use.

We love it and eat it, and entertain old friends with such morsels as the above recipe for Cocoa Peanut Butter Fudge. We hope you'll enjoy it.

HADDOCK SOUP

1 pound chopped fish, no dark meat or skin
2 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
2 cups chicken broth
2 cups milk
1½ cups Velvetta cheese, shredded
1 can peas with broth
1 package dried vegetable soup
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Melt butter in soup pot. Add flour to make paste. Add dry soup. Add chicken broth, milk, and cheese. When cheese is melted, sprinkle lemon juice over chopped fish add fish and cook 5 or 6 minutes. Add peas and let set a few minutes before eating.

This is one of our favorite soups. It is easy to make and oh so good. I usually use my own mind when I add the ingredients.

Our daughter, Tara, who lives in Minnesota loves to try my Pennsylvania Dutch recipes on her family and friends. I send her many of Lancaster Farming recipes that are published every week in the "Home on the Range" section.

SOUR CREAM COFFEE CAKE

½ cup shortening
¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 eggs
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ pint sour cream

Topping:

6 tablespoons butter, softened
1 cup brown sugar
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 cup chopped nuts

Cream shortening, sugar, and vanilla. Add eggs, one at a time, beating after each addition. Sift flour, baking powder, and baking soda. Add to creamed mixture alternately with sour cream, blending after each addition. Spread half of batter in greased 10-inch tube pan. Cream together butter, brown sugar, and cinnamon. Add nuts and mix well.

Dot batter with half of nut mixture evenly. Cover with remaining batter. Dot with remaining nut mixture. Bake at 350 degrees for 50 to 60 minutes. Cool cake 10 minutes and remove from pan.

A friend gave me this recipe many years ago. It is still a big hit whenever I serve it. We are dairy farmers and we milk about 85 Holsteins. My husband, Norman, farms in partnerships with his father Herb. They till about 200 acres.

BOSTON CREAM PIE

1 yellow cake mix
1 package vanilla instant pudding
2 cups milk
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
Chocolate frosting

Prepare cake mix according to directions, but bake in 2-greased 9-inch pie pans. Cool cakes. Mix pudding and milk. When thickened, fold in whipped cream. Split cake layers, use filling to ice between halves, then spread favorite chocolate icing on top. Chill until served. Makes 12-16 servings.

CREAM CHEESE SALSA DIP

16 ounces cream cheese
16 ounces salsa or picante sauce
2 teaspoons garlic powder
4 dashes Worcestershire sauce
Tabasco sauce, to taste
Milk, as desired

Combine ingredients in a bowl. Add enough milk to make easy dipping consistency.

We have a small farm in central Pa., which I am proud to say has been in the family for more than 100 years. We raise beef cows and pigs as well as grain for feed.

We have one child and are expecting our second in July. Our two-year-old daughter already has an interest in tractors and pigs. We are hoping she will carry on the tradition.

VIDALLIA ONIONS

8-12 onions
½ cup rice, cooked
1 cup half and half
1 cup grated Swiss and cheddar cheese
½ cup butter

Peel, quarter, and saute onions in butter until transparent. Put in greased casserole. Combine remaining ingredients and put over onions. Bake 1 hour at 350 degrees.

Our family loves this casserole. We farm about 70 acres. Own beef cattle — just a hobby for husband and sons. My husband works in a coal stripping company. He runs a dragline. I recently got laid off from my job in a factory. Happy too! Forgot how much fun it was to be home and do things. I enjoy sewing, cooking, and decorating. We have seven grown kids, 20 to 34 years old, and 10 grandchildren.

FETTUCINI ALFREDO

12 ounces fettucini noodles
¼ pound butter
¼ cup white wine
½ pound grated cheese (parmesan and Swiss)
½ cup light cream or sour cream

Cook noodles in boiling water. Drain. In a heavy skillet, melt half of the butter and add wine. Add noodles and the remaining butter. Add cream. Toss well. Add grated cheese and serve.

I reside in northwestern tier of Lehigh County. I have two children and two grandchildren. My hobbies are gardening, cooking, and traveling, and of course, reading Section B of Lancaster Farming.

PANCAKES

1¼ cups flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
3 tablespoons granulated sugar
1 egg, beaten
¾ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
3 tablespoons shortening, melted

Sift together flour, baking powders, sugar, and salt. Combine beaten egg and milk; add to dry ingredients; beat until smooth; add melted shortening. Mix. Pour cakes onto griddle. Turn when full of bubbles.

We live on a 285-acre farm in the rolling hills of West Virginia. We are going slow now since my husband is 78 and I am 71. We have beef cattle and make mostly hay. Our children are all married and gone from home.

We have one son that lives in Pennsylvania on a farm and our youngest son owns a farm in W. Va. We have 13 grandchildren.

ZUCCHINI SOUFFLE

1 cup grated zucchini
2 tablespoons cream
1 cup cracker or bread crumbs
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 egg
1 tablespoon sugar
1 cup milk

Mix together zucchini, ½ cup crumbs, beaten egg, cream, and seasoning. Add milk gradually and place in greased 1½ quart baking dish. Cover with dots of butter, remaining crumbs, and ½ cup grated cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Serve at once. Serves 6.

We live on a 47-acre farm and have 50 cows.

I have two sisters and nine brothers. The 3 oldest boys are married. Two of them live in Lancaster County and one lives in Iowa. The rest of us live at home. Isaac has a construction job and Mary and I are school teachers.

BANANA CREAM SANDWICH COOKIES

Cookies:

2½ cups flour
1 cup sugar
1 cup butter, softened
½ cup sliced banana
¼ cup salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup chopped pecans

Frosting:

3 cups confectioners' sugar
⅓ cup butter, softened
3 to 4 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
Food coloring

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease cookie sheets. In 3-quart mixing bowl, combine cookie ingredients except pecans. Beat at low speed, scraping sides of bowl often, until well mixed (2 to 3 minutes). Stir in pecans. Shape rounded teaspoonfuls of dough into 1-inch balls. Place 2-inches apart onto greased cookie sheets. Flatten cookie to ¼ -inch thickness with bottom of glass dipped in flour. Bake near center of 350 degree oven for 12 to 15 minutes or until edges are lightly browned. Remove from pan immediately; cool completely. Put cookies together in pairs with 1 tablespoon frosting ingredients. Beat at medium speed, scraping sides of bowl often, until light and fluffy. If desired, color with food coloring. Yield: 2 dozen.

LASAGNA

2 pounds ricotta cheese
1 pound mozzarella cheese
1 pound lasagna noodles
24-ounces spaghetti sauce
1 medium onion, chopped fine
½ cup grated parmesan cheese
1 pound ground beef
2 eggs
¼ cup oregano
½ tablespoon garlic powder
Salt and pepper

Cook lasagna noodles according to package directions. In large frying pan, fry ground beef with onion, salt, and pepper, to taste. When hamburger is well-browned, drain. In large mixing bowl, mix grated mozzarella cheese, ricotta cheese, eggs, oregano, and garlic powder. Grease bottom of 15x11-inch baking dish. Layer in pan: noodles, cheese mixture, ground beef, onion, and sauce. Make three series of layers, ending with sauce. Sprinkle with ½ cup grated parmesan cheese. Bake in 425-degree oven for 1 hour.

STRAWBERRY CHEESECAKE TRIFLE

16-ounces cream cheese
2 cups confectioners' sugar
1 cup dairy sour cream
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
¼ teaspoon almond extract
½ pint whipping cream
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 angel food cake, torn into bite-sized pieces
2 quarts fresh strawberries, raspberries or peaches, thinly sliced
3 tablespoons sugar

In large bowl, cream together cream cheese and confectioners' sugar; add sour cream, vanilla, and almond extract. Set aside. In small deep bowl, whip cream, vanilla, and sugar. Fold into cream cheese. Add cake pieces, set aside. Combine strawberries and sugar. Layer together in a large glass bowl: strawberries, cake mixture, continue layering, finish with strawberries. Chill.

This is a rich and wonderful dessert. My husband and I farm 900 acres all in various types of hay. Summer for us is a busy time. We have three children, Nathan, 8; Jacob, 6; and Natalie, 3. Someday we hope to own our own farm.

CHEESECAKE SUPREME

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon lemon juice
½ cup butter
1 egg yolk, slightly beaten
¼ teaspoon vanilla

Mix and pat ⅓ into bottom of a 9-inch spring-form pan. Bake in 450 degree oven for 8 minutes. Remove from oven and attach sides to bottom. Butter and pat remaining crumbs on sides to height of 1¼ inches.

Filling:

24-ounces cream cheese, softened
¼ teaspoon vanilla
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1¼ cup sugar
3 tablespoons flour
3 eggs
2 egg yolks
¼ cup whipping cream

Let cream cheese stand at room temperature to soften. Beat until creamy. Add vanilla, lemon juice, sugar, eggs, and flour. Gradually blend into cheese. Gently stir in whipping cream. Spoon into crust and bake at 450 degrees for 12 minutes. Reduce heat at 300 degrees and continue baking for 55 to 60 minutes. Remove from oven. Cool. Loosen sides with spatula after 30 minutes. Remove sides at end of 1 hour. Allow to cool 2 hours. Refrigerate.

Strawberry glaze:

2 or 3 cups fresh strawberries
1 cup water
1½ cups tablespoons cornstarch
½ to ¾ cup sugar

Crush 1 cup strawberries, add the water and cook 2 minutes. Sieve. Mix cornstarch with sugar (amount depends on sweetness of berries). Stir into hot berry mixture. Cook until thick. Add a few drops of food coloring if needed. Place remaining berries on top of cheesecake. Pour glaze over top. Cool 2 hours.

If desired, circle berries with halves of pineapples.

This is a very rich cheesecake but it is delicious.

My husband was a dairy farmer but is retired. I am 70 years old and he is 72. We now rent the farm.

ASPARAGUS STRATA

12 slices white bread
12 ounces sharp processed cheese, diced
1½ pound fresh asparagus, trimmed, cut
2 cups diced cooked ham
6 eggs
3 cups milk
2 tablespoons minced onion
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon dry mustard

Using a doughnut cutter, cut 12 circles and holes from bread. Tear remaining bread in pieces and place in a greased 13x9x2-inch baking pan. Layer cheese, asparagus, and ham over torn bread, arrange bread circles and holes on top. Lightly beat eggs with milk and seasonings; mix well. Pour egg mixture over circles and holes. Cover and refrigerate at least 6 hours or overnight. Bake uncovered at 325 degrees for 55 minutes. Let stand 10 minutes before serving.

My husband Samuel and I and our two daughters, Emily, 2, and Aremina, 1, live on a dairy farm near Three Springs, Huntingdon County. We take care of more than 100 head dairy cattle and milk 3 times a day. Our landlord puts in the crops for the feed. We all enjoy dairy products. When the milk runs all in the house, it makes for some fussy children till someone gets more.

FUDGE MARBLE CHEESECAKE BARS

1 package marble cake mix
⅓ cup butter, softened
¼ cup sour cream
⅔ cup sugar
1 egg
16 ounces cream cheese
⅓ cup water
2 eggs

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Grease 9x13-inch pan. Reserve 1 cup dry cake mix. Blend remaining dry cake mix, butter, and 1 egg on low speed until dough forms. Pat in bottom of pan. Bake until golden and crust begins to pull away from side of pan, about 15-20 minutes. Beat cream cheese and sour cream until smooth. Blend reserved cake mix, water, sugar and 2 eggs into cream cheese mixture. Pour remaining mix over crust. Blend reserved cream cheese mixture and marble mixture in small bowl on low speed. Drop dark batter by tablespoonful randomly, in 6-8 mounds, onto yellow batter. Cut through battter with knive to make marble effect. Bake until set and cake springs back, about 30-35 minutes. Cool completely. Refrigerate until firm.

We own a 113-acre dairy farm and milk 45 cows. Our 3 children love the farm. Our son, Tyler, 4, wants to be a farmer when he grows up and Sara, 7, would like to become a dairy princess.

I was from a non-farming family and married and became a farm wife. I was extremely surprised to find out what all jobs and duties take on the name of farmwife. It's not just housework, it was barn work, field hand, tractor driver, and whatever and wherever you are needed.

My husband, Jon, was from a farm family and I must say very tolerant of my ignorance of the farm. He puts in long hours in the field and barn yet finds time to share a little with all of us. We enjoy farming as a family.

IMPOSSIBLE CHEESEBURGER PIE

1 pound ground beef
½ cup chopped onion
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
1½ cups milk
¾ cup Bisquick
3 eggs

Heat oven to 375 degrees. Lightly grease 10x1½-inch pie plate or casserole dish.

Brown beef and onion, drain. Add salt and pepper. Spread in pie plate. Sprinkle with cheese. Mix remaining ingredients in blender, blend until smooth. Pour into pie plate. Bake until brown and knife inserted in center comes out clean, about 30-35 minutes. Let stand 5 minutes before cutting.

If using a 9x1¼-inch plate, decrease milk to 1 cup, Bisquick to ½ cup and 2 eggs.

This easy to prepare dish is very good and nice to prepare when time is short.

My husband Llewellyn and I are dairy farmers on his family's farm. We have 70-some cows and also a few goats.

RICOTTA RICE

3 cups brown rice, cooked
4 tablespoons chopped green onions
1½ cups ricotta cheese
2 garlic cloves, pressed
1 cup sour cream
2 tablespoons milk
½ teaspoon chopped hot pepper
⅓ cup grated farmer's cheese

Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

Mix rice and onions. Mix ricotta, garlic, sour cream, milk, and hot pepper. Blend into rice and onions. Butter a 1-quart casserole, pour in the mixture and top with grated cheese. Bake 25 minutes until the cheese bubbles and the mixture is hot.

Larry and I live on a dairy farm in Adams County. We milk 150 registered Holsteins and farm about 500 acres.

We have four children. Lela is program director for MAMMA. Lane is attending Franklin University in Columbus, Ohio, majoring in electronic engineering. Lesha is the current Adams County dairy princess and plans to attend Western Maryland College and major in communications. Ladd is a sophomore at New Oxford Sr. High School and enjoys being active in wrestling and track.

My hobbies include collecting cows, cookbooks, and crafts.

FAMOUS CLAM CHOWDER

2 (6½-ounce) cans minced clams
1 cup finely chopped onion
1 cup finely chopped celery
2 cups finely diced potatoes
¾ cup butter
¾ cup flour
1 quart milk
Salt and pepper, to taste
2 chopped hard cooked eggs

Drain juice from clams. Add juice to vegetables in small saucepan. Add enough water to barely cover vegetables. Simmer, covered, over medium heat until tender. In the meantime, melt butter, add flour, blend and cook, stirring for 2 to 3 minutes. Add milk, cook and stir with wire whisk until smooth and thick. Keep on low heat to prevent burning. Add undrained vegetables and clams. Heat through. Add salt, pepper, and chopped eggs.

SUE'S MASHED POTATOES

4 cups mashed potatoes
1 small box cottage cheese
½ pint sour cream
Grated small onion

Mix, dot with butter and bake uncovered 30 minutes at 350 degrees.

This recipe is a favorite of my family when we all get together. I fix it at home too. It's quick and easy. My husband, Nick, loves it. We have three children, Laura, 13, Nick, 11; and Jake, 8½. We live on a farm with 225 acres and raise black Angus brood cows and calves. We sell used machinery and parts specializing in John Deere. Our hobby is antique tractor collecting. I like to sew, collect antiques, pigs, and barns, and read Section B of Lancaster Farming.

VERY DAIRY CHEESECAKE

Step 1:

12 whole graham crackers, crushed
½ cup sugar
½ cup butter, melted

Mix together with fork, press in bottom and partway up side of greased and floured 10-inch spring cake pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 12 minutes on bottom oven shelf. Remove and add:

Step 2:

16 ounces cream cheese, creamed
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 whole eggs, add one at a time.

Mix together with mixer and pour into baked crust. Bake at 375 degrees for 20 minutes on middle shelf.

Step 3:

1 pint sour cream
⅓ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix together with mixer. Pour carefully on top of already baked Step 2 filling. Bake at 375 degrees for 15 minutes on middle shelf. When cool, top with cherry pie filling or other favorite fruit topping. Serves 16 to 20.

Our family lives on a 160-year-old crop and beef farm near Mount Joy. My husband, Paul, also operates a seed cleaning business. BEEF STROGANOFF SANDWICH

2 pounds ground beef
½ cup onion, chopped
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon garlic powder
½ teaspoon pepper
1 loaf French bread
Butter, softened
2 cups sour cream
2 tomatoes, seeded and sliced
1 large green pepper, diced
3 cups shredded cheddar cheese

In a large skillet, brown ground beef and onion. Drain. Stir in salt, garlic powder and pepper. Cut bread in half lengthwise; butter both halves and place on cookie sheet. Add sour cream to meat mixture; after mixing well, spoon onto bread halves. Sprinkle with tomatoes and green pepper and top with cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes or until cheese is melted (bake longer for crispier bread). Yield: 8-10 servings.

Variation: After adding sour cream to beef mixture, you can also serve it over buttered noodles with the bread on the side for a delicious meal.

I have been living in Illinois since July 1992. Although I do live in a rural area and it is very pretty, it is nothing compared to the mountains of Pennsylvania and the countryside of Lebanon County, where I grew up on a dairy farm. Even though it was a hard decision for me to make when I moved here, I knew I was supported by my family and friends. One friend in particular was my best friend and college roommate for three years. We both had our "old faithful" recipes that we liked to make, and this was the one that she enjoyed preparing. I owe her a lot for sharing all my ups and downs during our college days. Thanks for everything, Madge! You're a terrific friend.

NICE AND EASY CHEESECAKE

Yellow cake mix
4 eggs
16-ounces cream cheese
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
½ cup sugar
1½ cup milk
3 tablespoons lemon juice
3 teaspoons vanilla
1 can pie filling.

Reserve 1 cup dry cake mix. Add 1 egg and oil to the remaining cake mix, mix together. Press on bottom and sides of 9x13-inch pan.

Blend cheese, sugar, 3 eggs, and reserved cake mix. Beat one minute on medium speed. Turn to slow speed, add milk, vanilla, and lemon juice. Mix until smooth. Pour into pan. Bake at 300 degrees for 50 minutes or until center is firm. Chill top with pie filling.

I hope you enjoy this recipe. We like it with pineapple.

My husband Cloyd and I live on a 300-acre dairy farm in Springhope. The farm has been in the family for more than 100 years. Even thogh we farm our land, the surrounding land is apple trees. You should see it in the springtime.

I was raised in the city and while our 4 children were growing up, I worked at other jobs. Now they have jobs and have moved away. I work full time on the farm.

CREAMY CHEESY POTATO SOUP

4 baking potatoes
⅓ cup butter
⅓ cup flour
6 cups milk
¾ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
Dash garlic, optional
4 medium onions, chopped
12 slices bacon, cooked and crumbled
1¼ cups shreded cheddar cheese
¼ cup Parmesan cheese
8-ounces sour cream

Bake potatoes until soft. Cut lengthwise, scoop out pulp, and slightly mash.

Melt butter in saucepan, add flour and stir until smooth. Gradually add milk, stirring until mixture is thick and bubbly. Add potato pulp, salt, pepper, onion, bacon and cheese. Cook until thoroughly heated, stir in sour cream. Add extra milk for desired thickness. Steamed vegetables such as broccoli and cauliflower can also be added, if desired.

My husband Mark and his father, Paul, own and operate a 300-acre dairy farm, called Darlawn Farm. Mark and I have two children, Cole will be three in July, and Katie is one year old. Cole likes to be with his father and grandfather as much as possible.

LIGHTNING CAKE

1½ cups flour
1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup butter
2 eggs
Milk
1 teaspoon flavoring

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt, three times. Melt butter in a one-half pint measuring cup. Break in eggs and fill cup with milk. Add flavoring and stir into flour. Beat about five minutes until light. Bake in a loaf tin in a 350 degree oven.

This cake may be baked in small muffin pans. It is delicious with boiled white, chocolate or maple icing.

One egg only may be used if one teaspoon of baking powder is added in place of egg omitted.

We have a 360-acre dairy. It is called Triple-M-Farms. My husband, Earl, and our two sons, Frank and Earl, farmed it until my husband died two years ago. Now our sons farm it. We have 60 Holstein milking cows and 60 young cattle.

APPLE COBBLER

4 cups thinly diced and pared apples
½ cup sugar
½ cup walnuts
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 egg
1 cup butter, melted
1 cup sugar
½ cup cream or milk
1 cup flour, sifted
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup walnuts

Place apples in a 2-quart buttered casserole. Mix and sprinkle ½ cup walnuts, ½ cup sugar and cinnamon over apples. Beat egg; add cream and butter. Add dry ingredients and 1 cup sugar all at once.

Sprinkle with ¼ cup nuts. Bake at 325 degrees for 55 minutes. Serve with whipped cream or ice cream.

My husband Karl was a world War II veteran. We have been married 52 years.

MOM'S SPECIAL LASAGNA

1 pound ground beef
½ cup onion, chopped
10½ ounces spaghetti sauce
2 teaspoons dried or sweet basil
2 teaspoons oregano
8 ounces lasagna noodles
1 tablespoon cooking oil
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
24 ounces small curd cottage cheese
¾ cup grated Parmesan or Romano cheese
½ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons dried parsley flakes
1 pound shredded mozzarella cheese
4½ ounces pepperoni, sliced and quartered

Brown ground beef and onion. Drain off fat. Stir in spaghetti sauce, basil and oregano. Cook, simmer for 15 minutes, stirring often. Meanwhile cook noodles until tender in boiling salted water with cooking oil added to water. Drain, rinse noodles. Beat eggs, cottage cheese, ½ cup parmesan or Romano cheese, parsley and ½ teaspoon pepper. Layer half of the noodles in a 13x9x2-inch baking dish. Spread half of cottage cheese mixture. Add half of mozzarella cheese, pepperoni, and meat sauce. Repeat layers. Sprinkle remaining parmesan on top.

Bake at 375 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes or until heated through. Let stand 10 minutes. Makes 10 servings.

My husband Bob and I recently started farming in July 1992. Being formerly of Berks County, we had what most young married couples dream of: a new home, good careers, and a happy marriage. Somehow something was missing in our lives. We wanted to start a family, but it never seemed to be the right time.

Bob grew up on a dairy farm and remembered what it was like being on the farm as a child. This prompted him to have the dream of someday farming himself.

Thanks to the Lancaster Farming and a good Realtor, we found Somerset County, where we now reside.

Some people thought we were crazy, but I can tell you we have never been happier. That void in our lives has been filled and a longtime dream has been fulfilled.

CHOCOLATE CHIP COOKIES

1¾ cup flour, sifted
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt

Sift together flour, baking soda, and salt. Set aside. Cream together:

½ cup butter
½ cup peanut butter

Gradually add:

½ cup sugar
½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed

Cream well and add:

1 egg, unbeaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons milk

Beat well. Blend in dry ingredients gradually. Mix thoroughly. Stir in one cup chocolate chips. Shape by rounded teaspoonful into balls. Roll in a dusting of sugar. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake at 375 degrees for about 8 minutes. Makes a soft cookie that is best when eaten a little warm.

I live on a dairy farm with my parents, Kathy and Gene. I have a sister Allison and a brother Andy. I'm a member of No-So-Ann 4-H Dairy Club. I have a cow named Angel. She likes to produce milk. Here, is my favorite recipe for chocolate chip cookies. Please use real dairy products when making these cookies.

NEW YORK DELI-STYLE CHEESECAKE

Set oven at 350 degrees.

Mix standard graham cracker crust and put in 9- or 10-inch springform pan. Beat 4 egg whites until stiff. Set aside.

In a bowl, beat together:
24-ounces cream cheese
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Add egg whites and blend together. Pour into crust. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Remove from oven. Set oven to 375 degrees. Mix together:
1 pint sour cream
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Spread on top of cheesecake. Return to oven for 8 minutes. Remove from oven. Let stand one hour, refrigerate for at least 3 hours. Serves 10-12. Freezes well — allow 2 hours to defrost at room temperature.

QUICK CHEESECAKE

2 cups graham cracker crumbs
2 tablespoons sugar
½ cup butter, melted

Mix well and press into a 9x12-inch pan. Blend together:
¼ cup milk
1 tablespoon plain gelatin

Let mixture stand 2 minutes. Bring the following to a boil:
2 cups milk

Add milk to gelatin mixture in blender and blend well. Add the following and blend again:
¼ cup sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla
16-ounces cream cheese, softened

Pour into graham crust. Chill 2 hours. Add thickened fruit, pie filling, or crushed cookies on top.

EGG CHEESE

3 quarts milk
¾ cup sugar

Heat milk and sugar to boiling over low heat.

4 eggs, beaten
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon flour
1 pint whole milk

Beat together eggs, salt, flour, and milk. Add to heated milk and keep on low heat until separated. Put into cheese molds or sieve, colander or whatever you have. Serve with maple syrup or molasses.

This is an old recipe that my mother-in-law often made when she lived on the farm. It is still enjoyed by the whole family when served with molasses or maple syrup.

RASPBERRRY CUSTARD

2 eggs
1 tablespoon flour
3 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
1 cup raspberries
9-inch unbaked pie shell

Fill bottom of pie shell with raspberries or desired fresh fruit. Mix together remaining ingredients and pour over fruit. Bake at 425 degrees for 15 minutes; reduce heat and bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes.

CHICKEN-CHEESE LASAGNA

Cook and cut-up chicken to equal 2 cups. Reserve broth (skim off fat when cooled).

Thaw and drain 10-ounce package of chopped spinach. Reserve

½ cup butter, melted in 2-quart saucepan over low heat.

2 cloves garlic, crushed; add to butter and saute lightly.

Stir in ½ cup flour and 1 teaspoon salt, optional. Cook, stirring constantly until bubbly. Remove from heat.

Stir in 2 cups milk
2 cups reserved chicken broth

Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Boil and stir for 1 minute.

Stir in:
2 cups shredded mozzarella cheese
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 medium onion, chopped
1 teaspoon dried basil leaves
½ teaspoon dried oregano leaves
¼ teaspoon pepper

Cook over low heat, stirring constantly only until mozzarella cheese is melted. Sauce will be thick enough at this point. Assemble in an ungreased 9x13-inch baking dish:

Layer 1:
1½ cups cheese sauce
4-5 uncooked lasagna noodles (may overlap)
1 cup ricotta cheese, part-skim (may use part creamed cottage cheese).

Layer 2:
1½ cups cheese sauce
4-5 uncooked lasagna noodles
1 cup ricotta or cottage cheese

Layer 3:
2 cups cooked chicken
Spinach
1½ cups cheese sauce

Layer 4:
4-5 uncooked lasagna noodles
1½ cups cheese sauce
½ cup Parmesan cheese

Bake, uncovered, at 350 degrees until noodles are done, 35 to 40 minutes. Let stand 15 minutes before cutting.

This recipe was originally given to my mother. We've made a few minor adjustments. It's a big hit at our house, even with spinach. I've served and given away this recipe to many others.

We eat and cook with a lot of cheese at our house. I love to try new recipes and my family and guests do not usually mind being the guinea pigs.

We own a dairy farm with 97 acres near McAlisterville (Juniata Co.), but farm about 200 acres and milk between 40 to 45 Holsteins and Jerseys. My collection of cows far exceeds my husband's — but mine need much less care.

We have three children, Heidi, 8½ ; Malynda, 6; and Quentin, 3.

CHEESY SCALLOPED POTATOES

¼ cup chopped onion
¼ cup butter
¼ cup flour
2½ cups milk
5 large potatoes, peeled, sliced thin
¼ pound Velveeta cheese, cubed
3-4 ounces sharp cheddar cheese, sliced thin
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Saute onion in butter until tender. Stir in flour, salt, and pepper. Add milk and cook until thick, stirring occasionally over medium heat. Remove from heat. Place sliced potates in greased 2-quart casserole and pour cheese sauce over potatoes. Add ½ -¾ cup milk to cover potatoes. Bake, covered in a 350 degree oven for 45 minutes, stirring once. Uncover and bake 30 minutes or until potatoes are done.

My husband, William, and I have two daughters, Darla, 3, and Kayla, 7 months. William is a livestock nutritionist and salesman for Renaissance Nutrition, Inc. He also farms 120 acres of corn, soybeans, and hay. On our farm, we background and finish Holstein steers. Darla enjoys helping Mom and Dad feed the young calves.

PINEAPPLE SLICES

Filling: (make first)
1 No.2 can crushed pineapple
⅔ cup water
3 tablespoons cornstarch
½ cup sugar
1 egg yolk

Cook together until thick. Cool.

Dough:
⅔ cup milk, scalded and cooled
1 tablespoon sugar
1 yeast cake, dissolved in sugar

When cool, add yeast to milk.

Combine:
3½ cups flour
1 cup butter
3 egg yolks, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine with milk mixture. Mix well. Divide dough into two parts. Roll out to fit greased 12x16-inch pan. Put in filling and cover with remaining part of dough rolled out. Let rise 1 hour. Bake at 350 degrees for about 30 to 40 minutes. When cool, frost with confectioners' sugar or other frosting.

My husband and myself were dairy farmers. I used to milk cows and help with outside work as well — put hay in. We retired seven years ago — still put hay in — have a garden and a big lawn to mow and take care of. This recipe has been all over as I make it for bake sales and everyone enjoys it.

1-2-3-4 CAKE

½ pound butter
1 cup milk
2 cups sugar
3 cups flour
4 eggs
3 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons vanilla

Mix together ingredients and bake in greased and floured pan for 60 minutes at 350 degrees. Check with toothpick to make sure cake is done. Top with the following.

Frosting:
1 pound confectioners' sugar
¼ pound soft butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
6 tablespoons milk

This is a recipe that my father says I will enjoy when I grow up. I am not yet old enough to write so I had dad write this for me. His name is Thomas. Mom (Julie) makes this recipe for Dad and I am sure I will like it when I get old enough to eat real food. Lots of milk at this age so "salute" to dairy farmers. My dad does engineering for a living although I think that he would prefer to farm. My mom works as an accountant at the Reading Hospital. I, myself, just lay around right now; not too much to do at this age. Hope you like my recipe.

RICE PUDDING

1 cup rice
2½ quarts water
1 teaspoon salt

Cook 25 minutes after mixture boils, rinse, and add rice to the following:

1 quart milk
1 large can evaporated milk

Heat. In smaller bowl, combine:
1½ cups sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 eggs
1 teaspoon cinnamon
2 teaspoons vanilla

Mix into milk and rice mixture, stir over heat until thick about 5 minutes. Pour into a large bowl and sprinkle ground cinnamon on top. Let cool before putting it in the refrigerator.

I'm sending my favorite rice pudding recipe for the readers. My whole family just loves it for a in-between snack and before going to and from our dairy barn for doing chores. It's so easy to make and it's really smooth and creamy on a warm summer day.

Our children, Megean and Aaron really like working with the calves, giving the bottle to them and giving a helping hand all around. My husband's name is Craig. He and I are in our early 30s and have been milking cows for 10 years. It's a beautiful place to raise a family. We are always together having fun.

Choose Heart-Healthy Fats

HONESDALE (Wayne Co.) — First we were told of the evils of butter. Now newspaper articles are reporting that perhaps margarine isn't so terrific for us either.

Scott Murdoch, a nutritionist in Cornell's Division of Nutritional Sciences, offers these points to keep in mind when choosing fats for cooking or eating as a spread:

* Saturated fat, which is associated with an increase in blood cholesterol, is the type of fat implicated in chronic illnesses, such as heart disease and cancer. Look for fats that are polyunsaturated or monounsaturated.

* Don't be confused by products that are advertised as cholesterol free. Remember that no vegetable product contains cholesterol, which is found only in animal products.

* Here's a list of fats with the least saturated ones at the top, the most at the bottom. Canola oil, for example, contains only 6 percent saturated fat, whereas butter is 66 percent saturated fat. Note that palm kernel and coconut oils, although derived from plants, are higher in saturated fats than fats from animal sources.

canola oil
safflower oil sunflower oil
corn oil olive oil soybean oil
peanut oil
margarine (taken as an average of various brands sesame seed oil cottonseed oil vegetable shortening chicken fat
lard
beef fat butter
palm kernel oil
coconut oil

* Using cooking sprays made from some of the less saturated oils is one way to cut down fat intake. These can be used not only to lubricate pans but to spray directly on vegetables for oven browning. Using a pastry brush is another way to apply oil in a thin film.

*We tend to think of margarine as better for us than butter because it's made with vegetable oils. But to make those oils into a spread, they are treated by a process called hydrogenation. Hydrogenation also turns an unsaturated fat into a saturated one. "Not all margarines are alike," cautions Murdoch. 'Some contain much more hydrogenated, that is saturated, fat than others." Read margarine labels carefully both for the types of oils used and for how many of them are hydrogenated.

* Hydrogenation isn't the only way an unsaturated oil can become saturated. The use of heat or alcohol in extracting the oils from grains and seeds can also saturate the fat. Look for the words "expeller pressed," "naturally pressed," "cold pressed," or 'naturally crushed" on the product labels. In the case of olive oil, look for "virgin" or "extra virgin." These extraction processes do not cause the oil to become saturated.

"There's no easy answer to finding the most heart-healthy fat," Murdoch says. "But the industry is beginning to pay attention to consumer demands for unsaturated, minimally processed oils that are not hydrogenated. I was served a cookie containing expeller-pressed canola oil on an airplane recently. This is the way consumers should urge the industry to go."

Old Foods In New Ways

HONESDALE (Wayne Co.) — If you're a peanut butter fan, the future holds a new variation of peanut butter that you can look forward to according to the folks at USDA. It's a nutritious, low-fat peanut spread with the consistency of a pudding. The new spread is made from raw peanuts, rather than from roasted peanuts used in standard peanut butter.

In experiments, researchers at the U.S. Department of Agriculture ground raw peanuts, removed the oil and mixed the peanuts with water to make a slurry. They filtered it, collected the protein and sugar, and pressed out the water. They then added flavorings, including chocolate and tangerine. Because the spread is pasteurized, it can be stored on the shelf until it's opened. Then it must be refrigerated.

Another new food from USDA research is puffed mushrooms. They can be explosion puff-dried by a new process, stored for over a year, then restored for cooking. The mushroom flavor and texture remain intact. Uncooked, the mushrooms can be eaten as a tasty, nutritious, low-calorie snack. Puffed mushrooms are light, crunchy and flavorful. They also make good croutons. Cooked in boiling water, they retain their flavor and texture.

Puff-drying is considerably less expensive than freeze-drying. Puff-dried mushrooms can be stored indefinitely. Puff-drying is also a nutritive alternative to canning where solids, vitamins and amino acids are lost.

Olde Tyme Days At Fawn Grove

FAWN GROVE (York Co.) — For a fun filled weekend for the entire family don't miss the Fawn Grove Olde Tyme Days on July 9, 10, and 11. Follow Rt. 851 to Fawn Grove then north on Market Street. Admission and parking are free. A shuttle wagon will be provided. The fairgrounds open at 10:00 a.m. each day. Proceeds go towards the Citizens Volunteer Fire Company Building Fund.

The three days are packed with demonstrations, contests, games and lots of good homemade food. Flea market and craft vendors will be selling their wares. Exhibitors will be displaying their antique tractors, cars, fire engines, and gas engines.

Contests include a Slow Tractor Race, Tobacco Spitting Contest, Crosscut Sawing Contest, Pie Baking Contest, Peddle Tractor Pulls, Fire Company games, and a Tractor Barrel competition.

The Borderline Spinners will be demonstrating on their spinning wheels. The Blacksmith Sop will be open. Binding, threshing, baling, and seed cleaning demonstrations will be held daily. New this year will be a shingle mill and broom maker displays.

Kid's games are scheduled for Saturday and Sunday. Kids can also ride on the hayrides and visit the petting zoo. The dunking booth will be set up.

Bands are scheduled for Friday night, Saturday afternoon and evening, and Sunday afternoon. The Olde Tyme Days Chorus will sing at 1:00 P.M. on Sunday. A church service will be held Sunday morning with Gospel Music provided.

Worth McClure and his granddaughter prepare the oxen for Olde Tyme Days.

Menges Mills Historical Horse, Steam, Gas Show

THOMASVILLE (York Co.) — The Menges Mills Historic Horse, Steam and Gas Association, a non-profit organization, is presenting its seventh annual summer show on July 17 and 18 at Elicker's Grove (Labott Road, 1 mile off Route 30, near York Airport at Thomasville). Breakfast is served at 7:30 a.m. daily. The show opens at 9:00 a.m. and closes at dusk.

This year's show will feature a kids' and adults' pedal tractor pull, children's games, threshing demonstrations, tractor and small engine displays, antique farm machinery displays, flea market, antiques, crafts, and country cooking.

There will be country music Friday, July 16 and Saturday, July 17 at 7:00 p.m. with "Pigeon Hill Station." "Sally Shearer and the Skytoppers" will perform Saturday afternoon at 1:00 p.m.

The purpose of the Menges Mills Historic Horse, Steam and Gas Association is to preserve early American history. Through the show the public is given the opportunity to see some rural American culture in its early phases.

Free admission, free parking, and lots of shade!

Farm Women Societies

Lanc. Soc. 20

Lancaster County Farm Women #20 met with Verna Hess on Thursday, June 3, with Olga Oatman as co-hostess. Following the very timely refreshments including strawberries and ice cream, Olga had the devotions. For the scripture she read from the Book of Genesis followed by a poem "The Unicorn" closing with the Lord's prayer. After repeating the "Pledge to the Flag" the secretary had the roll call to which the members answered by telling of a hazard in their home.

The president, Nancy Axe, presided at the business meeting at which time the Sunshine Committee reported six cards were sent during May. On July 14, Society #20 will be entertained by Society #14. It was reported that Christ Home was chosen for the charity for the County. Definite plans were made for the Yard Sale to be held by Society #20 at the president's home in Strasburg and all were encouraged to participate in some way.

The July meeting will be at the home of Vera Herr with Freda Wimer, Anna Mary Groff, and Kathleen Keen as hostesses.

Berks Society 3

Group #3 of the Berks County Society of Farm Women held its May meeting at the home of Diane Eddy, Willow Road, Boyertown. Nine members responded to the roll call question, "What is your favorite flower?"

Thank you notes were received from Boyertown Multi-Service and the March of Dimes for recent donations.

Two members from Group 3 attended the Spring Rally in Hagerstown Maryland, on May 26.

Tickets were distributed for the Quilt Raffle sponsored by the Berks County Society of Farm Women. The drawing will take place at the County Convention on October 2 at the Ag Center.

The next meeting will be a tour of the peanut butter factory in Conshohocken followed by a picnic lunch. Families of members are invited to participate.

Berks Society 4

Six members of Berks County Society of Farm Women Group 4 met in the Boyertown home of Elsie Rothenberger.

President Mary Fizz reported on the State and County board meetings also on the Spring Rally.

A pound auction was held during the social hour.

The next meeting on July 6, will be at the Boyertown RD #1 home of Marguerite Rush with a come as you are party on the agenda.

Twin Valley FFA Dominates Envirothon

Envirothon teams from the Twin Valley FFA dominated competition in the Berks County Envirothon contest held recently at Nolde Environmental Education Center.

For the sixth year, a Twin Valley Team finished in first place. Led by captain Ned Gardner, the Twin Valley green and white team won over strong competition from Kutztown, Oley Valley, and Hamburg teams as well as the Twin Valley green and yellow team.

Other green and white team members were Heather Dougherty, Megan MacBride, Tara Plewa, and Jason Hess. Members of the green and yellow team were captain Missy Tyson, Ryan Marshall, Chad Steffy, Natalie Beckwith, and Becky Duncan. Ronald Frederick coaches the senior high teams.

Twin Valley was also represented by middle school teams of Kevin Bezler, Josh Lawrey, Chrissy Moyer, Alyssa Taylor, Anne Roberts, Chad Weaver, Don Wolf, Tim Nagle, Amanda Amoras, and Becky Gardner. James Lawrey coaches the middle school team.

Run by the Berks County Conservation District, the Envirothon features competition in forestry, wildlife, aquatics, soils, and the special topic this year, pesticides. The Twin Valley team represents Berks County in the state contest at Pine Grove Furnace State Park in Cumberland County on June 19.

Ordinance Reform Brings Wildflowers

NEWARK, DE — Wildflower meadows as a landscape alternative help to conserve limited groundwater resources. Until last fall, a New Castle County ordinance banned the growth of weeds and grasses above 8 inches. The ban also prohibited homeowners from growing "environmentally invasive plants" including wildflowers.

The New Castle County Coucil (NCCC) has since amended the law and wildflower meadows are now permitted. University of Delaware landscape design professor W. Gary Smithy was instrumental in helping to rework the weed ordinance. He assisted NCCC lawyer Julianne Hammond in rewriting the ordinance, in defining a wildflower meadow and in citing the environmental benefits of rescinding the wildflower restriction.

Smith says wildflower meadows are drought-tolerant. They conserve existing water resources by using much less water than groomed lawns require. Wildflowers help to protect groundwater quality because they don't need fertilizer and pesticide treatments. These meadows also help in the percolation of rainwater, thus increasing the groundwater recharge potential of the land.

"When you consider the number and rate of new residences being built in this county and then factor in the number of new lawns, " Smith says, "it's clear that allowing wildflower meadows as an alternative to mowed turf will have a major impact on the local environment."

LEMON CHEESECAKE

16-ounces creamcheese
1 large box lemon Jell-O
1½ cups sugar
2 cups boiling water
8-ounces whipped cream
Crust:
2 packs graham crackers
¼ cup butter, melted

Dissolve Jell-O in boiling water; add sugar and creamcheese. Beat or mix in blender. Chill until it begins to jell and fold in whipped cream.

Mix together graham crackers and butter and press in bottom of 9x13-inch pan. Reserve ½ cup crumbs and sprinkle on top of cheesecake. Pour mixture into pan and top with reserved crumbs. Chill until ready to use.

My husband and I own a small farm and raised five children. They are all grown up and married and have families of their own. We raise beef cattle and a few hogs.

ICE CREAM SANDWICHES

3 eggs, separated
½ cup sugar
1 cup cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
Graham crackers

Beat egg whites until stiff. Add vanilla. In another bowl, beat egg yolks until light, add sugar and beat well. In another bowl, whip cream. Mix together ingredients. Line 9x9-inch pan with whole graham crackers. Pour filling onto the crackers. Cover filling with more whole graham crackers. Freeze.

CHERRY PUDDING

Mix:
1 cup sugar
¼ cup butter
2 eggs, well beaten
1 cup milk
2½ cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
⅔ cup sour cherries

Stir cherries into flour mixture, can also use raspberries or blueberries. Bake at 375 degrees for 25 minutes.

My hobbies and interests are baking, reading, walking, flowers, horses, and raising parakeets.

CUSTARD MY WAY

1 quart milk or cream
2 eggs
3 tablespoons sugar
Nutmeg

Beat eggs and sugar. Add milk and stir. Pour into 9x5x3-inch dish. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Bake at 300 degrees for 30 to 40 minutes or until set. (Do not boil).

My father likes everything with lots of sugar; Mother likes the custard with eggs and bread; Grandma and Grandpa like it with bread and currants or with rice and raisins. My man will eat it any way; one little one likes it hot; the other little one will drink it raw or likes it cold.

Some of the family members were Quaker farmers in Pa. Today most of us are California ranchers. With all the nonfarming people moving into the area and the fierce politics, farming is becoming more complicated each day; and water is like liquid gold.

As long as we have each other, our health and faith, we have nothing of which to complain. Any day that one can get out of bed and walk is a good day.

We all enjoy the articles in Lancaster Farming.

VANILLA ICE CREAM

2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
3 cups milk
2 cups sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
5 eggs
1½ quarts light cream
3¾ -ounce package instant vanilla pudding mix
5 teaspoons vanilla

Soften gelatin in half cup cold milk. Scald 1½ cups milk and stir in gelatin mixture until it dissolves. Add sugar and salt, stirring until dissolved. Add remaining 1 cup milk. Beat eggs at high speed of electric mixer for 5 minutes. Add light cream, pudding, vanilla, and gelatine mixture. Pour into 1 gallon ice cream freezer container. Freeze according to manufacturer's directions. (This ice cream is plenty rich so I make it in a 6-quart freezer and add a bit more milk).

I live on a dairy farm. I have six brothers and one sister, Laverne, 12; Elam Ray, 9; Galen, 8; Joanne, 6; Steven, 4; Kenneth, 3; James, 5 months.

My parents are Alvin and Alta Nolt. I love ice cream I don't care what kind it is. Today, May 19, our school let out. Now, I'm in sixth grade.

WAVERLY CRACKERS

1 pound box Waverly or Club crackers
1 cup butter, softened
1 cup light brown sugar
¾ cup nuts, chopped

Cream butter and brown sugar. Spread mixture on crackers and place on an ungreased jelly roll pan. Sprinkle with nuts. Bake at 325 degrees for 10 minutes. Makes two pans.

They're great with a glass of milk! This quick and easy recipe is great to have on hand when last minute guests arrive and you have no refreshments prepared. It's a sure crowd pleaser and everyone will think that you slaved over the hot stove all day.

HOT DOG SUPRISE

2 cups chopped hot dogs
2 cups chopped ham
½ cup grated cheese
2 hard-boiled eggs
2 tablespoons pickle relish
1 teaspoon chopped onion
3 tablespoons ketchup
1 teaspoon mustard
3 tablespoons mayonnaise (optional)

Mix all ingredients together. Put in buns. Wrap in foil and bake at 350 degrees for 12 minutes.

VEGGIE CHICKEN CASSEROLE

1 cup light sour cream
⅓ cup milk
⅓ cup grated low-moisture mozzarella cheese
1 teaspoon light soy sauce
1 teaspoon paprika
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ cup dry bread crumbs
9-ounces frozen peas and carrots
¾ cup frozen small onions
4-ounce can sliced mushrooms
2 tablespoons butter
1½ pounds boneless, skinless chicken breasts
Salt and pepper, to taste
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 tablespoon parsley flakes
Paprika

Blend together the first six ingredients and set aside.

Grease a 2-quart baking dish. Spread bread crumbs over bottom of dish and set aside.

Cook peas, carrots, and onions in small amount of water until tender. Add drained mushrooms to cooked vegetables to heat mushrooms.

Cut chicken into bite-sized pieces. In fry pan, melt butter. Add chicken pieces in one layer and cook for 4 minutes. Turn pieces and cook 4 minutes more until tender. Turn heat on low. Add drained, cooked vegetables to chicken. Pour cheese mixture over vegetables and chicken. Stir lightly to coat. Pour into prepared baking dish. Sprinkle with parmesan, cheese, and paprika. Garnish with parsley flakes. Broil until lightly browned and bubbly. Serves 4 to 6.

CORN CHOWDER

1 cup diced potatoes
2 cups whole corn
2 cups milk
6 slices bacon
3 tablespoons onion, chopped
1 tablespoon parsley
1 tablespoon cornstarch
Salt
Dash pepper

Cook corn and potatoes until soft. Dice bacon and fry. Add onion and fry until soft. Drain off grease. Add to corn and potatoes. Add milk, parsley, and seasonings. Heat until hot. Add a little milk to cornstarch and stir in. Heat to boiling and serve. Serves 4.

Our family likes Melba toast with soup. Lightly spread slices of bread with butter, lay slices on cookie sheet and cut in 5 strips. Bake at 300 degrees until lightly brown and crisp. Store in airtight container.

40- TO 60-HP JOHN DEERE SPIRIT TRACTORS

These tractors pack a lot of value

Mowing, hauling, disking, loading, baling. You can't beat the value – or the versatility – of John Deere 5200, 5300, and 5400 Spirit Tractors.

Value starts with efficient engine design. The wet-sleeve 3-cylinder diesels deliver 40 to 60 hp with fuel-thrifty, dependable performance.

And unlike other tractors in this horsepower class, you get full rated horsepower at the standard 540-rpm PTO speed. You can pull balers and other PTO implements without worrying about your tractor bucking or stalling.
Need top traction in tough going? Add MFWD for extra pull and tight-turning maneuverability.

Spirit tractors also have the highest standard hydraulic capacity in their class...to help you lift more, faster. And for fast, smooth shifting, choose the optional top-shaft-synchronized (TSS) transmission.

Improved shuttle-shift capability makes it perfect for loader work.

Of course an important part of any value is the price. So visit your John Deere dealer and find out how little it takes for you to own a 40-hp 5200, 50-hp 5300, or 60-hp 5400 Spirit Tractor.

DIP FOR RAW VEGETABLES

8-ounces sour cream
1 cup mayonnaise
1½ teaspoon grated onion
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon dry mustard
Chopped chives, to taste
1 teaspoon horseradish
Garlic salt, to taste
¼ -½ teaspoon lemon pepper seasoning

Combine all ingredients. Chill several hours or overnight. Serve with raw vegetables. Yields: 2 cups.

We live on a 95-acre farm. We rent out to a neighbor farmer. We put out a large vegetable garden. We have two children that are married, Nelson Eckstine and Mary Emswiler, and one grandson, Christopher Eckstine, 6. He is his grandpap's shadow as he follows him around the farm asking all kinds of questions. He loves the old-time tractors and thrashing machines and antique farm tractors that his grandpap, dad, and Uncle Lloyd collect. They belong to antique tractor clubs and take their tractors and thrashing machines to different shows in Pennsylvania and Maryland.

PICKLE ROLL-EM-UPS

12 slices baked or boiled ham
8-ounce container soft cream cheese
6 large or medium-sized Claussen fresh kosher dill pickles
Layer 2 slices ham (making 6 stacks).

Spread each top ham slice with cream cheese, using the 8 ounces, divided equally on the 6 slices.

Roll ham slices around whole pickle, press edges to seal.

Cover; refrigerate one hour. Cut each piece into 6 slices.

Serve with assorted vegetable dippers, cheese and olives. Makes 3 dozen.

Prep time: 10 minutes plus refrigerating.

My husband Sam and I are married for 40 years. Together we own a farm in West Hanover Township. We also have a small business in which we offer horse-back riding to the public. We raise our own horses and retire the older ones to the pasture on the farm. The farm is also used to provide hay, oats, and straw needed for our 29-horse family. Because our daughters, Cathy and Tammy, are grown, we call our horses, dogs, and cats our second family. The farm is an important part of our lives today.

MASHED POTATO CASSEROLE

5 pounds potatoes
6 ounces cream cheese
1 cup dairy sour cream
2 teaspoons onion salt
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter
Milk, as desired

Mash potatoes. Add milk until potatoes reach the consistency desired. Add remaining ingredients. Bake at 325 degrees for 20 minutes or until heated thoroughly.

This casserole is a good one to put in a crock pot on low before going to church for Sunday dinner.

I am a 17-year-old farm girl. We live on a dairy farm. I used to help a lot with cows. Now I have jobs away from home and I'm not home very much. I do miss the cows. I enjoy the jobs I do have though. One job is working at a greenhouse and the other one is helping a mother with her handicapped son and housework.

My brothers are good helpers on the farm. With our family of 11, we can use a gallon of milk a day. We enjoy puddings and other foods that get milk.

We're hoping for a prosperous 1993. I wish the same for all of you. Have a safe and enjoyable summer.

SOFT RAISIN COOKIES

1 cup butter, softened
¾ cup brown sugar
½ cup granulated sugar
2 eggs
1½ teaspoons vanilla
3 cups flour
½ cup wheat germ
1½ teaspoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ cup milk
½ cup raisins

In large mixing bowl, cream together butter, sugars, eggs, and vanilla. Add combined dry ingredients alternately with milk, mixing well after each addition, stir in raisins. Drop dough by teaspoonful onto ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven for 10 to 12 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove from cookie sheet. Cool. Makes 7 dozen.

BLUEBERRY CREAM MUFFINS

4 eggs
2 cups sugar
1 cup vegetable oil
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
4 cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
2 teaspoons baking powder
2 cups sour cream
2 cups blueberries

In a mixing bowl, beat eggs. Gradually add sugar. While beating, slowly pour in oil; add vanilla. Combine dry ingredients; add alternately with sour cream to the egg mixture. Gently fold in blueberries. Spoon into greased muffin tins. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 minutes. Yield: 36 muffins.

Our family of 7 boys enjoy these muffins with scrambled eggs for breakfast. We live on a dairy farm and appreciate our boys' help. It's a great way to raise a family. Our oldest son, 17, is working for someone else on a farm.

I enjoy cooking and baking. We also have a big garden and work together at that.

LASAGNE

1 pound sausage
1 clove garlic
1 small onion
1½ teaspoon salt
1 pint tomatoes
12-ounces tomato paste
1 cup water
10-ounces lasagne noodles
2 eggs
3 cups cottage or Ricotta cheese
½ cup Parmesan cheese
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
1 pound mozarella cheese, shredded

Brown meat slowly; spoon off excess fat. Add garlic, onion, salt, tomatoes, tomato paste and water. Simmer uncovered 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cook lasagne noodles in salted water until tender; drain; rinse. Beat eggs, add remaining ingredients — except mozarella. (You may substitute a 32-ounce jar spaghetti sauce for the sauce mixture and do not simmer at all).

Put a little sauce in bottom of 13x9x2-inch pan. Layer half the noodles; spread with half the egg mixture; add about half the mozarella and half the sauce. Repeat all layers.

Add extra mozarella and paremesan cheese on top, as desired.

SOUR CREAM CRESCENT ROLLS

½ cup butter
8-ounces commercial sour cream
½ cup sugar
2 packages dry yeast
½ cup warm water
2 eggs, beaten
4 cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
Butter, melted

Place one-half cup butter in saucepan and bring to a boil. Remove from heat; stir in sour cream and sugar. Cool mixture to 105 to 115 degrees. Dissolve yeast in warm water in large bowl; let yeast mixture stand 5 minutes. Stir in sour cream mixture and eggs. Combine flour and salt; gradually add flour mixture to yeast mixture; mixing well. Cover and refrigerate at least 8 hours or overnight. Punch down dough and divide into 4 equal parts. Roll each into a 10-inch circle on floured surface and brush with melted butter. Cut each circle into 12 wedges; roll up each wedge, beginning at wide end. Place on greased baking sheets, point side down. Cover and let rise in warm place, free from drafts 1 hour or until double in bulk. Bake 375 degrees for 10 to 12 minutes or until golden brown.

My husband Louis and I live on a farm in Queen Anne's County, Md. We have four married children — two sons and two daughters, and six grandchildren.

We grow wheat, barley, corn, and soybeans. Along with our two sons, we have a dairy operation, presently milking 150 cows.

I am also a school bus contractor for our county. Enjoy cooking, crafts, and traveling.

PUBLIC AUCTION
56 ACRE YORK COUNTY THOROUGHBRED TRAINING FACILITY
Located RD 1 Broadbecks, PA, Codorus Township

July 24, 1993
11:00 A.M.

Imagine yourself relaxing on your deck overlooking a stocked pond as weeping willows blow in the breeze. Beyond the split rail fence the horses quietly graze the rolling pastures of lush grass.

Your imagination can become reality at this auction. The seller, a licensed thoroughbred trainer desiring to downscale her operation is offering at auction this 56 acre farm. 26 acres are in fenced pasture and the farm is in move in condition. The home is a 2½ story farmhouse covered in vinyl siding and is just the right size for the large family or a family that entertains overnight guests. There is even an elevator for those having trouble with steps.

The Training Arena is 58'x132' with a one bedroom efficiency apartment therein with utilities. A 30'x60' bank barn with stalls & lots of hay storage. There are corn barns, wagon sheds, Stallion Pens and more. The pastures are divided into paddocks.

The property is idealy secluded, not a neighbor insight yet you are only minutes from Hunt Valley and York. If you are looking for a farm for horses, cattle or just plain country living you should preview this farm. Its a wonderful setting. It is entered in clean & green for lower taxes. From Maryland follow 83 North to Middletown Rd. Continue North to Rt. 851 West to Stock intersection. Go straight to Watertank Rd. T.L. to property on right. Follow the long lane through the woods to the farm.

Terms: 10% Day of Auction. Balance in 60 Days.

The Feeds That Work Overtime

One of the most important parts of a cow's lactation cycle is the dry period, which can be broken down into two phases. The first phase generally continues for the first four to six weeks, and the second phase occurs during the last two weeks of pregnancy. Special management and feeding practices are needed during these phases, so that your cows will receive the necessary amount of nutrients and vitamins. Master Mix® Dry Cow Feeds are known for their consistency and long-lasting quality during the dry period. That's why we're offering you this special deal, so you can see for yourself just how well our dry cow feeds work overtime.

IS COOPERATIVE EXTENSION STILL NEEDED?

Kenneth B. Kephart
Associate Professor

Kenneth B. Kephart

• A company decides to market a vitamin-mineral premix on the basis that the limestone it contains is mined in the Midwest, and therefore of better quality than that found in Pennsylvania. A concerned farmer contacts extension to see if there is any truth to the claim of improved quality.

• A rural resident files suit against a neighboring hog farmer, claiming noxious odors rendered his property virtually uninhabitable and reduced its market value. The farmer's defense is the "Right to Farm Law," which prevents nuisance action as long as the operation is normal, and no complaints have occurred for one year. Since extension is in the best position to decide whether or not the operation is normal, the court seeks its opinion.

• A moderately sized packing company considers an investment involving tens of thousands of dollars. The investment is for an optical probe that will measure fat and muscle in pork carcasses so they can be priced fairly and competitively. Each manufacturer of available optical probes claims its product is the best. During a period of several years, decisions made on which optical probe to purchase and the nature of the payment schedule for producers will involve millions of dollars. The packer contacts extension to seek objective advice.

• A swine producer files a claim against a power company for production losses due to stray voltage. When the two parties disagree on the circumstances of the stray voltage problem and the nature of the losses, extension is called for assistance.

These scenarios probably bear little resemblance to the concepts of the Smith Lever Act, the 1914 Congressional mandate which formed the Cooperative Extension Service. The routines of early extension workers were vital in getting the latest technology of the industrial age to our country's rural population. Cultivation and fertilization techniques, principles of animal breeding, food preservation — in a sense, the needs of today are similar to those in 1914. But our current needs exist on a different level, and today a different approach is necessary.

Today, in addition to extension, many more companies, agencies, and institutions provide information to the public. For example, a dairy farmer is bombarded with information from commercial publications, feed companies, veterinarians, private consultants, pharmaceutical companies, dairy cooperatives, and computer databases. This raises the obvious question, "Is extension still needed?"

Extension's Strengths

The mission of extension (redefined in March 1991) states: The Cooperative Extension System helps people improve their lives through an educational process that uses scientific knowledge focused on issues and needs.

Yes, we're in the education business that serves farmers, homeowners, township supervisors, youth, even the senior population. But to remain effective, our information must be accurate and impartial.

Unlike a company that markets feed, buildings, or pharmaceuticals, extension has no vested interest. And so we truly have the edge on impartiality. With this impartiality, we have contact with youth through 4-H and undergraduate education. Teaching young people to consider all the facts and to think critically is an important goal that applies throughout life in any business. We build on that impartiality by conducting research — adding not only to our own knowledge base, but that of the companies and agencies that also provide information to the public.

Weaknesses

Extension is sometimes criticized for being too bureaucratic and generalized, criticism that may be valid to some extent. Large, innovative farmers tend to skip extension when seeking advice.

For example, the top 20 percent of swine producers using the Pig Improvement Company records system (Pigtales) was recently asked to identify their primary source of advice. Of 57 producers responding, 24 listed a veterinarian as their primary source of advice. Genetics companies, feed companies, and private consultants followed. Only one farmer listed extension at the top of sources of advice.

Because extensions funding base is limited largely to a shrinking base of public funding and grant support, county- and university-based staffs are dwindling. Yet we strive to meet all the needs that we did in the past. This spreads the extension staff thin and hampers specialization.

Changing With The Times

Changes are already occurring. For example, the nature of faculty appointments is much different today than it was even 15 years ago. At that time, many universities hired faculty to teach and do research, and other faculty to conduct extension programming. Today, teaching, research, and extension faculty in general are no longer separated. This improves interaction and collaboration, which keeps all faculty in touch with the realities of research programs needed to address real-life problems outside the university.

For example, all faculty members hired in the last five years in Penn States College of Agricultural Sciences have split appointments. Responsibility is divided among teaching, research, or extension. Most faculty working in extension are also expected to conduct research. There is little question that teaching (in the classroom or in the field) increases proficiency in a particular subject area. But it's also true that the real experts in a given area are those doing research. Clearly, research activity by both university- and county-based personnel should continue to increase.

On a county basis, Penn State has met the generalization dilemma, in part, by appointing agents with multicounty status — one agent in a county develops expertise in dairy cattle while an agent in a neighboring county conducts the livestock program. Although minor funding difficulties sometimes occur, and farmers may lose some accessibility, the public generally is better served by the same number of people.

Another idea that's occasionally mentioned is charging for services. This would help identify programs most important to the public and would relieve the funding crunch. We certainly would become more sensitive to public needs. We currently charge for some publications and workshops, but we seldom charge for one-on-one services. Such sessions may seem inefficient, but they are, by far, the most effective. That means making a farm visit to examine annual budgets or facility design would be time for which a farmer might willingly pay. However, some who truly need the service may not be able to afford it.

Summary

The strength of the Cooperative Extension Service lies in its ability to provide impartial information. Commitments to research at both county and university levels will ensure that extension personnel remain experts in their respective fields.

Considerations of charging for services may be one way to avoid funding shortfalls, while at the same time identifying programs in greatest demand.

DEAD PIG COMPOSTING

Success stories are mounting for composting dead pigs. Recipes differ, composting areas vary from one farm to another, but all operations use the same concept — the aerobic decomposition of organic material by microorganisms.

The Nature Of Composting

Because many aspects of composting are inexact, the process can occur over a wide range of conditions and with many materials.

For optimum composting, there should be 20 to 40 times as much carbon as nitrogen. Moisture content should be 40 to 65 percent. Particle size should be ⅛ to ½ inches in diameter. The pH of the mix should lie between 5.5 and 9.0, and there should be at least 5 percent oxygen in the pile.

Let's assume we're planning to compost a 120-pound swine carcass. A rough estimate of the carbon:nitrogen ratio for a pig that size is about 9. That's too low, so we'll have to add carbon. The carbon source isn't critical, although the texture will influence the composting process. Sawdust seems to be the material of choice because it has a small particle size, it's absorbent, handles easily, and has a high carbon content.

Charles Fulhage, extension ag engineer at the University of Missouri, recommends about 100 cubic feet of sawdust for every 1,000 pounds of carcasses. On that basis, our 120-pound carcass will require 12 cubic feet of sawdust.

Poultry litter, straw, or straw-manure mixtures have also been used. The straw mixtures may require longer composting times, but are otherwise satisfactory.

The moisture content for most hogs is about 60 percent, which is high for optimum composting. The carbon source will often bring the water content into the correct range, but if very dry material is added as a carbon source, up to .5 pounds of water must be added for every pound of carcass.

The pH of a live hog is about 7, but quickly drops following death. However, no adjustments need be made to ensure proper composting.

The concentration of oxygen is the mixture is important. When the material is first put into the compost area, air is naturally trapped in the layers. Microorganisms quickly use the available oxygen, and settling of the contents also expels the entrapped air.

Unless the pile is turned or air is otherwise injected, the aerobic process slows. In an operation where frequent turning is not practical, the use of a small-particle carbon source, such as sawdust, may be a disadvantage.

Straw, on the other hand, is more difficult to pack, and therefore may be the best choice if the pile is left undisturbed.

Systems That Have Worked

1. Composting bins made of large round bales. The May 15, 1993 issue of National Hog Farmer features a sketch of compost bins made of large round bales set end-to-end. Each compost bin is three-sided, with four bales making up the back wall, and three bales comprising each of the side walls. Two bins are needed (primary and secondary). For a 100-sow herd, the total area required in the two bins is 125-150 square feet. Start with 1 foot of sawdust in the primary bin. Place the carcasses and cover with a foot of sawdust. Continue layering carcasses and sawdust until the bin is full. After three months, move the contents to the secondary bin. After another three months, the material will resemble humus, with very little odor. Some easily-crumbled bones will remain.

2. 8 by 8 bins, with ventilated sides. These three-sided bins are constructed with 2-inch by 8-inch boards. A ½ -inch to ¾ -inch gap is left between the boards for air flow. Concrete walls can surround the wooden bin, as long as a four-inch air space is allowed between the concrete and wooden panels. In a demonstration project at the University of Arkansas, researchers successfully composted large and small pigs in these bins. A straw-broiler litter-straw "sandwich" was added to begin the composting process in early September 1992. After 48 hours, pigs and carbon sources were added using the following formula:

Parts by weight
1 pound pig carcasses (each weighing less than 25 pounds)
1.5 pounds broiler litter.
1 pound wheat straw
Up to .5 pound water.

Carcasses were added to the bin in layers over a 23-day period, then completely covered with litter. On the 37th day, when temperature at the 10-inch depth started to decline, the stack was moved to a secondary bin. Temperatures at various depths in the mixture ranged from 122 to 144 degrees F during the demonstration. The pile was removed 80 days after the first pig was added, and 54 days after the last pig was added. The only remains were hoofs, and some mummified skin which crumbled easily. In a related project, a sow was cut into 25-pound pieces and composted in another bin. After 74 days, the sow was totally decomposed except for the largest pelvic bones, a few large ribs, the skull, and the hoofs. All bones were bare with no meat or skin attached.

3. Empty pens in an open-front hog building. In this demonstration at the University of Missouri, pens from an open front building measured approximately 6.5 feet by 9.5 feet. To each pen, the following materials were added: a layer of straw (about 5 pounds/square foot), a layer of dead pigs, followed by a dry manure-straw mixture, and another layer of straw equal to one half of the weight of dead pigs. The layers were repeated until a final depth of about 3 feet was reached. The pile was left undisturbed for about 70 days (beginning late spring and ending in early fall). Composting was complete with smaller pigs (only a brown spot remained); however, larger hogs and sows did not break down completely, apparently because the mixture got a little too dry. No rodents were observed, but when the mixture was loaded onto the spreader at the end, there were a lot of cockroaches.

Summary

Composting continues to look promising as a method of dead pig disposal. It should be noted that this process is not formally covered by law (Pennsylvania Act 317, passed in 1945). However, the Bureau of Animal Industry is rewriting the law to include composting. In the meantime it recognizes composting as an acceptable means of dead animal disposal as long as the process is conducted in a manner that is not offensive or a threat to biosecurity.

The rate and effectiveness of composting is maximized under ideal conditions of carbon:nitrogen ratio, moisture, and oxygen concentration. Fortunately, the process is forgiving enough that a wide range of conditions will support satisfactory composting.

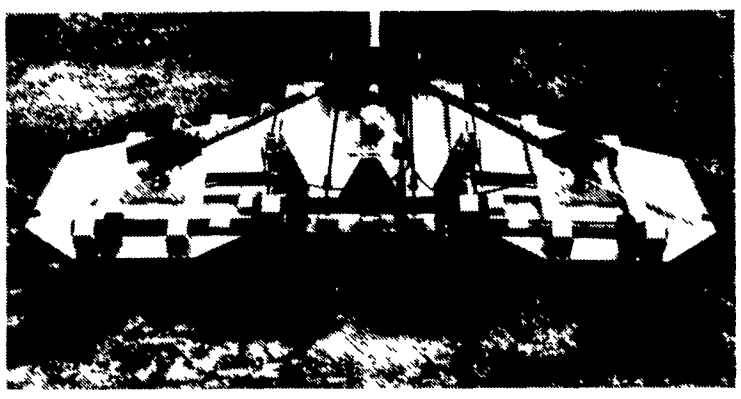
LAND PRIDE

15' ROTARY CUTTER



Land Pride 15' Rotary Cutter offers rugged dependability

Starting with a 10-gauge deck for the center section and wings, we've added effective reinforcement channels to each section for superior strength. With a mowing height ranging from 2" to 14", it can also handle material up to two inches thick. With two self-leveling rods from front to rear, mowing height can easily be maintained, as well as deck-flexing being held to a minimum.

If your cows are slipping and falling, it ain't my fault because I have a machine called a Scabbler that will fix that concrete so your cows won't keep slipping all the time.

We've got service all around this section of the country, and I have a fellow just jumping to do your job mighty fast.

And that ain't all, our prices are right reasonable, and if you're a tightwad we'll let you do the job yourself if you've got over 500 square feet. It can save you right smart a money.

So call me on my nickel at 800-692-0123. If I'm not by the phone, some real live person will take your number, and I'll try to get back to you real soon. Usually somebody is awake in this outfit, so you just call any time day or night. But, please mind the Lord, and don't call on Sunday.

Just one more thing. We fellows make our living doing this kind of work, and we've got children to feed and bills. That's our side of it, but you've got such things too. A lot of people tell us that this Scabbling saves a whole lot more than it costs. So go ahead and do it. It'll put shoes on everybody's feet.

Be looking to hear from you folks right soon.

CONSUMERS SAY CHICKEN FITS BOTH HEALTHY EATING AND BUDGET PLANS

William D. Weaver, Jr.
Dept. Of
Poultry Science

The National Broiler Council has recently completed (Spring 1993) a survey to assess consumer desires and opinions as they relate to the purchase and use of poultry and poultry products.

The survey was conducted by a commercial market research firm and included a demographically balanced group of 1,004 households, consisting of 522 female and 482 male adults. Highlights from the survey are:

• About 63 percent of the survey respondents ranked chicken first in nutritional value, beef was second with 27 percent, and pork third with 7 percent. Chicken's current high rating for good nutrition stands in contrast to a consumer survey conducted by the National Broiler Council in 1974. At that time, consumers gave beef the higher ranking for nutritional value with chicken second and pork third.

• Consumers were asked about their preferences for various meats when dining away from home, excluding fast food. Survey respondents were permitted to mention three meats when answering the dining out question. When the three mentions are grouped together, there is no statistical difference between seafood/fish, chicken, or beef. These three foods received mentions by approximately three-fourths of the consumers.

• Consumers were asked about the frequency of serving chicken when eating at home. The largest percentage, 37 percent, reported serving chicken at home "two or three times per week," and 31 percent said "about once a week." Eight percent said "four or more times per week." This level of usage means 76 percent reported serving chicken at least once per week. Frequency of serving chicken at home in 1993 was compared with results from the National Broiler Council's previous survey of 1983. Chicken is now served much more frequently at home compared to 1983. Consumers were also asked about their frequency of eating chicken when dining out. About 83 percent of Americans eat chicken when dining out. Breaking this 83 percent into certain smaller groups, the survey found almost 22 percent report eating chicken away from home two or three times per month followed by 20 percent of consumers who report "about once per week." Another 18 percent said they eat chicken away from home "about once per month" and 17 percent of the respondents said they "rarely or never" eat chicken when dining out.

When asked about reasons for buying chicken, consumers said they eat chicken for its nutritional qualities (highest score), but economy, versatility, taste, and convenience were all somewhat grouped together in second place. Specifically, "more healthy" is given as the first reason by 24 percent of respondents, "it's more economical" by 16 percent, "low in fat" by 15 percent, and "tastes better" by 14 percent.

Comparing NBC's 1993 survey to previous NBC surveys, it was found that in the 1983 survey, "economical to serve," was the primary motivation for purchasing chicken, followed by "tastes good." Nutrition, versatility, and convenience were lower in ranking. But in NBC's 1991 survey, "nutritious" had moved up to equal "economical," while "low in fat content" was a mid- to lower reason.

Survey respondents were asked "when you are looking to find meal ideas in newspapers or magazines, what chicken recipes would you prefer to see more often?" In response, 46 percent said, as their first response, they would like to see more recipes for "boneless/skinless breasts" and more than 17 percent gave as their first response "breasts with skin on/bone in."

Survey results confirm that American consumers continue to have very positive attitudes toward eating chicken and are increasing their preference for and consumption of chicken products. Survey results also confirm that nutritional considerations are becoming important reasons for buying chicken and that consumers have very definite preferences for certain parts of the chicken and for certain further processed chicken products.

Highly Erodible Land, Wetland Rules Enforced

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) — Richard Troutman, chairman of the Berks County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) said farm program participants must know whether their land is highly erodible or a wetland, and must comply with the highly erodible land and wetland conservation provisions to be eligible for payments and any other USDA program benefits.

Troutman said producers will lose program benefits if they plant an agricultural crop on highly erodible land without using an approved conservation system, if they plant agricultural commodities on wetlands converted after December 23, 1985, or if they convert a wetland to make agricultural production possible after November 28, 1990.

"The highly erodible land and wetland restrictions apply to all farm program participants and they will be enforced," Troutman said. Once a crop is planted in noncompliance of the highly erodible land or wetland requirements, Troutman said it is too late. The producer will be considered ineligible for 1993 benefits.

Beginning January 1, 1995, all conservation systems must be fully applied on highly erodible land for a producer to earn program benefits.

Producers who still need determinations on whether their land that will be planted to an annually tilled crop, or designated as conservation uses or acreage conservation reserve, is highly erodible or a wetland, should contact our office or the Berks County Soil Conservation Service as soon as possible.

The new MF Dynashift powershift transmission, designed to deliver more useable power to the PTO and wheels, is available for all Massey Ferguson tractors from 100 to 170 PTO horsepower. MF 3140 tractor (115 PTO hp) is shown.

Powershift Transmission Available

NORCROSS, Ga. — Massey Ferguson's new Dynashift powershift transmission is available for the MF 3120 (100 PTO hp) and MF 3140 (115 PTO hp) tractors.

With these additions, the Dynashift powershift transmission is available for all Massey Ferguson tractors from 100 to 170 PTO horsepower.

The MF Dynashift transmission offers the unique combination of a 4-speed powershift in each of 8 synchronized gears plus a synchronized forward/reverse shuttle. The operator has 32 forward and 32 reverse gears for unmatched flexibility in choosing a gear to match varying field conditions.

The MF Dynashift also includes "close ratio" steps of only 17-percent, allowing the operator to react to relatively small load changes for maximum efficiency at all times.

The MF 3120 and MF 3140 tractors feature the Perkins 1000 Series diesel engine with exclusive Quadram power for improved fuel economy, increased torque, longer life, and quieter operation.

The Quadram-powered engine burns a higher proportion of fuel in the engine power stroke, resulting in less mechanical stress on block, piston, crankshaft, and head gaskets.

Other advanced design features in these tractors include a gear-driven water pump, a helically cut gear train for precise timing of fuel pump and camshaft, and an integral oil cooler. A new three-point hitch designs allows the operator to change the geometry of the hitch lift, travel, and capacity.

The MF 3120 and MF 3140 are also available with Autotronic or Dalatronic operating systems and electronic draft control.

Farm Credit Announces Election Results

YORK (York Co.) — Jay V. Rush, president of York Farm Credit, ACA announced the 1993 director election results.

Three positions were filled for three-year terms. Dale R. King of York Springs, Adams County, and Kenneth C. Ketterer of Newville, Cumberland County, were re-elected.

Duane L. Hertzler of Loysville, Perry County, was elected to his first term. John D. Cope of York County was elected to fill a one-year term.

King manages a poultry and grain operation consisting of 106,000 layers and 222,000 broilers. He has served on the York Farm Credit board of directors for the past three years. King's activities include PFA (Adams County Farmers Association Board), Latimore Township (chairman of Supervisors), Bermudian Springs York Farmers, Pennsylvania Poultry Federation, and Pennsylvania State Grange. He is also a member of the Agway Cooperative.

Ketterer handles a hog finishing, beef-cow/calf and feeding, fresh vegetables and hay operation, Bourbon Springs Farm, consisting of 150 acres owned and 135 rented. He has served on the York Farm Credit board of directors for the past three years and serves as vice chairman of this board. Ketterer's activities include Upper Mifflin Ag Security Advisory Committee, Cumberland County Cooperative Advisory Committee, ASCS (community/county committeeman and past chairman/vice chairman), Cumberland County Farmers Association (past director), Pennsylvania Farmers Association (Legislative Committee), Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers Association, South Central Pennsylvania Pork Producers (past director/president/vice president), Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association, South Central Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association (past director), and Penn State Stockmen's Club. He is also a member of the Cumberland Valley (past director), Agway, Adams Electric, and Atlantic Breeders cooperatives.

Duane L. Hertzler directs a dairy operation, Moo-Echo Farms, consisting of a total of 355 cows, heifers, and calves. His activities include the Perry County extension board (past member) and his local church. Hertzler is also a member of the Agway (past board member), Sire Power, Atlantic Dairy (delegate for Perry County), Atlantic Breeders, and Pennsylvania DHIA (past president of local board) cooperatives.

John D. Cope owns a 94-acre farm where he recently ran a 65-cow dairy operation with his son. He is also general manager of Ashcombe Farms, which previously operated and owned 550 acres and 1,000 head of Holsteins in York and Cumberland counties. Cope's activities include Mechanicsburg Area School Board (past president), Rotary Club of Mechanicsburg, Church Council of Bowmansdale Church of God (past president), University of Findlay, Ohio (past board of trustees), Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, Holstein Association of America (past board member and chairman — finance committee) Pennsylvania Holstein Association (past treasurer/president), and University of Pennsylvania Veterinary School (past board of overseers).

Rush also announced that as a result of the York Farm Credit, ACA board of directors meeting held recently, Lester E. Martin of Chambersburg, Franklin County, was elected chairman of the board, and Kenneth C. Ketterer of Newville, Cumberland County, was elected vice chairman.

Customer Service System Takes Shape

DEFOREST, Wis. — American Breeders Service (ABS) has announced the first phase of a new Customer Service System.

Effective June 1, this new ABS Customer Service includes customer accounting, cash, inventory and systems analysis, the customer service representative team, and information services.

Recognizing the interrelationship between all of these functions is vital to achieving high Representative and customer satisfaction, ABS has chosen to create this united customer service team to improve communications, solve customer problems, and simplify the systems in which ABS business is conducted.

With this development, Jim Weber has been promoted to vice president of customer service, and will be responsible for building the customer service disciplines and establishing the protocols necessary to provide on-time, accurate, courteous, and professional service to the ABS customers and representatives.

Additionally, Dwight Williams will serve as a customer service consultant to Jim Weber. In this responsibility, Williams will be a coordinator between the ABS field staff, the ABS representative force, and the ABS customers.

ABS has compiled the results of more than six months of intensive study and input from customers, ABS field representatives, sales managers, and employees. This implementation of the new system is an effort to achieve the ABS objective which makes customer service a high profile and functional area at ABS.

Producers Can Enter Corn Contest

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — County corn growers will again have the opportunity to participate this year in the Pennsylvania Five Acre Corn Club.

The Corn Club is sponsored by Penn State Cooperative Extension and The Pennsylvania Master Corn Growers Association. The Corn Club gives Pennsylvania corn producers an opportunity to compare production practices and yields with other corn growers. It also gives them an opportunity to develop a cost of production budget, which allows them to evaluate their cost of producing corn and how it compares to others in their region.

If you grow corn and are interested in improving your system, the corn club is for you. To enroll in the Corn Club, contact your county extension office by July 1. They can supply you with the necessary entry forms and regulations.

To enroll, you must be at least 18 years old and have a production field that is five acres or more that has had a soil test within the past two years. If the area is contoured, two or more strips planted to the same hybrid may be entered to obtain the minimum acreage.

Participants can enroll in only one of the five harvest class categories, which are shelled corn harvest, ear corn harvest, shelled corn 3 acre harvest sample, ear corn machine harvest sample, and corn silage.

For the 3-acre harvest sample, the yield check must be at least three acres and include round trips through the field.

Club members will receive a complete report of yields and production practices for all members enrolled statewide and, if requested, a detailed report of the actual costs of production they incurred on this particular field.

Last year, 135 corn growers took advantage of this program statewide and the top yields measured more than 200 bushels/acre.

For information on how to sign up for this year's corn club, contact your local county extension office.

ABS Names New Vice President

DEFOREST, Wis. — American Breeders Service (ABS) announced that Jim Weber has been promoted to vice president of customer service. This is a newly created position at ABS designed to enhance customer service.

In his new position, Weber is responsible for building the customer service disciplines and establishing the protocols necessary to provide on-time, accurate, courteous, and professional service to the ABS customers and representatives.

Weber joined ABS in August 1991 as controller for the finance department. Previously he served as controller with Farr Better Feeds located in Greeley, Colo.

Weber received his degree and MBA at the University of Northern Colorado.

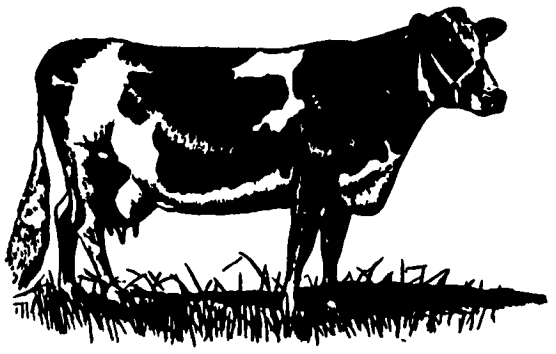
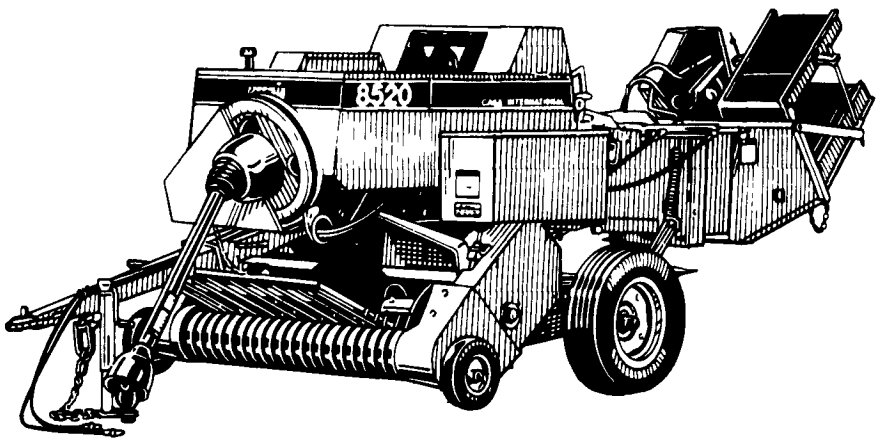
"Her" Choice





If Holsteins could talk, the conversation around the hay manger would be "Case IH Center Line Balers".

Why? More leaves per bale.

Our low profile pickup allows alfalfa hay to retain more dry leaves. We don't lift the windrow as high, saving leaves at the pickup. We also start to compress the hay before it enters the chamber to lock in leaves throughout the flake...leaves don't settle to the bottom and fall out the back of the baler to the degree of older style square balers.

More leaves means more milk, without increased overhead. Many studies show increased production of $1,000 per year over a milking herd of 100 with 2% leaf savings!

Case IH Center Line Balers...one of the quickest ways to increase milk production without adding cows. Improve your bottom line with improved leaf savings.

Long-Time Ag Teacher Retires

BETH MILLER
Cumberland Co.
Correspondent

SHIPPENSBURG (Franklin Co.) — Fred Dillner, who is retiring this year as an ag teacher for the Shippensburg School District, has some advice for today's young farmers.

"Today's farmer has to be better prepared," said Dillner. "Today's farmer is cutting a closer margin."

Dillner has spent the last 34 years helping young farmers learn to be better prepared. He has a lot to look back on as he ends the teaching career he started in 1959.

Dillner's time in farming goes back even farther than that, actually.

It dates back to his childhood on the small farm in Allegheny County, where his family lived and raised livestock and crops.

Farming also was on his mind when he attended Penn State University, where he earned his bachelor's and master's degrees.

His real love was working with the young adult farmer (YAF) programs at the Shippensburg High School, he said. That program, which presently has 62 members, was started in Shippensburg in 1948-1949. Shippensburg's program is the longest continually running YAF program in Pennsylvania.

Under Dillner's teaching, the program's evening classes provide discussion panels, updates on new technology, and on advances in crops and livestock. One of the most important things the program offers is on-site instruction, Dillner said.

Recently the YAF members and the local Future Farmers of America group showed their appreciation for Dillner's work by honoring him at a surprise banquet.

Dillner was grateful for that recognition, but he said he isn't ready yet to say good-bye to the YAF.

He said he plans to still be a volunteer for the group but noted that he no longer plans to be making decisions for its activities.

Dillner has managed to pass on a lot of knowledge during the years and he has seen a lot of changes in the farming industry.

He said the biggest change he has seen is the major advance in technology for the farmer, who now has larger, high-tech machinery, computers and sophisticated marketing programs, and new types of spraying programs that do the job but keep the environment safe.

Dillner said he definitely plans to keep busy in his retirement.

For the first year he said he plans to do more restoration work on the outside and inside of his home, which was built in 1754 and is on the State and the National Register of Historic Places.

He said he also plans to work on developing the gardens around his house.

Also, he said he plans to stay active in the community.

Dillner has always done that. For instance, he is treasurer of the Shippensburg Fair, a job he has held since 1959. During that time, he has seen the fair grow from a $30,000 - $40,000 event to a $300,000 one.

He and his wife, Rose, operate the Saturday morning farmer's market at the Shippensburg Fairgrounds, with the proceeds going back to the fair.

In addition, the Dillners are a leader co-op couple in the Co-Op Leader Educational Program that was started in Shippensburg in 1971. Dillner said he and Rose plan to continue that. He said they find it very rewarding bringing young farming couples together to teach them about cooperatives and their benefits.

The Dillners also have been instrumental in promoting the very successful Shippensburg Garden Tour.

With whatever time they have left, Dillner said he and his wife plan to travel through Pennsylvania on short trips to get to know the State.

He said he will always look back fondly on his career in teaching.

"I will miss it," Dillner said. "I have had a very rewarding career and have worked with a lot of good people."

Fred Dillner, a Shippensburg School District agriculture teacher, retires after 34 years of service.

Potato Diversion Program Authorized

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Mike Espy has announced the authorization of the Potato Diversion Program. The program will assist Round White Potato growers with oversupplies and low prices.

"The objective of the potato program is to encourage the domestic consumption of 1992 crop Fresh Irish Round White Potatoes by diverting them from normal channels of trade and commerce," said Paul Kline, chairman of the Lancaster County (ASC) Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. Payments will be issued to producers who divert potatoes that they produced by either donating them to charitable institutions, using them for livestock feed, or using them for compost purposes.

Eligible potatoes are all potatoes grown in Lancaster County except sweet potatoes, red potatoes, and russet. According to Kline, they must currently be in storage to qualify for program benefits, which is $3 per hundredweight.

Before diversion, the potatoes must be inspected by the Agricultural Marketing Service to certify the class, quantity, and condition of eligible potatoes.

Eligible producers must file an application in the Lancaster County ASCS Office as soon as possible, but no later than July 2. The method of disposal must be indicated on the application.

Ag Exhibits Increase At Pa. Fair

PHILADELPHIA — The Pennsylvania Fair was held at the Philadelphia Park Racetrack recently. A great increase in the number of competitive exhibits added a greater element of agriculture to the show. More than 275 exhibitors participated in the event.

Four large animal shows were conducted during the 12 days of the show. Youth, open-class beef, sheep, 4-H goats, and potbellied pigs were shown. Agriculture coordinator for the show was Beverly Gruber of New Tripoli.

Following are the results of the shows.

FAIR DAYS

The sound is country...the action is full speed...and the mood is fun! That's the Kempton Country Fair in a nutshell — a whole weekend filled with nonstop entertainment starting Friday evening, June 18, and continuing through Sunday, June 20.

Once again Kempton brings the best that the country music circuit has to offer, plus tractor pulls, off-road four wheel drive races, and all sorts of exciting activities that go with a summer fair.

And as always, new things have been added: a children's pedal tractor pull and a teeter-totter (balancing tractors on a see-saw), and on Friday, two additional modified stock classes in the tractor pulls.

Sally Starr's show, Popeye Theater, was a hallmark of the 1960s and early 1970s television. Starr brings her own brand of country music. The key performer for Saturday afternoon, Children's Day, Sal will be on stage at 3 p.m. and again at 5 p.m.

The top feature on Saturday evening will be Connie Smith, who will head the 7:15 p.m. and 10:15 p.m. shows.

Other events for the Kempton Country Fair include a 30-year celebration of tractor pulls. Beginning at 6 p.m., visitors can relax on the hillside while farm stock tractors grunt and groan in an effort to pull their loads. Contests will be held in the 5,500 to 7,500 pounds, 9,500 to 11,500 pounds, and 13,500 to 15,500 pound classes. Two modified stock classes have been added this year in the 8,000 and 10,000 pound groups.

Also, competitions have been arranged in the single wheel, 4 x 4 strictly stock pickups in the 6,200 pound class.

A rain date has been announced for Saturday at 4 p.m., if necessary.

Saturday, Children's Day, will be marked with reduced rides from 1 p.m. until 4 p.m., and a bicycle to be given to a lucky child at a 4 p.m. drawing. Reduced rates on amusement rides also will be honored Sunday from 1 p.m. until 4 p.m., plus a children's pedal tractor pull and a teeter-totter balance on a see-saw event at 1 p.m.

Sunday afternoon's big event will be the crowning of Miss Kempton Fair. Fifteen contestants have enrolled in this scholarship pageant that begins about noon with personal interviews prior to the on-stage performances. Shortly afterward, they will participate in a country-western theme production number, followed by casual and formal wear presentations and finally, a talent contest. At the close of an on-stage question quiered of each girl, the judges will formally announce Es Lieblischst Maedel, the fairest one.

More than 100 exhibitors will set up shop on the Kempton Community Center grounds. Inside the hall, visitors will see such items as aprons, smocked dresses, doll clothes, pole buildings, carvings, hot tubs, fudge, and all sorts of knick-knacks. Outside are food stands, ice cream booths, drinks and a flea market, make-up for kids, balloons, and automobiles and farm machinery displays. And The Pennsylvania Dairy Queen offers ice cream and shakes at her stand.

YORK FAIR

Classic country singer George Jones will be singing at the York Fair "Grandstand of Stars" on Friday, September 10, opening day of this year's York Fair.

Jones has been acclaimed worldwide. His award-winning performance of "He Stopped Loving Her Today" was voted by readers of Country America Magazine as the No. 1 country song of all time. Formal recognition came to him in October 1992, when he was inducted into the Country Music Hall of Fame.

Tickets for this concert are on sale for $16 for track and plaza, $14 for center grandstand, and $12 for grandstand sides. The fair accepts checks and money orders, as well as VISA, Mastercard, and Discover credit cards. Include a $1.50 per ticket handling charge and a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your mail order to York Fair Grandstand Tickets, 334 Carlisle Avenue, York, PA 17404. Phone orders are also accepted at (717) 848-2033.

In addition, the Grandstand ticket windows on Carlisle Avenue are open weekdays from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

ANIMAL HOUSING EXPO!

Mark July 13 and 14 on your calendar now, as a reminder to attend Penn State's Animal Housing Expo at the Lebanon Fairgrounds. If you are a producer of pork, poultry, beef, or dairy products, a trip to this showcase of animal housing ideas, products, and tips may provide the direction you need in planning for building, expansion, or remodeling on your farm operation.

The show will feature nearly 40 commercial exhibitors, expert speakers, educational displays, demonstrations, and new products. The expo will focus on proven, state-of-the-art housing systems, ventilation methods, safe animal handling, environmental concerns, and production efficiency.

Of particular interest to cattle and swine producers will be the talk, "Successful Animal Handling Techniques" by Dr. Temple Grandin on July 13. Grandin, assistant professor in the animal science department at Colorado State University, also owns Grandin Livestock Handling Systems. As an independent livestock handling consultant, she has designed facilities and equipment for cattle, hogs, sheep, and horses in 30 states and 11 countries. At the expo she will also demonstrate efficient swine handling.

Farmers considering new construction should make it a point to hear topics pertaining to "Environmental Impact Studies," "Basic Ventilation Concepts," and "Pa House Bill 100 - Nutrient Management Legislative Update." During your planning process, these issues may become very important to your success.

Dairy farmers searching for angles of efficiency should hear Oregon State University's Mike Gamroth when he presents "Getting the Most from Your Milking Parlor" on both days of the expo. Gamroth, a dairy extension specialist, is an expert in milking parlor design and management.

Each day's speaker schedule concludes with breakout sessions for dairy, poultry, and swine producers. These will be panels of farmers discussing their own experiences in building and remodeling facilities.

Open from 9 a.m. - 4 p.m. each day will be displays and demonstrations, some with live animals, which will include a mini poultry composter, a "superhutch" calf facility, flooring types, freestall designs, pit ventilation, swine handling, vacuum checks, fly control, water quality, and farm safety.

Call your county extension office for a free brochure. Listed below is the Animal Housing Expo daily schedule.

First Dorchester County Chicken Festival A Success

GEORGETOWN, DEL. — Hold it and they will come. That is exactly what happened the weekend of June 11 and 12 at Sailwinds Park in Cambridge, Md., the home of the 45th Delmarva Chicken Festival.

This was the first time the annual festival was held in Dorchester County and the organizers could not have been more pleased. The salute to Delmarva's largest agricultural enterprise was sponsored by Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc. (DPI), the nonprofit trade association working for the continued advancement of the more than $1 billion a year local poultry industry and was hosted by the Dorchester County Chamber of Commerce.

Sailwinds Park, destined to become a major tourist attraction for Dorchester County, was converted to a giant marketplace for arts and crafts, a carnival grounds, a large eating area, and a contestant field for youngsters and adults. The attendance exceeded 40,000 people, far surpassing expectations.

Festival chairman Bud Hankins said, "We were ready for 25,000 people, but knew that Dorchester County could come through and 40,000 doesn't surprise me at all."

Hankins, who is executive director of the Dorchester County Chamber of Commerce said, "We did this to demonstrate that Dorchester County could put on a good chicken festival, and I look forward to this being the first in a number of great events for the county."

The festival featured several first-time events, including boat rides on the Choptank River and railroad excursions between Cambridge and the town of Hurlock. Each activity attracted about 700 passengers.

The focal point of the festival was chicken and there were plenty of ways to enjoy it. The giant fry pan, filled with Mazola corn oil, was kept busy for two days, with organizers having to resupply it Saturday afternoon because of brisk sales. Barbecued chicken was available, as were many other chicken entrees.

In the consumer program, "Simply Nutritious Chicken," there were presentations on how to prepare chicken in a variety of ways. Dr. Charles Wabeck with the University of Maryland showed how to cut up a chicken, while his son, Chef John Wabeck, presented a program called "Chicken-So Good, So Good For You." Cookbook author Linda Davis-O'Brien discussed the history of cooking contests and how many commonplace food items in the kitchen today are the result of contests — such things as sesame seeds, Reuben sandwiches, bundt cakes, and chicken nuggets. Her demonstrations, "As Good As Gold Chicken," included preparation of the winning entries from the 1988 and 1992 Delmarva chicken cooking contests.

DPI's newest recipe brochure was intorduced at the festival and copies of "Simply Nutritious Chicken" are available by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to "Simply Nutritious Chicken," c/o DPI, R.D. 6, Box 47, Georgetown, DE 19947-9622.

One popular attraction was the poultry industry exhibit organized and staffed by extension specialists at the universities of Delaware and Maryland. The chick-hatching area and the chick-petting area proved popular with youngsters, many of whom had never before seen a live bird. An educational program entitled "Protecting Delmarva's Environment...Water Quality" showed how the poultry industry is working with many individuals, organizations, and agencies to protect Delmarva's environment.

In chicken capers, poultry companies competed against each other in relay races, with trophies going to a processing team from Perdue Farms, Inc., Georgetown, Del. and a growout team from Perdue's Delmarva Broiler Division in Salisbury, Md. Individual contests were held in several categories for different age groups.

The winners in the chicken scratch were Matthew Harris of Lititz, Pa.; Eric Willey and Chris Brohawn of Cambridge, Md.; and Timothy Hill of Salisbury, Md. Davone Nelson and Elizabeth Slacum of Cambridge and Terry McCabe of Bridgeville, Del. were winners in the spoon race. The team of Travis Long of Cambridge and Kyle Preston of Wichita Falls, Texas captured one trophy for the egg toss while Perry Minor and Terry Neal, employees of Townsends, Inc. of Millsboro, Del., one of Delmarva's eight poultry companies, won the other egg toss trophy. The best imitators of crowing roosters and cackling hens were Island Styles of Goldsboro, Md. and Cheryl Grapham of Salisbury.

Wolff Commends Poultry Industry, Veterinarians

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Secretary of Agriculture Boyd E. Wolff this week commended the poultry industry and state and federal regulators for their work to contain an outbreak of Avian Influenza (AI) in Pensylvania and other Northeastern states.

"Aggressive control efforts by poultry producers and by veterinarians and technicians from USDA and from the Department made it possible to control the spread of AI," Wolff said.

Wolff said the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation was particularly helpful during the AI outbreak.

"Leaders from the Poultry Federation spent many hours meeting with our veterinarians discussing the best ways to limit possible spread of AI without undue burden on the thousands of people who make their living in poultry production.

"As a result of that control over the disease, we have been able to join with Maryland and New York in rescinding the Interstate Quarantine Order on movements of live poultry between Pennsylvania and other states, and we have been able to relax our General Quarantine through amendments that were posted on June 1st," Wolff said.

Under the amended General Quarantine Order, the pre-movement test requirement for transportation of poultry has been removed. The amendment also provides additional criteria for the release of non-infected flocks from quarantine.

The General Quarantine Order was adopted by the Department of Agriculture in January of 1993 after blood testing produced evidence that a Pennsylvania turkey flock had been exposed to Avian Influenza. H5N2 Avian Influenza virus was discovered in live bird markets in Philadelphia and New York City.

Further evidence of Avian Influenza was found in a poultry flock exhibited at the Pennsylvania Farm Show in January. The General Quarantine temporarily suspended poultry exhibitions and transportation of live birds to markets and auctions.

The Interstate Quarantine Order that has been rescinded was adopted in February of 1993 due to evidence that AI was circulating in Mid-Atlantic States.

PDCA Score Card Update

DALE OLVER
PSU Dairy & Animal Science

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The Purebred Dairy Cattle Association (PDCA) is revising their Unified Dairy Cow Scorecard this year.

The new card is to mirror recently implemented breakdowns used by the Holstein Association. Included in the breakdown is a scoring formula based on 15 percent for frame, 20 percent for dairy character, 10 percent for capacity, 15 percent for legs and feet, and 40 percent of the score for the udder.

The new scorecards are expected to become available from PDCA through the Holstein Association in late summer or early fall.

But because the revised cards will not be ready for the first state 4-H contest in July, officials are to be instructed to use the old scorecard as their guideline.

Anyone training judging teams for summer contests should also use the old scorecard.

BREWEX - For Use In Dairy Feeds

BREWEX is used extensively in complete dairy formulations to contribute utilizable energy. It is a price/performance value when used in dry feeds, liquid feeds and on-farm mixes.

MIX WITH DRY FEEDS: BREWEX is found in commercial pelleted rations for dairy, hogs and poultry as an energy source to replace corn. BREWEX replaces corn on a pound for pound dry basis and provides for improved pellet durability, reduced mineral segregation, dust control and improved palatability in dairy rations.

ON-FARM MIXING

A commercial Jersey dairy farm, having over ten years of experience in feeding BREWEX to partially replace corn finds that

- BREWEX replaced 5% to 10% corn/day
- BREWEX improves butterfat about 0.1%
- BREWEX mixed with forage reduces mortality due to displaced abomasum
- BREWEX helps cattle to stay on feeds

HIGH TENSILE FENCE...THE FARMER'S BEST INVESTMENT

Testimonial from a very satisfied customer—

The Beaver Fence Systems are tops! We installed 1 mile of their fence on our farm on Feb. 3, 1993, full size post, 3-1/2 feet deep, excellent braces. We used 5 strand (2 elec.) high tensil, all in place in just 8-1/2 hours! The fence is as straight as an arrow-excellent equipment-very efficient work!

"I am a hard man to convince, but after I saw how Beaver built the fence, I'm ready to put my digging iron away," says David W. Brubaker of Honey Grove Acres, RD1, Box 629 Honey Grove, PA 17035

HOSTETTER GRAIN

Have you tried toasted grains?

Consider these advantages over traditional roasting methods:

- ◆ Consistent by-pass proteins and low moisture levels.
- ◆ Improved energy density of your rations.
- ◆ Excellent quality control.
- ◆ Exchange programs with feed mills.
- ◆ Economical storage, rolling and grinding available
- ◆ We also buy corn and soybeans

16 FERTILIZER

for... Better yields • Better quality • Better profits

Better get... TRISERT.

liquid foliar fertilizer with patented triazone slow-release nitrogen is the better foliar. Better because it can increase your yields; it is non-burning even at concentrated rates; it won't volatize or crystallize; it can be used with lower volumes of water because of its extremely low phytotoxicity. Trisert is highly compatible with crop protection chemicals and other nutrient and, it can be applied by ground or air. TRISERT... better in every way.

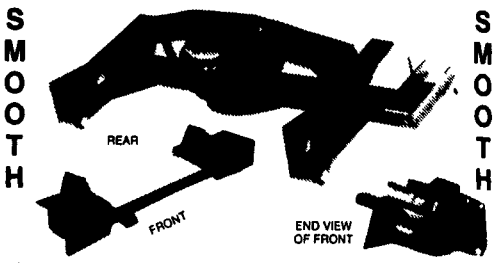
KELDERMAN AIR RIDE



Adding a Kelderman Air Ride Conversion system to your present suspension will result in a two stage suspension system. This is not to be confused with adding an Air bag mounted above the axle. Allows adding extra spring leafs to increase load rating and still maintain Air-Ride comfort.

The bolt on basic package utilizes an air stem mounted in a convenient location to add or remove air from the system.

Optional 12 volt compressor allows changing air pressure setting on the go.

Currently available for front and rear suspension in Dodge Series 250 & 350 trucks. Available soon for Dodge Dakota models.

Also available for some Ford, Chevy, and GMC truck models. Special orders available for most motor homes. This option will smooth out the ride on those rough-road fishing/camping trips.

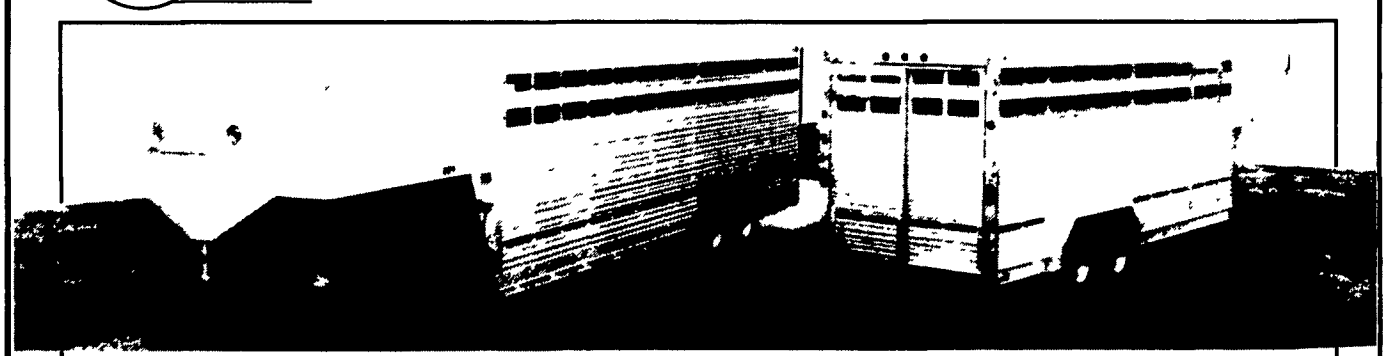
EBY Quality Specs Don't Cost - They Pay!



HERE'S WHY YOU CAN'T AFFORD ANYTHING LESS.

Eby livestock gooseneck trailers make top quality affordable. Both Wrangler and Ruff Neck models feature premium quality components and all-aluminum construction for greater payload efficiency, minimum maintenance and highest resale value.

The economical Wrangler series offers rugged design in lengths from 12' to 24', with a choice of 4 heights. The work horse Ruff Neck series is available in lengths from 20' to 32' and three standard widths, with a full range of custom options (including stainless steel front end).

These trailers are engineered for efficient operation and dependable service. So whatever your agri-transportation needs, Eby equipment satisfies the demands of your business.

THE AMERICAN DREAM

"POWER PLANTER"

Only Ingersoll garden tractors have the power!

Our full line of lawn and garden tractors are hydraulically driven. This hydraulic power can be used to run a wide range of hydraulic attachments like this tiller. And with hydraulic power you get:

1. HYDRAULIC LIFT - To raise this heavy duty tiller.
2. FULL DOWN PRESSURE - To keep the tiller in the ground where it's supposed to be.
3. BI-DIRECTIONAL POWER - If wire or rope should get wound on the tiller simply reverse the hydraulic PTO and unwind it.
4. FLUID POWER - Hydraulics rob less power from the engine than conventional belts, chains and drive shafts.
5. FLUID CONNECTIONS - Hydraulics are a natural shock absorber so there is less shock to the system when operated under tough conditions.

Five good reasons to see your Ingersoll dealer this spring and get a "POWER PLANTER."

THE ONLY LIFETIME WARRANTY IN THE INDUSTRY

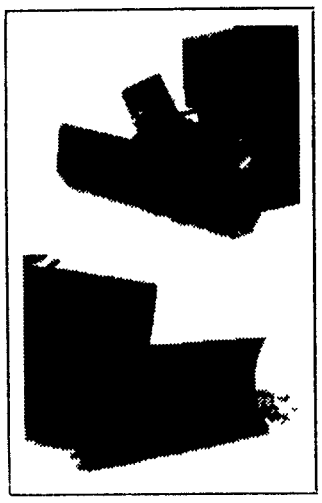
SPRING, SUMMER, FALL OR WINTER



All Ingersoll 3000 and 4000 series Garden Tractors feature HYDRIV™, a hydraulic drive system patented in 1965 and manufactured by J.I. Case until 1983 when Ingersoll acquired the product line and further enhanced it with state-of-the-art technology. Almost 30 years of reliable performance gives us the confidence to offer the TOP™ total Owner Protection Lifetime Warranty. Consult your dealer for specific TOP™ details.

Ingersoll offers the most complete line of time saving hydraulic attachments to tackle the tough chores on your small farm or ranch. Shown here is a Tiller and Chipper Shredder, but we also have Brushcutters, Log Splitters, Mowers, Vacuums, Scraper Blades and Snow Blowers.

Lightfoot Says Exports Hold Key To Industry Growth

WASHINGTON DC — U.S. Congressman Jim R. Lightfoot of Iowa told meat indusry leaders at the mid-year meeting of the U.S. Meat Export Federation here that exports hold the key to future growth in the U.S. red meat sector.

"We've become so efficient in our production techniques for both grain and livestock, domestic consumption can't handle all that we can produce," said Lightfoot. "For the industry to grow, we have to go to exports."

A member of the House Appropriations Committee, Rep. Lightfoot stressed that it will take a coordinated effort on the part of the U.S. government and the private sector to compete successfully in export markets. "I think that we've got to do everything in this country we can to give people a fair shot," he said. "We always talk about the level playing field. Well, in reality there is no such thing. And it's an uphill battle."

According to Lightfoot, Congress should focus on three principal tasks to promote export growth: 1) relieve the regulatory burden on American producers to bring their cost of production down, 2) work for fair trade agreements to increase market access, and 3) encourage the Administration to carry out programs to develop new business opportunities in foreign markets.

"I always like to cite what producers have done with their checkoff programs- where producers themselves put their own money in the hat to promote their products," said Lightfoot. "A lot of people have seen the wisdom to do that, and we've seen some good results because meat exports are up, and we can continue to push them higher."

In 1992, this partnership between government and the private sector raised U.S. red meat exports to a record $3.0 billion, up 17 percent from the year before and 307 percent since 1980. A recent study by an independent research firm, CF Resources, Inc., reports that exports this past year added $70 per head to the value of fed cattle, $62 per head to the value of calves, and $6.15 per head to the value of hogs.

In talking about fair trade, Rep. Lightfoot said he was leaning in favor of the North American Free Trade Agreement. "The NAFTA is something that a lot of people are talking about. If implemented, suddenly we have a continent that becomes the largest trading block in the world."

The Pacific Rim, he said, is a "huge market for us and I think we have just scratched the surface. When you saturate one market, you have to get into another. I think where we can get in, where there are developing economies, if we can be there first with the best products, we'll win in the long run."

Lightfoot congratulated USMEF for bringing the different meat industry segments together under one roof, including livestock and feed grain producers, packers, processors and related interests. "Organizations such as USMEF pull the various entities together so they can discuss ideas and then take action. You are to be congratulated," he told USMEF members, "for your outstanding success story in export markets.

"The best product we can export" he said, "is one that has more value added to it. These exports mean more jobs in this country."

Communities To Host Farmers' Markets

MORRISTOWN, N.J. — Based on last year's successful farmers' market here, four additional towns will hold weekly markets during the 1993 growing season.

Madison, Millburn, Montclair and South Orange have been actively planning farmers' markets for months.

To make the markets successful, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania growers of fruits and vegetables are needed to participate.

Extensive publicity campaigns are under way to assure that large crowds will greet growers when markets open. The five towns hosting weekly markets and their schedules are:

TOWN	DAY	HOURS	OPENING DAY
Madison:	Thursday	4 00 PM-7:30 PM	July 8
Millburn:	Friday	12 00 PM-6:00 PM	June 25
Montclair:	Saturday	9:00 PM-2:00 PM	June 26
Morristown:	Sunday	10.00 PM-4.00 PM	July 4
South Orange:	Wednesday	3:30 PM-7:30 PM	June 30

All markets will be held into the fall. The upscale nature of these communities plus scarcity of locally grown produce will create market conditions that justify travelling to North Jersey.

All five participating northern New Jersey towns can be easily reached from major highways, including Garden State Parkway, New Jersey Turnpike, Interstates 78, 80, 287, 280, and New York State Thruway.

For information and to sign up for the markets of your choice, please call Randy Brockway at (201) 538-1552 (weekdays).

CLAAS offers the world's only folding 6-row corn head. It also fits John Deere and New Holland forage harvesters.

CLAAS of America proudly introduces the world's largest selling forage harvester: the CLAAS® Jaguar 695. Tested and proven worldwide, the Jaguar possesses power and speed, while offering reliability, performance and advanced technology unmatched by the competition.

The heart of the Jaguar is CLAAS's 24-knife, precision engineered cutting cylinder that gives a clean, superior chop. The angled knives draw the crop toward the center, producing a smooth, steady flow through to the discharge chute. The knives' "scissors action chop" ensures a cleaner cut. And all of this is done with minimal power requirements.

An automatic electrohydraulic knife sharpener is standard. The shearbar is easily accessible and quickly adjusted.

CLAAS's field-proven, 4-trac mechanical rear wheel drive carries the Jaguar efficiently through any field condition. This optional 4-trac four wheel drive unit can be engaged on-the-go.

The full visibility cab is air conditioned, heated and soundproofed for operator comfort. A multi-function control lever puts control of all harvesting functions at the operator's fingertips. The world renowned Mercedes 354 hp V8 diesel engine means reliability and economical operation.

An optional corn cracker maximizes feed quality by ensuring a fully digestible harvest. Independent studies show CLAAS's unbeatable corn cracker is nearly 100% effective.

The Jaguar's 6-row corn head is the world's only folding corn head. This unique header comes with "Auto steer" to guide the Jaguar automatically through the rows, assuring ease of operation. Pickup attachments from 7′ to 14′ are available.

Every Jaguar is backed by CLAAS's commitment to quality in sales, service and parts replacement.

Scholarship Fund Established

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — In memory of Clyde Robison, friends and colleagues have established the Clyde S. Robison Scholarship Fund in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences. Robison was a committed agriculturalist in Washington County who died unexpectedly in 1992.

The scholarship will benefit full-time first- and second-year undergraduates in the College of Agricultural Sciences with preference given to those who express an interest in farming as a career. Students who remain eligible may receive the scholarship more than once.

A Clyde S. Robison Memorial Scholarship Committee chaired by N. Alan Bair, a Penn State College of Agricultural Sciences graduate, was formed to raise funds to endow the scholarship.

To date, $17,000 has been committed to the fund, including major leadership gifts from the Atlantic Breeders Cooperative, the Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association, the Pennsylvania Dairy Herd Improvement Association, and employees of the state Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Interested individuals or organizations may send contributions payable to Penn State to the Clyde S. Robison Scholarship Fund, 232 Agricultural Administration Building, University Park, PA 16802.

Get Ready For Silage Season

COLDWATER, Ohio — With silage chopping just around the corner, your UNI dealer suggests you check for worn parts on your self-propelled corn silage chopper so you're ready for the hectic chopping season.

Many service problems resulting from last year's severe conditions may show up this season unless they're corrected now. In addition, proper maintenance extends harvester life as well as improves chopping efficiency by reducing downtime.

If you don't want to perform this important preseason maintenance yourself, have your UNI dealer's authorized service professionals do it for you. Areas your UNI dealer believes may need attention include the following:

Power Unit

• Grease all points as recommended in operator's manual.

• Change air filters (cab, engine precleaner, engine air cleaner, etc.) as recommended. A clean air filter is essential for an efficient power unit. In fact, if your power unit has a turbocharger, it's critical for optimum performance.

• Change fluids and fluid filters (primary and secondary fuel, engine oil, hydraulic, coolant and coolant filter) as specified.

• Check entire machine, interior and exterior, for loose hardware.

• Using a wire brush, shine up battery terminals (posts) and check the cable. Many starting problems can be attributed to corrosion buildup on the battery terminals.

• Check tire pressure to be sure tires are properly inflated.

• Check the entire machine to be sure all shields and warnings are in place and in good condition. Be sure operators are familiar with all warnings and shields.

• Wash windows and mirrors. Glare contributes to operator fatigue.

Chopping Area

• Check each cutterhead knife to be sure it's sharp. Sharpen as required. Replace damaged knives in opposing pairs. Adjust knives to gauge bar so the recommended diameter is maintained. This is critical if a recutter screen is used.

• Check the reversible shear bar to make sure it has square corners. A rounded edge tears the silage instead of cutting it. This affects machine capacity, quality of cut and contributes to excessive fuel consumption.

• Inspect flighting on the auger between the cutterhead and the blower for sharp edges or bent areas. If flighting has sharp edges, it is worn and should be replaced. Bent areas can be straightened or replaced.

• Grease all points recommended in operator's manual.

• Check transmission(s) for proper oil level.

• Inspect entire area for loose hardware and material buildup. All loose or worn parts should be replaced or repaired. Remove any built up material.

• Inspect all belts for frayed edges, cracks or checks. Replace worn belts.

• Lubricate all chains and check tension.

Blower Area

• Check wrapper for material buildup. Remove any built up material.

• Inspect condition of paddles. If corners are rounded; blower efficiency is reduced. The paddles on the blower should be adjusted to the wrapper (1/16 inches ± 1/32 inches) so the paddles will "carry a nickel, yet leave a dime."

• Check the spout liner for wear. If it is thin or a hole is evident, replace.

• Check the position and condition of drive belts for cracks, checks, frayed edges, etc. Replace as necessary. Realign belt pulleys as necessary.

Row Crop (Corn/Sorghum Sialge) Head

• Inspect condition of knives and hold down clips. Sharpen or replace as necessary.

• Check condition and adjustment of gathering chains/belts.

• Inspect slip clutches for rust, corrosion, debris, etc. Recondition or replace as necessary.

District Promotes Scholarship

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The Lancaster County Conservation District is cooperating with the Pennsylvania Association of Conservation Districts Auxiliary in promoting a scholarship program in support of agriculture and environmental education.

Student eligibility includes Pennsylvania resident; attend a Pennsylvania college or university; major in agriculture, environmental resource management, conservation; 4-year majors - junior or senior; and associate degrees - second year.

Student applicant must provide statement of scholarship need and a resume.

All interested students should call the conservation district office at (717) 299-5361 for an application before July 1.

Chop Animal Bedding Materials Safely

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Farm animals, like people, need a good night's rest. To help them get it, farmers use bedding materials such as straw, sawdust, and newspaper. Animal bedding often is chopped, a task that can be hazardous.

If you chop your own bedding, it's wise to keep a few precautions in mind.

"No matter what type of machine you use to chop bedding materials, be sure to take appropriate precautions to prevent injuries and accidents," said Dr. james Hilton, associate professor of agricultural engineering in Penn State's Colleg of Agricultural Sciences.

"Start by reading the operator's manual. Be familiar with the manufacturer's warnings and follow the recommended safety practices at all times. Never remove safety guards from the machine."

Foreign objects such as rocks, metal cans, and other garbage often are mixed in with newspaper. "You should always wear eye protection when chopping in case the machine throws debris into the air," Hilton said. "Don'nt allow casual observers nearby while a machine is running."

Keep the safety of your animals in mind, too. "If you're chopping inside the barn, keep the machine as far from the animals as possible. Flying debris can hurt cows or horses as well as you."

Accidents are likely if you try to unclog the chopping machine while it's running. "The blades on most chopopers are very close to the discharge opening, so keep your hands well away from it," Hilton said. "If your chopper becomes clogged, turn it off and wait until the motor has stopped completely before trying to unclog it. Never risk trying to clear it with a broom handle or stick while the machine is running.

"Wear leather gloves when unclogging the machine — the cutting mechanisms are extremely sharp. Blades strong enough to chop a bale of newspaper or straw can easily do the same to your hands."

Chopping newspaper and straw can fill the air with dust and organic particles that can cause severe respiratory problems. "Protect your lungs by wearing a particle mask or respirator to filter the air," Hilton said.

Bedding materials, including newspaper, can burn very quickly, so treat them with caution. "It only takes one spark to create a disaster," said Hilton. "Be prepared by keeping fire extinguishers and a water source inside the barn. Take steps to minimize the potential for sparks and flames in the barn, especially during hot, dry weather."

If you're using a gas-powered chopper, be sure to let it cool down and take it outdoors before adding fuel. Wipe any fuel spills and store combustible materials away from bedding materials.

To keep any machine operating smoothly and safely, clean it often. " A dirty machine isn't just an eyesore. It also can be dangerous," Hilton said.

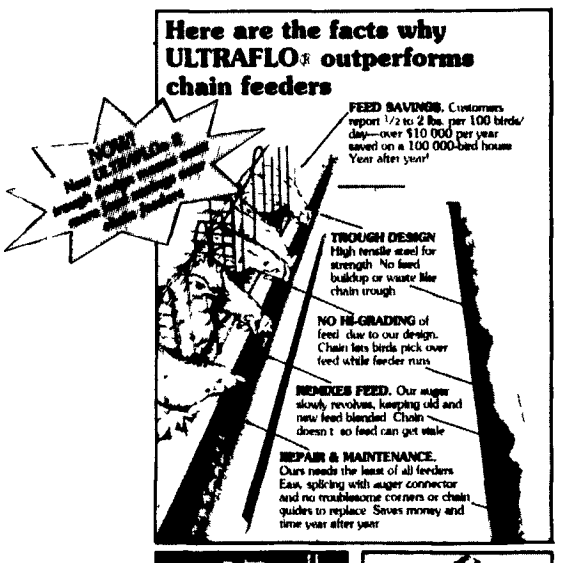
Remodel with Chore-Time and you can have more birds, better performance and less maintenance. Chore-Time's 4 tier, 20 inch deep Duratrims are the same width as 3 tier dropping board systems and 4 tier reverse cages. Go from 60,000 birds to 80,000 birds.



Here are the facts why ULTRAFLO® outperforms chain feeders
FEED SAVINGS. Customers report 1/2 to 2 lbs. per 100 birds/day—over $10 000 per year saved on a 100 000-bird house Year after year!
TROUGH DESIGN High tensile steel for strength No feed buildup or waste like chain trough
NO HI-GRADING of feed due to our design. Chain lets birds pick over feed while feeder runs
REMIXES FEED. Our auger slowly revolves, keeping old and new feed blended Chain doesn't so feed can get stale
REPAIR & MAINTENANCE. Ours needs the least of all feeders Easy splicing with auger connector and no troublesome corners or chain guides to replace Saves money and time year after year

SIMPLE OPERATION. "Push-Pull" Power Units with low HP motor are located along the feeder line as needed.

EASY AUGER CONNECTOR. Allows fast and simple installation, also quick and easy repair of auger if ever necessary.

Over 80% of the nation's top egg producers* have already switched to Chore-Time cages with ULTRAFLO® Feeders!*

Egg producers have been putting up with obsolete chain feeders far too long. Now there's a better way· Chore-Time's proven ULTRAFLO Cage Feeding System Since introduction, more than 80% of the top 54 egg producers* have gone to ULTRAFLO A lot of smaller ones have too.

They've all looked at the advantages and chosen ULTRAFLO. That's because it makes them more profitable Total egg production and egg size—these are the best benefits of our complete feeding system

Why not check out the facts for yourself? Contact us now—or ask any producer who owns ULTRAFLO.

Because the only negative comments about our feeding system come from our competition—not from our customers.

Angus Juniors Compete At National Show

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. — Young Angus breeders gathered at the Maryland State Fairgrounds in Timonium May 28 to vie for the championship titles in the 1993 Atlantic National Junior Angus Show.

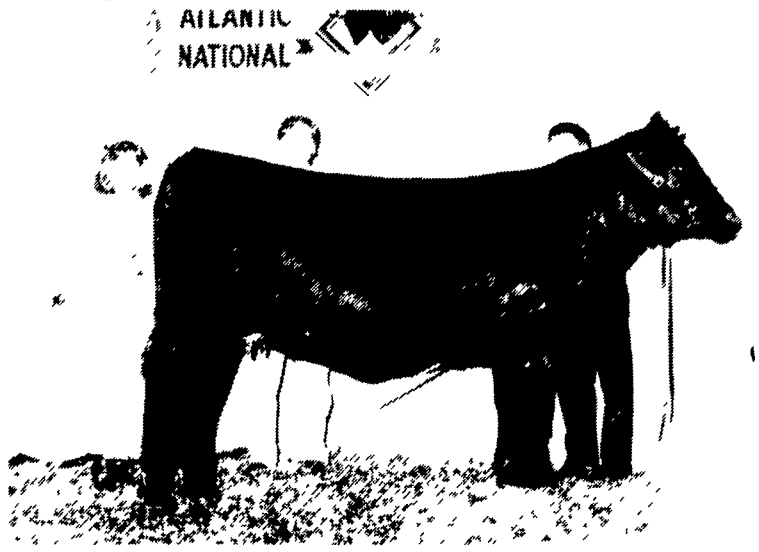
Jack Ward, Roanoke, Indiana, judged the 176 junior Angus cattle that were exhibited.

Douglas Dalton, Altavista, Virginia, topped the 95 entries in the owned heifer show, taking grand champion honors with Krueger Belle Moneek, a July 1991 daughter of R&J Extraordinary 1345. She was also intermediate champion.

Winning reserve grand champion honors in the owned heifer show was Beth Patton, Crawfordsville, Indiana, with Patton Megan 253 of Y A F. She is an April 1992 heifer sired by Leachman Prompter. She first won late spring heifer calf champion.

Deanna Bloom, Westville, Indiana, led Car Don Miss Devotion B244 to the bred-and-owned grand champion heifer title in the 33-head show. Bloom's entry, a January 1992 daughter of Rito 2100 G D A R, was named bred-and-owned spring heifer calf champion on her way to the grand title.

Aunt Cessa Gal took home the reserve grand champion bred-and-owned heifer honors for Philip Trowbridge Jr., Ghent, New York. She is a September 1992 daughter of Stone Gate Eurloch and first won fall heifer calf champion.



Krueger Belle Moneek was named the grand champion owned heifer at the 1993 Atlantic National Junior Angus Show in Timonium, Maryland. She was entered by Douglas Dalton of Altavista, Virginia, and was also selected as the intermediate champion owned heifer. Dalton's entry is a July 1991 daughter of R&J Extraordinary 1345 and topped the 95 heifers in the owned competition. Jack Ward of Roanoke, Indiana, judged the entries in the junior division.

Two Leachman Prompter sons swept the bred-and-owned bull show. Randolph Clary III, Brodnax, Virginia, led A C On Time, an October 1992 calf to the grand champion title.

The reserve grand champion bull award went back to the state of Oklahoma with John Anthony III, Poteau, Oklahoma, for his May 1992 yearling named J F Kims Playboy.

In the steer competition, Casey High, Lititz, Pennsylvania, exhibited the grand champion steer. His entry, KJC Stockmans Derby, is a March 1992 son of TC Stockman. He weighed 1226 lbs. and had a weight per day of age of 2.88.

WK Samson was selected as the reserve grand champion steer. He is an April 1992 son of Ankonian Bold Ruler A5208, and weighed 1030 pounds with a weight per day of age of 2.5. He was owned and shown by Ty Krebs, Gordon, Nebraska.

The overall showmanship award traveled back to Mason, Texas, with Will Grote. Grote was selected from the winners of the novice, junior, intermediate and senior divisions for the title.

Simplified design for less maintenance.

There's no worse time for a breakdown than during harvest. That's why the Gleaner® is designed with the most advanced engine in the industry—the efficient air-cooled diesel. With air cooling there are no hoses, radiators, anti-freeze, gaskets, thermostats, or water pumps.

Maintenance is hassle-free.

Air cooling also provides maximum fuel efficiency, longer engine life, and lower operating costs And, when you add in our state-of-the-art rotary threshing system and ComfortTECH™ cab, you have the most efficient, productive harvesting system in farming today

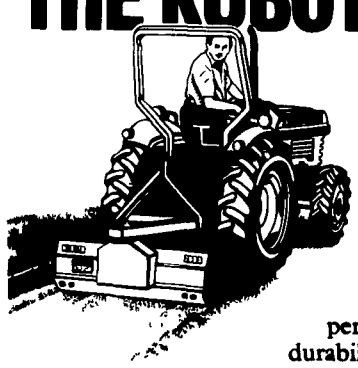
THE KUBOTA TRADITION



Kubota's L-Series tractors meet the demands of today's mid-size tractor users. Ranging from 20-40 PTO HP, they are ideal for small farming chores, weekend farming, light construction, commercial grass cutting, and a wide variety of maintenance and utility operations.

The Kubota tradition of quality performance, versatility, economy and durability can be found in each one. Quick-attach implements transform your L-Series Kubota into a mower, scraper, tractor/loader/backhoe, and more.

Create your own traditions of comfort and ease of operation with exciting options, including: power steering, glide shift transmission, and more. A narrow version is less than 4.4 feet wide. Heavy duty models offer enhanced loader performance. All models have features to reduce operator fatigue and enhance safety.

For versatility and power, begin your Kubota tradition with an L-Series tractor.

Deere Expands 4WD Tractor Line

MOLINE, Ill. — John Deere has expanded its 4-wheel-drive tractor line with the introduction of four 70 Series models to replace the 3-model 60 Series introduced in 1988.

The new line includes the 250-hp 8570, 300-hp 8770, 350-hp 8870, and 400-hp 8970. This latest evolution of John Deere 4-wheel-drive tractors features increased engine performance and several changes that enhance operator comfort and productivity.

The 70-Series tractors, like the 14 new or revised tractor models John Deere has introduced since announcing its customer-driven tractor strategy in the fall of '91, are the product of extensive customer input.

"John Deere and competitive 4-wheel-drive tractor owners told us they wanted more responsive engine performance and convenient operation," said Johnny Dickinson, division manager of 4-wheel-drive tractor marketing at the John Deere tractor factory in Waterloo, Ia. "Farmers who have run these new 70 Series tractors are impressed with the pulling power and responsiveness of the engines. They like the new air suspension seat, the improved comfort of the cab, the improved serviceability, and other design changes we put into these new tractors."

The 7.6 L engine in the 8570 and the 10.1 L in the 8770 and 8870 feature the latest John Deere engine technology, including the company's electronic engine control. The Cummins 14 L ADVANTAGE™ engine in the 8970 features CENTRY™ electronic engine control with Step Timing Control (STC).

The electronic engine controls on the 70 Series machines provide several performance benefits. All of the engines deliver full rated powe over a 450 to 500 rpm range for consistent power to pull through the tough spots.

In addition, the 10.1 L and 14 L engines provide up to a 7 percent "power bulge" (5 percent in the 7.6 L) within the constant power range. The power bulge is produced automatically as the electronic controller senses engine load and responds with as much as 13 to 28 extra horsepower above rated power to handle the load. The added power helps maintain high productivity and reduces the need to downshift.

The engines feature high torque rise for good lugging ability and quick recovery under load. Low-speed torque provides responsive load-starting and maneuvering performance.

An exclusive John Deere Field Cruise Control feature works much like cruise control on an automobile. The operator can adjust full-throttle engine speed anywhere from 2,100 to 1,300 rpm with a rotary knob on the shift console. Any setting below 2,100 rpm triggers a constant-speed governor curve that provides instant engine response as loads increase and decrease to produce a ground speed with little or no fluctuation.

Field Cruise, standard on all four models, is particularly beneficial in work like seeding or chemical application where constant ground speed is important. Field Cruise also permits the operator to match engine speed to the load requirements for improved fuel efficiency.

A new floor-mounted, push-bottom decelerator provides a convenient way to reduce engine speed at the end of a row. By stepping on the bottom, the operator can instantly reduce engine speed to 1,500 rpm if Field Cruise is set at the "rabbit" (highest speed) setting. If Field Cruise is set lower, the decelerator immediately reduces engine speed proportionally. When the operator releases the button, engine speed instantly begins returning to the Field Cruise setting.

The electronic engine control on the 8570, 8770, and 8870 adjusts fuel delivery to compensate for changing temperatures for improved starting performance and consistent power all day long. On all models, electronic control also provides a constant low-idle speed regardless of load for increased performance when maneuvering in close quarters and starting loads.

On the 8970, STC automatically advances engine timing for easier starting and less start-up smoke. Timing also advances at low idle and with light loads for improved fuel efficiency.

Directed cooling on the 10.1 L engine in the 8870 helps ensure long-term, reliable performance at the 350-hp rating. This exclusive feature circulates coolant around the top flange of the wet cylinder liners to lower liner and piston ring temperatures for improved wear characteristics. This, together with the high-capacity cooling system, helps maintain appropriate operating temperatures for peak engine performance and long life.

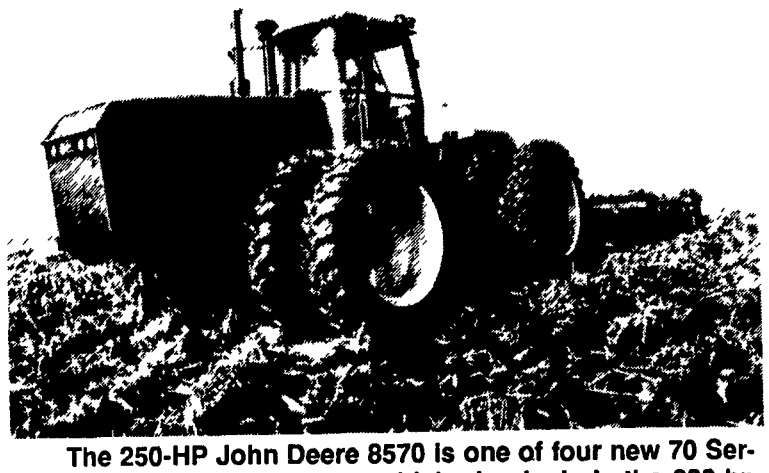
The 7.6 L and 10.1 L engines' large intake and exhaust ports, piston spray cooling, wet cylinder liners, high efficiency turbochargers matched to engine power rating, and air-to-air aftercooling contribute to fuel efficient, reliable performance. A viscous fan drive adjusts to the cooling requirements of the engine for improved fuel efficiency.

The 14 L engine in the 8970 uses liquid-to-air aftercooling to lower intake air temperature for increased fuel efficiency and power capability. It also features a viscous fan drive.

To meet a wider range of job requirements, the 8870 can be equipped with standard 100-mm-diameter axles or optional heavy-duty 110-mm-diameter axles that are also used on the 8970.

An optional power differential lock is available on all models for improved traction in marginal conditions and better side-draft control and traction on sidehills. A new control system enables the operator to engage the lock with one push on the floor-mounted switch and disengage it by touching the brake pedal or decelerator button.

The Sound-Gard® body features improved air flow from the air quality system to keep the operator comfortable. Environmentally friendly R134A refrigerant is used in the air conditioning system. The new air suspension seat provides both fore-and-aft and side-to-side attenuation to smooth out the ride. The seat swivels 20 degrees left and right and can be locked at 10- and 20-degree angles to suit the needs of the job and operator preference.



The 250-HP John Deere 8570 is one of four new 70 Series 4-wheel-drive tractors which also include the 300-hp 8770, 350-hp 8870, and 400-hp 8970. The tractors feature increased engine performance, enhanced operator comfort, and improved ease of service.

Exclusive Ride Zone Protection (RZP) prevents the operator from overinflating or underinflating the air suspension seat, thus ensuring a comfortable ride. For added convenience, RZP also retains the height adjustment as the operator leaves the seat. A storage drawer under the seat provides a convenient place to keep tools and supplies.

Additional sound adsorbing material in the cab improves sound quality for increased operator comfort.

Serviceability improvements on the 70 Series include a longer fuel filler neck that's angled for easier fueling from ground level, front and rear engine hoods that open independently for ease of service, and a convenient sight glass for the hydraulic reservoir to complement the transmission reservoir sight glass.

The 70 Series retains the proven closed-center, pressure compensated hydraulic system used on the 60 Series. Likewise, transmission choices remain the same. The 12-speed Syncro™ transmission with three reverse speeds is standard. A 24-speed PowrSync™ transmission is optional. For the top three models, a 12-speed full powershift transmission is also available.

Some of the attachments available as options include an independent 1,000 rpm pto, an electrohydraulic 3-pt. hitch with draft sensing, dual lift cylinders, and Quick-Coupler (for the 8570, 8770, and 8870). and a performance monitor.

NAVIGATOR II

STRESS-FREE ROW CROP GUIDANCE

- Unique design keeps the implement parallel with the rows even when the tractor moves laterally as it drifts off course Most other systems oversteer the toolbar which adds damaging side pressure to the stabilizing coulters
- Automatically compensates for sidehill drift
- Eliminates excessive pull and stress on hydraulic components associated with other guidance systems
- Very few moving parts provide smooth, friction-free lateral movement
- Works effectively on all conventional and ridge-till cultivators, planters and 4-wheel drive articulated tractors.

Get the CHARGE Advantage for...

- ALFALFA
- POTATOES
- TOBACCO
- VEGETABLE CROPS

The CHARGE Advantage

CHARGE Liquid Plant Food is a scientifically balanced NPK liquid foliar nutrient, rich in phosphate and containing humus for increased uptake of nutrients.

The 3 Elements of CHARGE + an Added Benefit

✓NITROGEN to promote fast growth and abundant foliage
✓PHOSPHATE to encourage seed and root development
✓POTASH which is essential for sugar and starch formation and to increase size and quality of fruit plus HUMUS, the added benefit for increased nutrient uptake

ALFALFA

Independent research and growers alike have attested to the benefits of CHARGE in increasing the yield on alfalfa Growers who use CHARGE on their alfalfa have come to expect significant increases in protein level and decreases in Acid Detergent Fiber. CHARGE has been shown to make a difference in the healthy growth of alfalfa, especially during stressful conditions from weather and pests. CHARGE should be applied at 2 to 4 qts. per acre after dormancy and after each cutting when the crop shows 5 to 6 inches of growth. Get the CHARGE advantage!

POTATOES

Optimum time for applying CHARGE is at tuber initiation, followed by applications at mid and late season. Late applications should be combined with NUTRA-K Liquid Potassium to achieve bulking and increase specific gravity before harvest. CHARGE users have achieved bonus payments for potato crops with more potatoes in the desired premium size and for increased weight and yield. Apply 2 to 3 qts of CHARGE per acre when plants are 4 to 6 inches high. Get the CHARGE advantage!

Watch For Lyme Disease

HUNTINGDON (Huntingdon Co.) — As the threat of Lyme disease spreads throughout the Northeast, Penn State researchers are seeking answers that could help Pennsylvanians avoid the sometimes debilitating disease.

Entomologists in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences are in the fourth year of a study to map the distribution of Lyme disease and the disease-carrying deer tick in Pennsylvania. The project's goals are to identify high-risk areas and educate the public about how the disease can be prevented.

"Reported Lyme disease cases have increased in recent years," said extension entomologist Steven Jacobs, who leads the study. "But your chances of getting the disease are very low if you know how to manage the risk."

Jacobs says the public can be a major help in the research by taking any tick found, dead or alive, to the nearest county office of Penn State Cooperative Extension. The tick will be sent to Penn State's University Park Campus, where it will be identified.

"If you find a tick, try to keep it alive," said Jacobs. "Put the tick and a few blades of green grass in a small, green container, such as a pill bottle. If it's already dead, put it in a small container with alcohol. Be sure to note exactly where and when the tick was found. After it's identified, you'll be notified about what type of tick it was."

During its life cycle, the deer tick may be found on a variety of hosts including mice, chipmunks, birds and deer. While awaiting a suitable host, the tick usually is found on leaf litter or low branches in brushy, wooded areas. Deer ticks are most active in late spring and early summer.

Lyme disease can cause a variety of symptoms, including a bull's-eye-like rash, fever, stiff neck, muscle aches and headaches. Left untreated, victims can suffer facial palsy, arthritis and even paralysis. The disease normally is treated with antibiotics, but if not caught early, recovery can be slow.

The ongoing study of deer ticks in Pennsylvania, funded by the Centers for Disease Control, is part of a comprehensive educational effort that will include reference materials for health care providers, television and radio public service announcements and educational programs for elementary and high schools. Much of the data gathered have come from tick samples sent in by the public.

So far, deer ticks have been submitted from 44 of Pennsylvania's 67 counties. The areas with the highest reported numbers of deer ticks are southeastern Pennsylvania, including Chester, Delaware, Montgomery, Bucks, Berks, Northampton, Lehigh and York counties; the Moshannon State Forest region, including Elk, Clearfield, Cameron, McKean and Centre counties; and the Presque Isle peninsula in Erie County.

"Although not all deer ticks carry Lyme disease," Jacobs said, "the reported incidence of the disease appears to be highest in areas that have a high incidence of ticks. But we need submissions of ticks from more counties to get a truer picture of the situation statewide."

The counties with the highest reported incidences of Lyme disease are Cameron, Elk, Pike, Delaware, Clearfield, Bucks, Montgomery, Clinton, Clarion and Wayne.

Researchers are paying special attention to Pike County in northeastern Pennsylvania. Although Pike County has a high incidence of Lyme disease (89 cases per 100,000 population), only three deer ticks have been submitted from that county during the Penn State study. The Pike County commissioners have funded a special study to investigate that apparent discrepancy.

"There have been a lot of lone star ticks found in Pike County, and they also can carry Lyme disease in very rare cases," Jacobs said. "Other possible explanations are that people in Pike County are contracting the disease in their travels outside the county, or that new residents moving in already have the disease." Results from the Pike County project could help to explain similar inconsistencies in other counties

Extension Offers Pre-Harvest Grain Marketing Workshop

ALLENTOWN (Lehigh Co.) — Grain farmers can enter their wheat, corn, and soybean fields this season with a better plan for the crop they're harvesting by attending a local grain marketing seminar, on Friday, June 25, which begins at 7 a.m. here at the Lehigh County Agricultural Center.

Dr. James Russell of the Maryland Cooperative Extension Service will give a half-day workshop on grain marketing with an outlook for the mid-Atlantic region's grain trade.

The seminar will conclude by 2 p.m.

The Lehigh Valley Grain Marketing Club is sponsoring the event. The club has about 20 grain producers who meet regularly to discuss and hear about what's happening in the markets and how they can respond for better prices.

The purpose of the seminar, and that of the grain marketing club, is to foster knowledge, which leads to better selling decisions. Russell will address means of price protection, the workings of forward contracts, options and futures, and advanced grain marketing concepts. Russell's background in grain marketing started in Oklahoma, where his family ran one of the state's first grain elevator and where he served as state marketing specialist.

In the past five years in Maryland, Russell has been instrumental in helping extension agents and farmers organize more than 15 grain marketing clubs.

One of his recent presentations to grain producers included the following "self-inflicted wounds":

- Failure to understand and use basis data for cash sales of grain.
- Trying to predict grain prices.
- Accepting excess price risk.
- Over-reliance on market outlook by the experts.
- Failure to account for storage and interest expenses.
- Failure to consider all marketing choices.
- Failure to obtain the latest, accurate market information.

The workshop will show what the producer can do to increase income and, also important, to sleep better.

Cost of the seminar is $10, which covers the continental breakfast, lunch, and breaks.

Reservations should be made to the Lehigh County Cooperative Extension Office by calling (215) 391-9840 by Tuesday, June 22. Walk-in attenders are also welcome, but must call the extension office first.

The Lehigh County Agricultural Center is off Route 222, a quarter mile east and north of the interchange with Route 309 in west Allentown.

For, Some, It's Never Too Early To Look At Christmas Trees

JACKIE BOWSER
Special To Lancaster Farming

LITITZ (Lancaster Co.) — Jackets and umbrellas gave way to sunglasses and notepads just in time for the start of the day-long seminar on Christmas tree production Thursday, June 3. The Capitol Region of the Pa. Christmas Tree Grower's Association (PCTGA) held the training meeting for the Lebanon-Lancaster area conifer growers in their ongoing program to educate, inform, and update affiliates in all aspects of the Christmas tree industry.

Hosted by Elizabeth Farms, a part of the historic Coleman Estate in the lovely rolling hills of northern Lancaster County and southern Lebanon County, the setting was perfect for a fine spring outing.

The Coleman's were important in PA history for the iron production so vital to the development of the country. Elizabeth Farms, having a total of 1800 acres, has at present 350 acres in Christmas trees of many varieties and 60 additional acres under cultivation, including soybeans, sorghum, and some pastureland.

Pierce is in his tenth year of developing the tree farm on the estate. The partnership of owners, Francis Coleman and his nephew, William Coleman, recently delegated Craig, son of Francis, and his new bride, Kris, as live-in manager-trainees of the farms. They recently moved here from New York City.

The young couple drove tractors that pulled the guests touring the farm and their enthusiam was quite evident.

In addition to Frank Pierce and his wife, Joanna, who helps with the books and the mowing, there is a family living in one of the farm houses and six helpers from Mexico, some of whom stay to help in the harvest season. Other part-time and seasonal help are hired.

Since the farm is comparitively new on the conifer production scene, saleable trees are only recently being marketed. In 1992, 8,000 cut trees were sold. This season, Pierce hopes to sell some dug trees (B & B). Of course, like any other endeavors so dependent on weather and so many other unpredictable factors, Pierce readily admits he really can't predict anything.

"I was supposed to tell you what I would have done differently if I could do it over, but I still don't know what I'm doing so I can't tell you," he jokingly tells his guests.

Sporting greens of every shade and tone, the long rows of seedlings and ready-for-market specimens drew the eyes along gently rolling slopes and merged low mountains in the background. Elizabeth Farms grows at present, 350,000 trees of Pennsylvania's 42 million trees grown for Christmas trees.

As guests arrived, they labeled themselves with nametags and fortified themselves with coffee and doughnuts. A mini-trade show was set up so interested growers could drool over the newest equipment. Pruning and shearing knives, sprayers, mowers, and the latest accessories were there with their representative salesmen.

By 9:30 A.M., all the early morning evidence of the forecasted rain had dissapated and the organizers breathed a collective sigh of grateful relief.

Almost 200 registrants were greeted by Alan Michael, the multi-county horticultural specialist who serves this region's farmers.

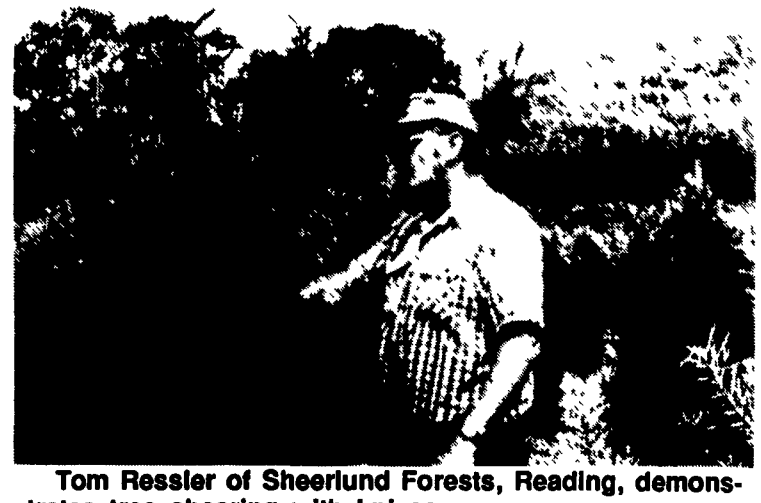
The group climbed aboard four farm wagons pulled by tractors. In the Christmas tree sales season, the customers are delighted to be taken from pine field to fir or spruce field in these wagons pulled by matched teams of Percherons but for this occasion, the tractors would have to serve.

Divided into groups, the wagons stopped at various stations of the farm where instruction would be offered in many interests. At one location, Scott Guiser of the Penn State Extension service explained a simplified way to callibrate hand sprayers.

Dr. Larry Kuhns, the friendly figure familiar to PA Christmas tree growers, shared his latest findings of herbicide use. Several test rows had been sprayed weeks earlier so participants could readily see the results for themselves whether or not different post-emergent sprays damaged trees.

Over the next hill, shearing techniques were demonstrated on a stand of seven foot tall marketable Scots pines. Melissa Piper Nelson, of the PCTGA, introduced the demonstrators. Tom Ressler, manager of Sheerlund Forest on the southern fringe of Reading, demonstrated shearing using knives. Properly protected with heavy full length leg chaps and with the confidence only gained by many years of working with the long-bladed instrument, he quickly slashed away extra growth with his right hand then reached up to nip off the leaders with a sturdy pruning shears to shape the top into just what the customer looks for.

Bill Fetheroff, also with Sheerlund, demonstrated a rotary blade attached on the business end of an ECHO weed wacker in place of the line rotater. Swinging it up and down, he made it look easy, even topping the leader with a tap of the blade.



Tom Ressler of Sheerlund Forests, Reading, demonstrates tree shearing with knives.

Gerritt Strathmeyer of Strathmeyer Forests, Inc. of Dover, PA, strapped on the ECHO engine back-pack which powers a 72" or 88" reciprocal blade resembling a giant hedge trimmer. Held upright at the exact angle at which you wish to taper the tree, one simply walks around the tree, slicing off everything that sticks out of line. An experienced hand can shear 2,500 trees a day — if there is a water, gas, and an oil boy to service the man, motor, and blade at regular intervals.

With 16" straightedge knives, whirling blades, and hedgeshears as tall as a man, the safety aspect is critical. Plenty of room to work is the rule — with no distractions.

A break for lunch came just in time to quiet hungry bellies of these men and women used to working hard and eating well. The tractors took the groups right up the road to the Brickerville Fire Company where volunteers had prepared hot roast beef sandwiches, soup, etc. and home made pie.

The afternoon featured reps from the PA Dept. of Agriculture and a Pest Workshop. Vance Wagner set up his easel in the middle of a sunny field and drew the eternal triangle of pests: host, environment, and pathogen — all equal parts in growing bugts. Eliminating one point of the triangle makes it impossible for the bug to survive. The trick is in knowing the how, when and where of changing any of the critical elements.

Walt Blosser and Esther Bach talked about inspecting and scouting the plantation and educating oneself to the destructive creatures and their habits. To add credence to their talks, they had specimens for a show-and-tell or feel-and-squeal display. This knowledgeable duo is out to get each grower to take command of his/her own tree farm to the extent of knowing what is there in the way of pests and how to cope.

Rayanne Lehman and Dr. Paul Heller concluded the day's instruction with further lessons on control of insect pests.

Growing the lovely trees for Christmas celebrations is a hard, time consuming work, whether done for fun or profit, full time or part-time. It is one of those labor-intense vocations in which one cannot count his own time. The benefits are a healthy environment, good exercise, and enjoyment of watching green things grow. These men and women who farm trees for a crop are hardy and competitive but they are organized and they do love to get together with other friends of their feather and socialize and trade secrets of success. That's exactly what they did at Brickervill and they had a good time.

About 200 people met at Elizabeth Farms during the Pa. Christmas Tree Growers Association training meeting.

Spring Preview Show Held

SHIPPENSBURG (Cumberland Co.) — The 11th annual Franklin County Spring Preview Show was held Saturday, June 5, at the Shippensburg Fairgrounds.

Scott Mullinex of Howard County, Md., won the grand champion honor and reserve grand was awarded to Casey High of Lancaster County. Other class winners include Heather and Justin Fuls of Somerset County and Scott Pugh of Frederick County, Va.

Heather Fuls also won the champion fitter and show plaque, and Eric Berkheimer of Cumberland County won reserve.

Judging the show was Larry Weaver of Lancaster County, who praised the quality of steers shown.

1993 Atlantic National Sees 191 Entries

TIMONIUM, Md. — Bill Wilson, Cloverdale, Indiana, judged the 191 entries at the 1993 Atlantic National Roll of Victory (ROV) Angus Show here.

Cattle from throughout the eastern and midwestern United States competed for honors and ROV points at the event held at the Maryland State Fairgrounds on Memorial Day weekend.

B&M Roper 091 was named the show's supreme champion entry. He first won grand champion laurels in the bull show after topping the junior division. The February 1991 bull is a son of Leachman Prompter and is jointly owned by Buckner and Jeffries, Canmer, Kentucky; Forsythe Cattle Company, Marshall, Illinois; and GN and NSA Werthein, Buenos Aires, Argentina.

The reserve grand champion bull was WK T Bone owned by Whitestone Krebs, Gordon, Nebraska, and Middlefield Farms, Fort Collins, Colorado. First named the late spring calf champion, the bull is a March 1992 son of Da Es Ro Casey 629.

In the female show, the grand winner was WK Kokomo. The March 1991 heifer first won the junior division. She is sired by R&J Extraordinary 1345 and is jointly owned by Kami Krebs and Kokomo Breeders, both of Gordon, Nebraska.

Corn Hybrids May Be Profitable

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Farmers in some parts of Pennsylvania may be able to plant higher-yielding, longer-season corn hybrids where shorter-season hybrids typically have been recommended.

"Hybrids tested in the Midwest and other parts of the country perform differently in the East," said Dr. Greg Roth of the Pennsylvania State University Agronomy Department. Roth is in the second year of a two-year study to determine the viability of planting longer-season hybrids in parts of Pennsylvania.

The difference in hybrid behavior is the number of growing degree days (GDDs) required by the plant to mature. "We've found that hybrids planted in certain areas of Pennsylvania require far fewer GDDs to mature than is commonly thought," Roth said.

Joe Mayer, agronomy manager for Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc., in Mount Joy, said companies may be too conservative in hybrid recommendations for the northern valleys of Pennsylvania.

"If we can successfully grow longer-season hybrids and still have them mature and dry down before fall frost occurs, then corn growers in these areas may be able to get higher yields with no greater risks in production," Mayer said.

Roth noted that many Pennsylvania farmers raise a lot of high-moisture corn to feed their own livestock, and longer-season hybrids can give them greater yield potential.

"However, grain growers producing corn to be shelled and dried may not want to push hybrid maturity and take these risks," Roth said. "The downside to producing longer-season corn for grain is that the test weight often is lower than desired."

Roth's study, supported in part by a grant from Pioneer Hi-Bred, seeks to determine the importance of GDD ratings for hybrid selection in different environments.

Pioneer Hi-Bred administers grants for agronomic research through its North American Seed Division. In 1993, grants were given for eight new research projects and 23 continuing projects at universities nationwide

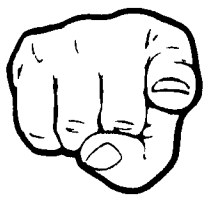
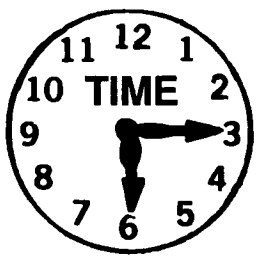
THE CROP IS YOUR $ CASH $



Everything you work for — tilling ground, planting seed, spraying or cultivating — depends upon Harvesting your CROP and getting it sold!

NOTHING HARVESTS CROPS LIKE A case IH Axial-Flow Combine!

HERE'S 4 REASONS WHY!



- Get in the field earlier - and stay later - because the Axial Flow Combine's specialty rotor separates grain from wet, damp material better than the competition. You get more done in less days than with a conventional combine.

VALUE

- Grain from an Axial Flow combine is worth more, because it is damaged less and the sample is cleaner than from a conventional combine. (Food Corn growers PREFER Axial Flow for this reason.)

MAINTENANCE

- The single rotor design eliminates the straw walker assembly and all the problems that go with all those bearings and vibration. All of the threshing and separating system parts are easy to get to, making maintenance a simple routine.

HOOBER SERVICE

- Don Carper and his (5) combine technicians work on combines 12 months of the year. They have started over 250 Axial Flow combines in all kinds of crops and conditions. Their knowledge and concern for your problems keep you running when you want to run.

CAN YOU AFFORD NOT TO OWN AN AXIAL-FLOW FROM HOOBER?

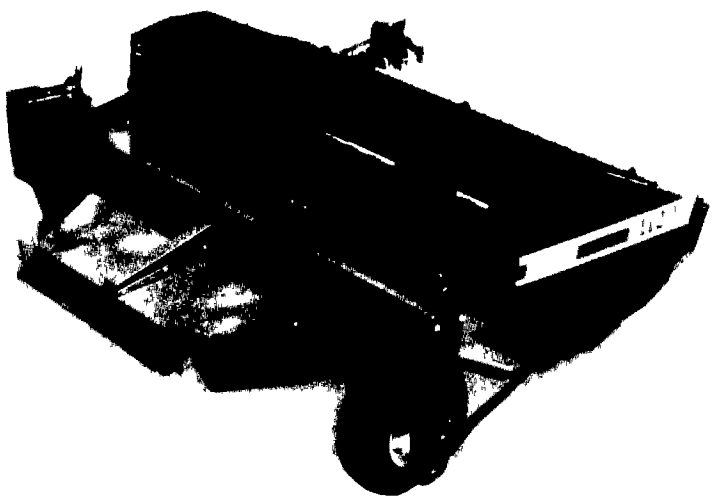
THE CUT AND DRY STORY ON THE HESSTON 1120.



It cuts fast It dries quickly Making the Hesston 1120 one Mower Conditioner we re definitely proud of

See, we built it rugged enough to endure the toughest working conditions a sickle-type mower could handle The 1120's Half Swaybar Sickle Drive runs at a fast 1,700 spm It'll cut practically all types of crops in its 9'3" path—and cut time and maintenance, too

Whether your crops are stemmy or leafy, the 1120's full-length Conditioner Rolls adjust for gentle or aggressive conditioning So your hay dries faster—and bales more consistently And of course, it's all backed by AGCO's Warranty Program

See D.W. OGG and ask about our flexible financing plans on the 1120, or on the wide selection of equipment for all your hay and foarge needs. It's the best—cut and dry.

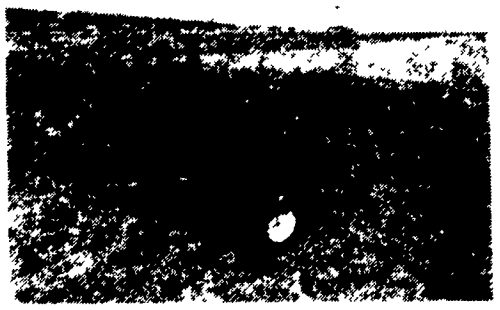
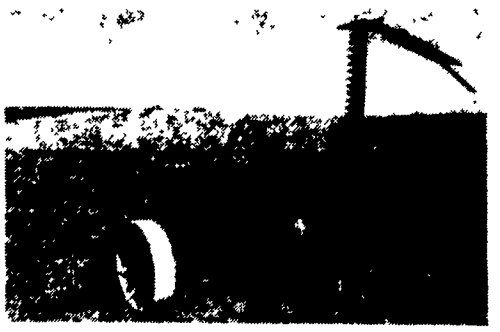
The I & J Cultivator

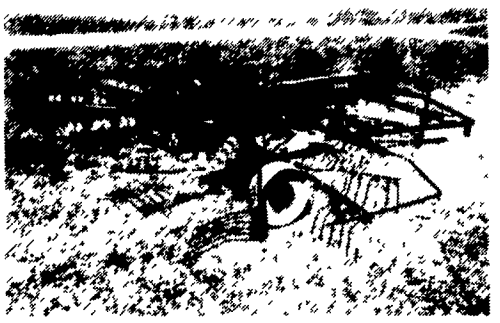


CULTIVATORS: 3 point or horse drawn available in 1-2-3- or 4 rows can be used as a field cultivator with a few attachments. Great for vegetables. We can custom build. Options: rolling shields, disc hillers, liquid side dressers, row tracking system.

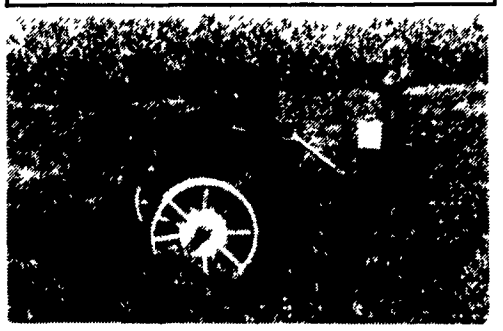


MOWERS: 3 point or trailing features: guards & blade, move back and forth cuts like a scissors, virtually no plugging.

2% DISCOUNT 10 DAYS OFF ALL CULTIVATORS



RAKES: available in ground drive or PTO steel wheels or rubber tires Features: forms a very fluffy windrow, can also be used as a windrow inverter. Does not rope hay. A real leaf saver.



DEEP TILL SLITTER: Available in 1 or 2 shanks, optional hydraulics.

Corn binders: get your orders in by June 1.

We Also Carry Flex Tine Harrows

5000 Series Spirit Tractors

It takes a lot more than green paint to make a tractor a John Deere. The 40-, 50-, and 60-hp SPIRIT models are good examples. In fact, many of the features that make our higher-horsepower row crop tractors so productive and reliable can be found in these three models.

Plus, a long list of standard features make them a great value. Like independent PTO, hydrostatic power steering, hydraulic wet-disk brakes, and a lot more.

JD 6000 SERIES TRACTORS - See What Has The Competition So Worried!

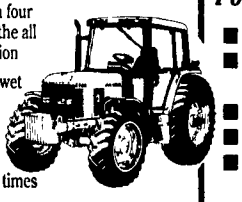
- All new, optional 16-speed PowrQuad™ transmission with four powershiftable speeds in four synchronized ranges, and the all new fully-synchronized 12 speed SyncroPlus™ transmission
- Both transmissions feature the all new PermaClutch™ 2 wet clutch for unmatched reliability, no adjustments
- The all new ComfortGard™ cab with 40 percent more room better visibility two-door entry/exit
- All new hydraulics give you greater capacity, faster cycle times



IN STOCK: JD 6200, 66 HP w/Comfort Gard Cab

JD 7000 SERIES TRACTORS - The Hottest New Tractor Merging Power Technology & Experience!

- All-new 40 percent more interior space.
- All-new 55.3 square feet of tinted glass (29 percent more).
- All-new air-cushioned seat with John Deere 4-way attenuation.
- All-new air quality system with more uniform circulation.
- All-new tractor instrumentation and command column.

450 SERIES END-WHEEL DRILLS

Enhanced performance and durability make these drills the benchmark in end-wheel drill design

Uncompromising performance and durability, make the 450 Drill one of today's most popular seeding tools.

Down-pressure is a key factor in obtaining more penetration for consistent seed depth with end-wheel drills. And the 450 Drill provides superior down-pressure—up to 124 pounds per opener—to help you slice through residue and tough soils for more accurate seeding depth.

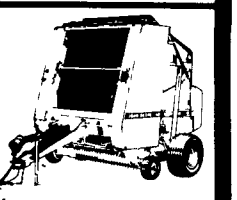
WHY ARE THESE THE FASTEST MOVING BALERS AROUND?



IN STOCK:

JD 335 Round Baler Makes 750 Lb. Bales
$9,890

It's simple. You get uniform bale density throughout the bale — density you need for solid, stand-up-tall bales. Bales that hold their shape and, therefore, perserve hay quality.

If your bales stay round, they shed water better. And since John Deere bales won't flatten or "slouch", there is less bale surface touching the ground to wick-up moisture. Dramatically reducing spoilage.

• JD 335 Makes 750 Lb. Bales • JD 375, Makes 1000 lb. Bales
SALE $11,350

THE CLAAS HARVESTER

MAXIMUM FEED QUALITY

To ensure maximum feed quality from maize it is vital to crack every kernel. Digestion of uncracked maize falls as the maize becomes older. Independent trials have shown the Claas corn cracker to be close to 100% effective From the cylinder the corn passes through the two large diameter rollers with saw tooth profiles. The rollers run at different speeds to intensify the grinding effect and open up each kernel. It is a fairly tough process so the latest generation of corn crackers take account of the wear involved on the rollers. Nothing can reduce the wear but Claas have cut the cost of repair by making the outer sleeve replaceable The shaft, drive pulley and bearings can all be reused which cuts down repair bills dramatically. Adjusting the distance between the two rollers is accomplished by turning two handles, easily accessible behind the cab. In no time at all the degree of cracking can be matched to the ripeness of the crop

RELIABILITY

The CLAAS Cutterbox is a unique balanced design using 2 knives in a V configuration. This forces the cutting action toward the center instead of the outside. This is the secret of their horsepower requirement and good quality of cut.

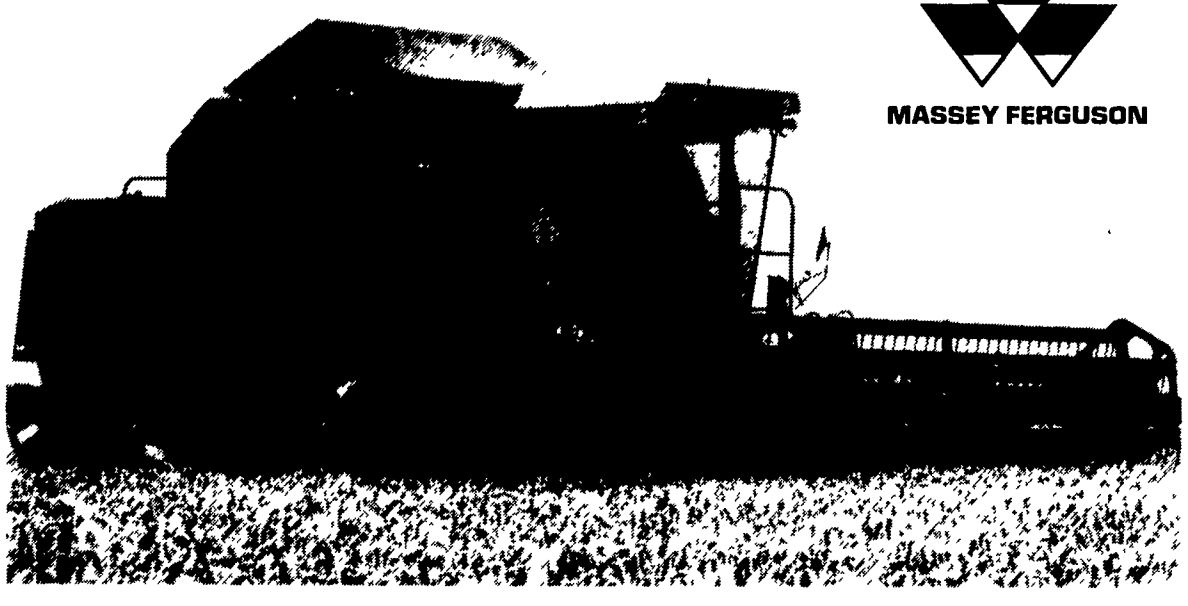
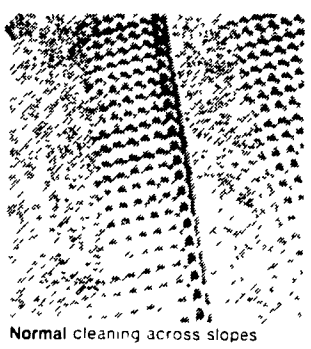
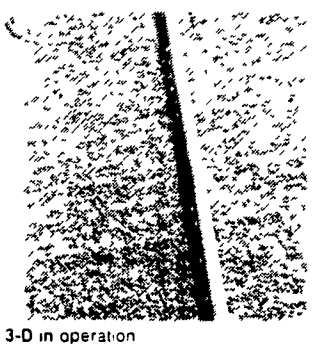
COMBINING SLOPES — THE MF 3-D CLEANING SYSTEM

MASSEY FERGUSON





Normal cleaning across slopes



3-D in operation

With the MF 3-D cleaning system, the crop is distributed evenly across the full width of the sieves, performance remains stable and output maintained.

The 3-D cleaning system provides dynamic slope compensation which means that the upper sieve moves sideways against the slope of the hill. The degree and direction of these movements depend on the inclination of the slope. Quick reaction and of course equal performance in any direction on slopes of up to 20%.

With the MF 3-D system you can operate at the same speed on slopes as on flat land. Daily performance can be maintained.

3 SILOS AND UNLOADERS

WARNING, ALL SILO OWNERS

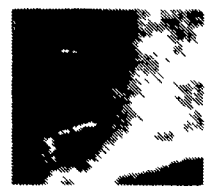
WARNING! DETERIORATING CONCRETE FROM CORN JUICE!

It's important that you know your silo needs maintenance. Your silo will not fall when its empty. Please check your silo for damage or check your insurance policy!

A Reminder: Check The Bottom Of Your Silo Where Using A Plastic Liner. Your Juice May Be Causing Deterioration Faster With A Liner On The Bottom.

RESURFACES INTERIORS:
- Coats the silo's interior
- Protects feed in storage
- Durable, tough, acid-resistant
- Increases useful life
- Economical

Before The silo's interior with plaster damaged and stave exposed



After The surface is reconditioned, and a new thick tough surface will protect stored feed

ShotCrete is also good for repairing stone walls.

If Your Silo Needs New Life...

Try Our Poly Silo Liners

-THE ADVANTAGE OF A POLY LINER-

- Spoilage is reduced around doors.
- Feed is exposed to less oxygen - better fermentation.
- Allows storage of high moisture grains or dry grains in a conventional silo.
- Delays repair or replacement of corroded silos.
- Prevents corrosive acids from contacting silo wall - extends silo life.
- Quick installation.
- Effectively seals silos from air and weather.

The Liners Are Manufactured To Fit Most Standard Diameter Silos.

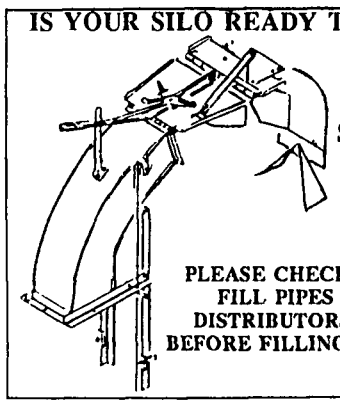
IS YOUR SILO READY TO BE FILLED WITH GRASS SILAGE?



PLEASE CHECK YOUR FILL PIPES AND DISTRIBUTORS NOW BEFORE FILLING SEASON

S&S Silo Service prepares the silo surface by using a 3,000 lb. pressure washer, thus making the silo moist, making a much better surface to bond shotcrete. After shotcreting, S&S always takes away any roughness by applying a steel trowel finish.

The excellent bonding of shotcrete to the silo will keep out moisture and prevent mold from growing on the side of the silo.

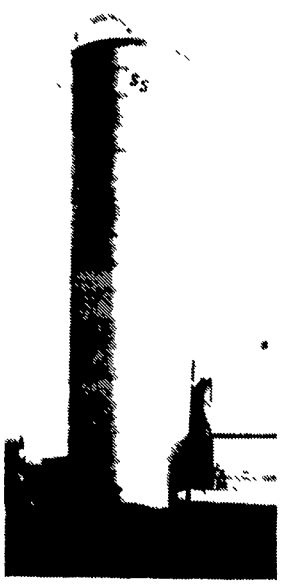
B.T.U.

"BUY THIS UNIT", or one like it to store your high-moisture shelled corn and save a lot of energy. With the cool spring and slow start for a lot of corn fields, this may be another harvest season coming up when the corn dries slowly...



16'x68'
about 10,000 bu. cap.
Shelled Corn
Poured Concrete
No Used Silos!
No Rebuilt Silos!
No Preowned Silos!!

In order to avoid hauling and drying costs, let us build a corn storage unit to preserve your valuable grain at 20%-30% moisture.

To keep your stored corn bright and yellow, you must protect it from oxygen and heat. Our 6" thick concrete walls reflect 38% of light beams, resulting in 780 times more heat-resisting ability than steel, and 25 times more insulating power than steel.

Our 6" thick walls have a very low leak potential compared to pre-fab silos of any kind, and a very low maintenance requirement.

BEFORE SPENDING A LOT OF MONEY FOR ENERGY (B.T.U.'s) TO DRY YOUR CORN, YOU WILL DO WELL TO CONSIDER THE MANY ADVANTAGES OF OUR POURED CONCRETE SILOS...

To unload your corn, we can install the simple auger system, the Laidig 43 unloader, or the Flying Dutchman. Lets discuss the options, and what is best for your situation.

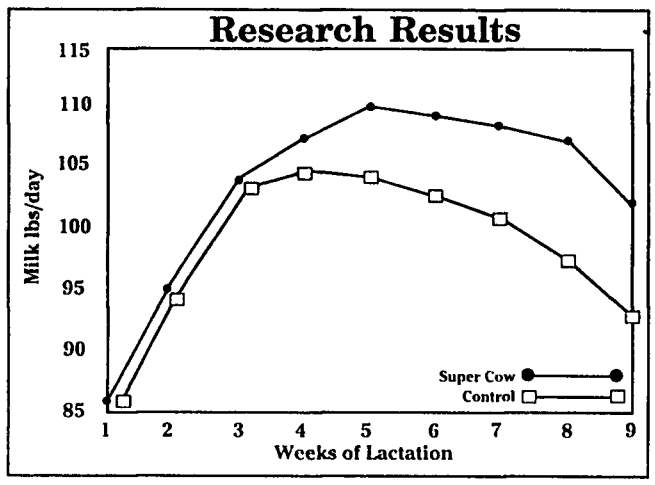
PURINA SUPERCOW

A dairy feed that could make your cows more productive, while also improving their feed conversion and breeding efficiency.

SUPERCOW is a blend of high fat nuggets and pellets specially designed and manufactured by Purina to deliver feed quality, nutrient density and super palatability. The nutrient-rich blend is packed with complete nutrition and is highly palatable.

In field trials, cows fed SUPERCOW produced an average of 6.7 pounds more milk per cow per day, while improving or maintaining milk composition. And while production increased, the cows that were fed SUPERCOW maintained or improved their body-condition scores after freshening and were more feed-efficient.



Research Results
	Milk lbs/day	Milk Fat lbs/day	Milk Protein lbs/day
Control Average Production	100	3.24	2.83
Super Cow Average Production	107	3.47	2.86
Average Improvement Per Cow	+7	+.23	+.03

Consider All The Benefits Of SUPERCOW:

- Increased milk production
- Good milk composition
- Good body condition
- Improved feed efficiency
- Improved breeding efficiency
- More income opportunity!
